Father, Son Face Car Theft Charge

A California father and son combination was arrested by state police Saturday evening, charged with larceny of an automobile, according to State Police Sgt. Lyle Harrell.

The pair gave their names as Willie Welton Hughes, 49, and Carroll Welton Hughes, 19. Both listed Pittsburg, Calif., as their home town.

State Police were notified by a suspicious Roseburg garageman when the two men offered to sell a 1941 model sedan for $100.

Sgt. Harrell said the men admitted taking and later abandoning another car in California. They said they also took tires, floor mats and automobile accessories, selling them enroute.

Both are being held in the Douglas county jail, pending word from federal and California state authorities.

Two Dodge Injuries In Upset Of Automobile

According tno State Police Sgt. Lyle Harrell, two Douglas county men miraculously escaped serious injury Saturday when a late-model convertible coupe in which they were riding skidded down the highway at high speed and turned over.

Sgt. Harrell identified the two men as Shellah Floyd Hayes, Roseburg, and Ralph Johnson, Riddle.

The accident took place four miles south of Myrtle Creek as Hayes attempted to pass a car, which in turn pulled out to pass a truck. The Hayes vehicle skidded around in the highway and turned over, causing considerable damage to the coupe.

No one was injured in the mishap and no other cars were damaged, Sgt. Harrell said.

Japanese Pastor Dated At Church Conference Here

REV. F. M. HAYASHI

Roseburg is to be host city for the Southern District Woman's Society of Christian Service conference this Wednesday and Thursday, September 2, 29, it was announced this morning by the pastor of the Methodist Church, W. A. Mac Arthur.

Over 150 women from Methodist Churches as far away as Junction City to the north and Klamath Falls and Lakeview to the southeast will be here to participate in this annual meeting. According to MacArthur, the program begins Wednesday evening with a banquet at 6:30. The Missionary Advance will be one of the major concerns of the conference and the speaker for the banquet, has been chosen because of his qualifications in that field.

Reverend Mr. Hayashi was born in Japan and received his early schooling, including high school, in that country. In 1916 he journeyed to America establishing himself in the San Francisco area. There he completed additional high school work and then enrolled in Stanford University.

Entering the Methodist ministry in 1934, Reverend Mr. Hayashi has had a unique experience including some language teaching at the University of Minnesota during the war years. He came to Portland in 1946 to assume duties as pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, a Japanese church in that city.

Reservations for the banquet are limited, and those desiring places should contact Mrs. W. L. Cobb, 740 S. Jackson immediately. There will be room for additional listeners for the program about 7:30 p.m. in the social hall of the church. Those interested in hearing this remarkable speaker are cordially invited.

JUDGMENT ISSUED

Judgment of $2,736.10 plus interest of $251.76 was signed in favor of E. A. Pearson against the defendants, W. S. Nugent, Robert D. Sheets, and Lucille A. Nugent, by Circuit Judge Carl E. Wimberly today.

Business Expands In Winston Area

Winson continues to grow, judging from businesses already open, or contemplating an early opening in the Coos Juction community.

Riverside Used Car lot is new; a variety line is being opened by Howard Langlie in conjunction with his hardware store; a clothing and variety store is soon to open in the Roy Thompson duplex business building, next to Roy's Tavern, and a new super dining spot is going in on the north approach to Winston.

The car lot, owned and operated by Jake Jacobsen, is now in full swing. Mr. Jacobsen is well known in Roseburg, and his lot, is located directly oposite the Treasure House.

The other three stores are as yet not open, but their openings will be announced in the very near future.

Waterproofing Aim Of Courthouse Paint Job

It's not because of the color that the blue paint is being removed from the courthouse steps, said County Judge D. N. Busenbar.

The paint is being removed with electric sanders to prepare the steps for waterproofing. The new substance will be applied by the J. A. Wiley company of Portland.

It is hoped that the new cover, which will be gray in color, will prevent water from seeping into the offices which have been constructed under the front steps, said Judge Busenbark.

The blue paint originally was applied for waterproofing purposes, but proved ineffective, the judge explained. When the original coat was applied, it was thought to be gray.

The new substance to be applied is similar to plaster and will provide a non-skid surface for the steps.

Prunes Harvested At Glide's Largest Ranch

Prune picking and drying at the Roy Bond ranch, Glide, was completed this week, and the yield, according to Bond, was close to 4,000 bushels. This, while far in excess to the last year's crop, which was spotty throughout Oregon, was not up to the 5,000 bushels harvested three years ago.

The 35-acre prune orchard is the largest in the Glide area and produces both Italian prunes and the sweet pinkish petites. Of this year's harvest, 2400 bushels were Italians and the remainder petites. Drying at the Bond ranch is accomplished with a Eugene-manufactured Mill dehydrator.

Traffic Deaths Lower In Douglas County

Five Oregon counties enjoyed death-free traffic accident records in the first six months of 1949, according to statistics reported by the state traffic safety division.

They are Clatsop, Crook, Curry, Sherman and Wheeler. Clatsop headed the list by reducing deaths from six in the first half of 1948 to none in 1949. Sherman county is now in its third death-free year.

Linn was outstanding among major counties by putting its deaths for the period from 20 to 5. Other leaders in effecting decreases were Clackamas, Coos, Douglas, Lane, Marion, and Multnomah, all with reductions of 50 percent or more.
