

Medford Beats Umpqua Chiefs 14-10

Craters Win Shaughnessy Playoff Here

Late Rally By Roseburg Team Narrows Margin; Contest Proves Thriller

News-Review Sports Writer—
 The Umpqua Chiefs wound up the season on the wrong end of a 14-10 score at Finlay field Sunday, but an overflowing crowd never gave up hope that the Chiefs might break ahead and win the last game of the season.

The Medford Craters won the Shaughnessy trophy after a rugged nine-inning battle that saw the Roseburg club battle from a 11-0 deficit in the second inning to nearly tie up the game in the sixth when the score closed to 11-10—a single run behind Medford.

With the tying runner on base that inning, Norm West, voted all-star first baseman by the Southern Oregon league, popped up to short, to end Roseburg's only real chance to get ahead.

Krause Weakens
 Mel Krause, suffering his first bad day of the season, couldn't do a thing with the ball—but not so the opposing batters. Of the 15 to face Krause in a little more than one inning 11 crossed home on six hits and five walks.

Reed took over; held the visitors to a solitary hit in four innings, but in the seventh, Medford suddenly surged ahead, with two runs on four hits, to end a Roseburg threat.

The Chiefs, never giving up, made a ball game out of the near-debacle by slugging pitcher Carl Huener of the box in the fourth on four hits good for four runs. Olney Olsson took over and gave up two hits for three

Team Trophies Are Presented After Playoff

Highlighting the Shaughnessy playoff game at Finlay field Sunday was the presentation of trophies and announcement of outstanding ball players of the Southern Oregon league.

Mayor Al Fiegl, emceeing, presented the trophies to Earl Sargent, Chiefs manager, Elbert McNew, Medford Craters business manager, and a Medford batboy, who holds the Shaughnessy award, which the Craters won by defeating the Chiefs 14-10 at Finlay field Sunday.

Other Chiefs ballplayers distinguishing themselves in league competition were Norm West, voted a member of the all-star team, as a result of outstanding ability on the initial sack. George Sanders received honorable mention as all-star short stop.

Paul Gehrman, Central Point, was announced as the all-star pitcher, with Mel Krause and Don Reed, both Roseburg hurlers, being accorded honorable mention honors.

The all-star team includes Tex Chandler, catcher; Gehrman, pitcher; West, first base; Koch, second base; Chuck Jandreau, Ashland, short stop; Alex McDonald, Central Point, third base; Lou Kotnick, Myrtle Creek, left field; Charlie de Autremont, Ashland, center field; Norm Lucich, Medford, right field.

At the Chiefs' banquet, Manager Sargent was presented with an Elk's tooth by the sponsors for his managerial prowess.

Each baseball player received a silver baseball charm, as did Batboys Loren and Leroy Sargent and Deacon Fretwell.

Season Football Tickets Go On Sale Wednesday
 Football opens here Friday, Sept. 16, with all its color, crowds and rooting sections. The Roseburg Indians clash with a powerful Medford Black Tornado outfit in their first game of the season for this club.

Last year the Tornado threw the Indians for a 24-0 loss. This year the Indians hope to be better prepared.

Season football tickets for all home games go on sale Wednesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce offices. Coach Jack Newby reported, Fans purchasing a season book may see five home games for $6.00.

With the exception of parents of football players, who will have the first opportunity to purchase season reserved seats, all books will go "first-come-first served."

Season reserved seat ticket sales will continue for the balance of the week at regular Chamber of Commerce office hours, Newby said.

Cleveland Browns Tie Buffalo Bills 28 To 28
 NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns, who walked the Buffalo Bills, 49-7, in the all-America Football conference championship game last December, had to settle for a tie with the same club in their 1949 opener.

Rolling from behind with 21 points in the fourth period yesterday before 31,839 persons at Buffalo, the Browns barely managed to escape with a 28-28 deadlock. It was the only AAC game of the day.

Helping assemble the award is Earl Sargent, Chiefs manager, Elbert McNew, Medford Craters business manager, and a Medford batboy, who holds the Shaughnessy award, which the Craters won by defeating the Chiefs 14-10 at Finlay field Sunday.—(Rod Newland picture.)

Jack Kiser Beats Yaqui Kid After Torrid Battle Royal

Six wrestling stalwarts battled royally at the Roseburg armory for the $250 prize purse, which popular Jack Kiser, Portland, won after he pinned Yaqui Kid in the main heat Saturday night. A lesser $100 purse went to Pierre LaBelle, winner of the semi-windup.

The six-man affair was a crowd pleaser from the word "go" and it was difficult to determine who was winning for many minutes. Yaqui Kid and his manager Yaqui Joe teamed up, while Pierre LaBelle and Jack Kiser shook hands in a temporary alliance.

Both teams concentrated on disposing of the two meemies, Billy McEuin and Tony Falletti.

Yaqui Joe was the first to go and McEuin followed shortly thereafter—both victims of pin-ups. They were literally squashed into the canvas.

LaBelle went next. Yaqui Kid leveled the Frenchy with his pet punisher entitled the "small package," in which the victim is bent into a pretzel, seemingly.

Kiser and Yaqui Kid teamed up against Falletti, alternately ramming him with drop kicks. After the Italian was sufficiently softened, the pair piled on him and referee Elton Owen waived him out of the ring.

Kiser and Kid drew the main event, being the last two to go in the battle royal. LaBelle and Falletti received the nod for the semi-windup brawl, a one-fall affair that went to LaBelle when he successfully brought a series of drop kicks into play, followed by a body press.

Falletti, the meany, tried to render his opponent sightless by continually poking his fingers into LaBelle's eyes. This dirty tactic only served to anger LaBelle. Piqued, Pierre pinned his opponent and won the $100 prize money.

The main-event, although not nearly as colorful as the semi-final, offered fine wrestling to that portion of the audience appreciating the same.

Kiser didn't appear to know enough to avoid Yaqui Kid's legs, which the Indian used repeatedly with good success. Head scissors applied by Kid made Kiser appear to be less than an expert wrestler, but in the final analysis, it was Kiser and not the Kid that proved to be the more capable grappler.

A neat short-arm scissors, preceded by arm-stomps, won Kiser the initial round. Time ran out after that, and the Portlander took the tilt and the $250 purse.

Ward Cummings Beats Out Son In Golf Tourney

Ward Cummings Sr. retained the Roseburg Country club golf championship by defeating his son, Ward Jr., four up and three to go at the club's nine-hole course Sunday afternoon, during the championship flight.

In other events Walt Fisher won the 36-hole handicap tournament with a 14 under par 130 in the low net series. Joe Perault and Ward Cummings Sr. tied in the low gross series, each with a score of 154.

Perault also won the driving contest, with a 290 yard blow. In another event Cummings Sr., was the closest to the pin on the second shot at the number seven hole to win.

In other flights, Walt Bridges beat out Ralstin Bridges, to win flight one. Pete Pearson beat out Leon McClintock 2 and 1 in the second flight.

Three other flights remain to be played.
