Believed War Nervous

James Unruh of Haddonfield, N. J., expressed the opinion that his brother went berserk because of nervousness brought on by his war service.

James said his brother served in Europe with the field artillery. After his discharge, Howard was troubled for a while as a sheet metal worker. He entered Temple university's school of pharmacy last fall but quit after a month, giving "poor physical condition" as the reason. Since then he had remained at home.

Neighbors who frequently were seen reading a Bible as he walked down the street.

Unruh—an otherwise calm, studious type thought by many of his neighbors to have been a Divinity student—was charged with murder before he was taken to the hospital.

On a table in his room a Bible was opened to chapter 24 of the Gospel According to St. Matthew, which reads in part:

"And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of war: See that ye be not troubled: For all these things must come to pass but the end is not yet."

Missouri Pacific Railroad Strike Plans Unchanged

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Representatives of three railroad operating brotherhoods with headquarters here decided today to make "no change whatsoever" in a plan to strike the Missouri Pacific railroad at 3 p. m. Friday.

The unions were considering a national (railway) mediation board proposal for arbitration of grievances by a specially appointed board a proposal which Frank Douglass, a board member, said had been accepted by the railroad.

The dispute involves some 282 unmet claims and an estimated $3,000,000. A walkout would idle about 30,000 employees.

A spokesman at one of the brotherhood headquarters here said the decision to go through with the strike was reached in a 40-minute meeting of top officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Firemen, and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Airport Cost Estimate Needed Before Planning

that the hilly area surrounding Roseburg could be utilized, rather than avoided. Councilman Percy Croft said that leveling some of the hills to fill in the low spots might not be as costly as supposed, thereby placing the airport location above the hills objected to by CAA officials.

Housing Explained

H. L. Scofield, executive director for the Douglas County Housing authority, explained the workings of the local situation. He said the city would not be financially obligated in any way if the requested housing is constructed. He pointed out the fact that the city is to accept a proportionate share of ten percent of the rental in lieu of property taxes.

His remarks preceded the council's decision to recommend to the local housing authority the construction of 100 low-rental units in the city, to be erected on the basis of 30 units a year. The council was informed that the city may request additional housing at a later date if the above amount is found insufficient.

No action was taken on the proposed widening of Terrace avenue, when comment from the audience and individual council members told of conflicting views as to where the street and property lines are in that area.

Boundaries Differ

Councilman Croft said three reports by as many engineers differ as to Terrace avenue boundaries and widths. A map of the Terrace avenue district was given property owners for their reference, with tentative council plans indicated to base the proposed 49-foot street widths on the existing west side street boundaries.

The council also authorized the city manager to advertise for bids on the proposed Ford street improvements, referred to the street committee a proposal to construct sidewalks on Commercial street between E. Third and Fourth streets, and instructed the city attorney to draw up an ordinance authorizing the widening of North Jackson street.

The first and second readings of the garbage collection ordinance setting new rates was given, with the final reading slated for the next council meeting.

However, the council passed a related ordinance, approving the plan of the new garbage dump on land adjoining the present dump ground.

Approval was given, then withdrawn, to have the city draw up plans and specifications for the public rest rooms to be built in Eagles park. Objections to the action approving the move came as a result of discussion as to where the $6,000 supposedly budgeted for this purpose actually was. City Attorney Geddes told other councilmen that the city may not use money previously budgeted but not used within one year, unless the sum was placed in a sinking fund. These regulations had not been complied with, Geddes said, in questioning the legality of spending such funds. The council withdrew its approval and voted to postpone action until the next meeting.

Approved by the council was a move to install new radio equipment in the city police cars. The city manager was instructed to advertise for bids for a new FM radio transmitter and receivers.

Approval of an appropriation for the city planning commission and motions to recommend applications for new businesses to the police commission concluded the meeting.

ENDS DAYLIGHT SAVING

MC MINNVILLE, Sept. 7.—(AP) The city council voted last night to end daylight saving time here at 2 a. m., Sunday, Sept. 11. The action was by ordinance to repeal the last time measure.

Steel Fact Finding Board To Report To President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The White House said today that tentative plans call for the steel fact-finding board to report to President Truman Saturday morning.

That day is the deadline for the presidential panel to turn over its recommendations for settling a wage dispute that threatens a strike in the steel industry. The CIO steel workers union is demanding a 30-cent-an-hour "package" increase. It has set Sept. 14 for a strike unless a settlement is reached before then.

The White House said the board members will visit President Truman Friday afternoon, according to present plans, and make their report Saturday morning.

If this arrangement is adhered to, it was said, the report probably will be made public for Sunday morning newspapers.

ing these difficulties."

He said the problems facing the conference are of "vital interest to my country."

Top foreign policy and economic chiefs of the three nations met in a walnut-paneled room at the state department. Seated in leather-backed arm chairs, they grouped about a 20-foot glass-topped table.

Arrive On Time

The three delegations arrived at the department with split-second timing.

First were Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and his chief assistant, William McChesney Martin.

Snyder was grim-faced as he stepped out of his limousine. He looked very much the banker in his dark blue suit, white shirt and dark blue tie.

Photographers were taking their pictures when someone shouted: "The British are coming."

Up drove British Foreign Minister Bevin, accompanied by Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, and British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks.

A few minutes later the Canadian delegation led by Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott, arrived.

A crowd of 100 or so spectators had gathered in front of the department building to see the notables.

In the three power talks the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

These and other measures, which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically, are designed to (1) increase the flow of badly needed dollars to Britain and (2) enable the British to curtail the spending of the dollars and gold they now have.

MC MINNVILLE, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Flying Farmers of Oregon still want one of their members appointed to the State Board of Aeronautics.

The pilot farmer group's annual convention closed yesterday with a resolution to that effect. Another called for speed-up of construction of landing strips in the state program. Earlier this year the group had been critical of the board's use of funds.

President Claude Williams, Prineville, was reelected along with other officers. New directors are Roger Leasing, Haines, and Lee Foster, Halsey. Sam Whitney, Newberg, and Williams were directed to work with the State Aeronautics Board on farm aviation problems.

William Toetsch, Oregon State college extension specialist, told the final convention session that Oregon, Washington and Idaho should work out a test program to see whether sagebrush areas could be cleared by use of aerial spray.
