Dynamiting Marks Coal Miners' Strike

a spontaneous demonstration by the union men, that it was not a strike.

Coal stocks were dwindling rapidly. Thousands of men had been laid off because of the coal stoppage.

The Grass Flat episode came this morning. State police, already bulwarked by extra details, said they were investigating the dynamite blast, but had made no arrests.

Governor Tuck in his state-of-emergency directive, reorganized the Virginia council of defense and directed it to secure "every possible pound of coal" for Virginia's use.

Sixteen small mine operators in Kanawha county, West Virginia, were granted a temporary injunction prohibiting picketing their non-union mines in the Tappan Creek area, not far from Charleston.

Meanwhile, the production dam thrown up by the work stoppage showed signs of leaving the industrial river bed dry.

The copper mining town of Calumet, Mich., sent a telegraphed plea to the United Mine Workers to permit the "lifeblood" of soft coal to resume flowing.

Reports began circulating in the anthracite fields of Eastern Pennsylvania that the hard coal men would go back to work Monday. There was no confirmation of the rumor.

The hard coal men quit work in sympathy with the soft coal miners. Their welfare and pension benefits were not suspended.

cents for an insurance plan. The pension plan will be administered by a joint board of trustees, on which union and company will have equal representation.

Five thousand Ford workers are eligible to retire immediately. However, the union said it was arranging for a cushion period, so all would not retire at once.

Army's Reserve Corps' Training Class Scheduled

The Army's Organized Reserve corps' augmentation team, group 1, will conduct a two-hour class at the Roseburg armory Wednesday Oct. 5, at 8 p. m., announced Major Jack P. Bahrick, 666 Base General Training depot, ORC, Roseburg.

The topic of the class is "Defense of the United States against an attack employing atomic weapons and guided missiles."

This class, said Major Bahrick, is restricted in attendance. Only personnel of the army, air and naval reserve and the national guard can attend and they must be prepared to identify themselves, he said.

The class is part of the second cycle of the reserve corps' augmentation program. Nine teams will tour the sixth army area, covering eight far western states.

The program is designed to provide instruction to personnel of the civilian components usually given only in regular army service schools. This will be accomplished by traveling teams of carefully selected specialists highly trained in the subjects to be discussed.

Lt. Col. David J. McFadden, who recently returned from 35 months' duty in China, will conduct the course in Roseburg. Sgt. Wallace D. Bosley will assist him.

Signal For Strike Of Steel Unions Readied

basic steel industry. Some plants already have begun to curtail operations in preparation for a possible strike.

U. S. Steel said the first of its 27 blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown, Ohio, area will be hanked by midnight. Those furnaces produce pig iron for use in making steel in open hearth furnaces.

Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation said it had not yet scheduled any curtailments.

Murray won't yield. Murray gave no sign of giving up his fight to force the steel industry to pay the entire cost of a pension-insurance program.

Government mediators stood by—in Pittsburgh and 44 other key negotiating points—to help avert the strike for tomorrow midnight.

Murray had nothing but scorn for a Big Steel offer of 10 cents an hour per employee to help finance pensions and insurance for the men who make steel.

After the offer yesterday, the veteran labor leader declared: "It must be plain to all that the corporation is deliberately seeking to force a steel strike."

State Police On Patrol In The Dalles Trouble night to take a hand in the Oregon situation.

Pickets Go On Rampage. About 200 CIO longshore pickets from Portland stormed the municipal owned dock here late yesterday after two trucks were loaded and as two others pulled onto the terminal ramp. In a few minutes, they brushed aside city police and deputized citizens, dragged two drivers from the loaded trucks, and smashed windshield and motors.

Then they ran to the piles of fruit cases, mauled the unloading crew and dumped cases of cargo into the river. Within a few more minutes the longshoremen had left the pier and stood outside on the streets.

Clarence Rosales, 36, San Jose, Calif., was in a hospital bed with two broken vertebrae. He told an Oregonian reporter that the San Francisco and Portland Teamster locals had "cleared the job." He added: "and what happened—we go out here on the dock and get our heads beat in."

The other injured driver, Raymond Curto, 40, also of San Jose, has a broken rib and head bruises.

Matt Meehan, ILWU international office representative, asserted "the boys just lost their heads for a little while. They've got an idea when they put a picket line out that it will be re-

The fruit is owned by the Hawaiian Pineapple Co. Richard Botley, president of the Affiliated Isleyways, Inc., said last night there would be no further attempt to unload the barge until "we are assured there will be no violence."

The pineapple is consigned to California canneries to make fruit cocktail.

The cargo was the second barge to berth in isolated Oregon ports this week. A smaller barge was unloaded Tuesday in a coastal river near Tillamook.

CIO Longshoremen from Astoria had picketed there, but non-union laborers finished their job. AFL truckers had hauled the cargo to a nearby railroad spur for shipment to Sunnyvale, Calif.
