

Drive-In-Theater Construction Soon To Start

DRIVE-IN THEATER PLAN SHOWN—Above is the designer's sketch plan of the new drive-in theater to be located in North Roseburg. The plan was prepared for the Umpqua Amusement company by James R. Daugherty, local engineer.

Contract for construction of a new drive-in theater north of the city will be let next week by the Umpqua Amusement company, announced James R. Daugherty, engineer-designer of the project.

The site chosen for the 426-car drive-in theater, at the corner of Alameda avenue and Vine street in North Roseburg, is a natural amphitheater, said Daugherty. Cars will be parked on circular ramps, with topography providing ample sight clearance with a minimum of grading. The arrangement selected places cars centrally to assure the best angle view for all locations.

The area to be developed is approximately seven acres. Cars will enter through a ticket office at the rear and drive directly to positions along side the double-speaker stands. After the show, all cars will drive forward and turn right on driveways leading to the double-lane exit roadways, which deliver traffic to Vine street.

Traffic will then have a choice of several routes in any direction to avoid congestion at main arterials, Daugherty pointed out. Layout, grading, drainage, buildings, screen, and electrical plans are ready for contractors to prepare bids, in order that the work may be done this fall. It is planned to do the grading, drainage, roadway and ramp paving, underground wiring, and concrete slab pouring at once, so the entire area will be surfaced before bad weather.

The screen, snack bar, ticket office, fence, lights, and speaker stands will be completed later, so the plant will be ready for operation as early as possible next year, said Daugherty.

Quantities involved in the work to be done this fall include 4,130

Oregon Hunters Relate Tussles With Black Bears

LA GRANDE, Oct. 6. — (P) — A hunter's flight from a wounded bear and a pair of other bruin skirmishes topped the stories told by deer season nimrods here today.

Marion Spencer, La Grande, brought down a 200-pound black bear with his .30-40 rifle north of Mount Emily Saturday. He looked away for a moment, then started walking toward the fallen bear, 100 yards away.

Only the bear, by the time he looked up, wasn't fallen; it was bounding toward him.

Spencer took to his heels, glanced over his shoulder and discovered he was running a losing race. So he wheeled, took aim and with the bear an estimated 30 feet away, fired again. That ended it.

Guy Spence didn't try to top that one, but told of bagging a 300-pound black bear from 200 yards with a .30-30. The animal, wounded, rolled down behind a log and when Spence arrived at the scene his dog was trying to battle the wounded bear. Spence lineal feet of ramps to be graded and paved, the area being 17,660 square yards; 1,060 lineal feet of roadways; 5,000 lineal feet of pipe, ranging from four to 12 inches in size; 4,540 lineal feet of sound cable; 700 lineal feet of electrical conduit for power and light circuits; 250 feet of water line and the plumbing under the snack bar slab.

The snack bar building will be 32 x 54 feet, providing men's and women's rest rooms; manager's office; projection room; snack bar, and kitchen. The ticket office building will provide for two lanes of traffic. The screen will be 52 feet high and 60 feet wide, pole framework, covered with plywood.

The Umpqua Amusement company now operates three theaters in Roseburg.

The Conestoga wagon, famous in U. S. pioneer days was first made in Pennsylvania about 1750.

Murray Durham had no trouble making a kill from 150 yards, bagging a 90-pound yearling brown bear. But it took him five hours to pack it out three miles to the road in rough country.

shot it again, and the bear got to its feet. A third shot between the eyes killed it. Spence brought it out from Howard meadows by pack horse—after blind-folding his bucking, balking horse.
