

SHE LIKES HORSES—Lucy Webb, three-year-old daughter of a veteran horse trainer, holds no fear of a horse and for the skeptics here's proof. Her favorite is a race horse, Day After, whose hoof she is giving a cleaning. Her father, Sam, says Lucy has no use for a doll, but she is really happy when she can curl up and sleep in Day After's stall at Wheeling Downs near Wheeling, W. Va. —[AP wirephoto.]

Fisheries Department Cracks Salmon Smugglers

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 8. (P)—Fisheries department officials prepared to crack down on a suspected salmon smuggling ring operating in the Fraser river. Department solicitors are preparing a case against nine men seized by fisheries officers. The men allegedly caught salmon in restricted waters above Mission bridge, 60 miles east of here, and ran them to open territory below the bridge for sale. Seven men in four automobiles were caught five weeks ago, and two men in another vehicle were nabbed this week. No charges have been filed. Chief Supervisor A. J. White more said investigating officers are looking for the "brains" behind the operation. He said he would call R.C.M.P. officers into the case if necessary. Newfoundland consists of the island of that name (42,734 square miles) and Labrador (112,000 square miles.)

Sen. George Says U. S. Must Uphold Britain Security

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (P)—Senator George (D-Ga.) told the Senate Wednesday that "if Britain goes down—we'll go down too in a matter of months." George made this statement as he opened debate on the extension of the reciprocal trade act to give President Truman a free hand in approving trade agreements abroad. The debate got under way as American, British and Canadian leaders began talks at the state department on ways to solve Britain's financial problems. The tariff measure is not just a domestic issue, George argued, but a step to solving the world's dollar and sterling problems. "If sterling takes a real decline," George said, "even to its actual value, it will not be the British alone that will decline. It will be other countries as well." George urged the senate to pass the reciprocal trade bill quickly and without change. He is chairman of the finance committee that approved the measure. By ruling out amendments, George made it clear the administration will offer no compromise to republican critics of the bill.

CEMETERY DEDICATED—Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey, ret'd., (left) and Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, ret'd., former Eighth army commander, pause to pay their respects to a fallen comrade who rests in Hawaii's National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, following the dedication of the memorial (Sept. 2), the fourth anniversary of VJ day. Some 12,000 military dead are buried here.—[AP wirephoto from Signal Corps.]

Dry, Warm Weather Still Prevails Over Oregon

PORTLAND, Sept. 8. (P)—The same situation prevailed in Oregon fields again last week: dry, warm weather which ripened crops well but continued drying the ranges. Pastures were suffering from drought throughout eastern Oregon, the weather bureau reported. The dry spell was hard on fall seed beds, too. Crops continued ripening well, however, and the harvest of late crops went along briskly. The hail that fell near Portland Sept. 4 damaged some lettuce. There are thousands of different kinds of mosquitos.
