Indian Youths' Theft Leads To Reformatory

PORTLAND, Sept. 30.—The war-like aspirations of three Indian youngsters who stole guns and ammunition for an ambush hideaway will have a chance to cool in the reformatory.

The youngsters—two aged 14 and 15—were sentenced here. They had admitted breaking into a Chilquin store Sept. 12 and carting off their loot.

The boys were arrested in sagebrush while pointing the stolen guns at police who tracked them through the brush to a pine and boulder hidden hide-out. With them were two older youths, parolees from a Colorado reformatory.

Testimony revealed the boys took $1,450 worth of merchandise including 1,000 cartridges, rifles, hunting knives and stacks of clothes and food. These were cached above the Sprague river.

Two-Judge Hawaiian Court Splits On Strike Issue

HONOLULU, Sept. 30.—A split decision Wednesday by a two-judge federal district court affirmed territorial operation of Hawaii's strikebound docks.

The ruling came on a petition by the CIO Longshoremen's union for a temporary injunction against the government's seizure of the docks.

The court denied the request. The union said it would appeal immediately to the Ninth circuit court in San Francisco.

Judges J. Frank McLaughlin and Delberg E. Metzger disagreed entirely on the question of the validity of the territorial statute authorizing the dock operation.

For that reason, McLaughlin said, the restraining order was denied.

The Hawaii legislature passed the seizure act recently, seeking to pry open the blockade of water-borne cargo set up by the striking union. Since Aug. 8, 225,000 tons of cargo have been unloaded by government-hired stevedores. The CIO strike is in its 151st day.

Judge McLaughlin sustained the emergency dock seizure law.

City Manager Not "Cure All," Assn. Head Says

PORTLAND, Sept. 30.—Carl H. Chatters warned Thursday that a city manager is no "cure all" for city troubles.

Chatters, executive director of the American Municipal Association, came here to attend the League of Oregon Cities and Oregon Finance Officers association convention which opened yesterday.

"People have a tendency to want a head man who will take responsibility from their shoulders," said Chatters. "When they do this and put a city manager into politics, they are in trouble."

He said several midwestern cities tried to get rid of political machines by establishing a city manager government. "The only result," he added, "was to give the machine a tighter grip on city administration."

Soviet A-Bomb Doesn't Affect U. S. Selective Plan

OLYMPIA, Sept. 30.—The President's announcement of an atomic explosion in Russia has had no immediate effect on the selective service system, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the service, said today.

The eventual effect on selective service, he said, will depend on the public's reaction to the announcement—whether the people want to buy protection in material of the service, said today.

el or manpower.

In this connection General Hershey disclosed that the selective service system is keeping a close tab on the nation's manpower eligible for military service—the group between 19 and 26 years of age.

He said the armed forces have not made a call for men from the selective service system since last February. They were over-strength at that time, he said, but they now have a deficit of some 25,000 men.
