

Five Appeals Lost In Rulings Of Supreme Court; Non-Red Oath Of T-H Statute Argued

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(P)—The Supreme Court held its first business session of the new term Monday. In 275 orders it tabbed the cases on which it will, or will not, hear arguments.

Among its actions, the court: Refused to throw out two suits by which the federal government seeks to establish its paramount right to oil-rich marginal lands off the Texas and Louisiana coasts. It gave Texas and Louisiana one more month in which to answer the federal action.

Refused to consider appeals filed by former Representative Andrew J. May of Kentucky and Henry and Murray Garsson, wartime munitions makers. May was wartime chairman of the house military affairs committee. He and the Garsson brothers were convicted on conspiracy-bribery charges. Each was sentenced to 8 to 24 months in prison. Each has been at liberty under $2,000 bond pending the supreme court's action on the appeals.

The justice department charged May received some $53,000 for helping the Garssons get war contracts. Negro Lose Appeals Refused a trial review was Willie McGee, a Negro convicted of raping a Laurel, Miss., white woman. McGee was sentenced to death. The court also declined a second hearing to Albert Lee, Negro of Hinds county Miss., who was convicted of assault with intent to commit rape.

Denied a hearing to James Zarichny who said he was expelled from Michigan State college because he attended a meeting addressed by a communist. Zarichny said the speaker was Carl Winter leader of the Michigan Communist party and one of the communist leaders on trial in New York on charges of working for forcible overthrow of the government.

Refused to review a decision that an employer is entitled to $4,161 damages from a union and its members because of an unauthorized work stoppage. The award was granted the Motor Haulage Co., Inc., of New York City, by an arbitrator. The arbitrator declared local Union No. 807, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America and members of the local were liable for the payment.

Non-Red Oath At Issue After its opinion session, the court heard arguments on constitutionality of the non-communist oath requirement in the Taft-Hartley labor act.

That requirement is questioned by the CIO United Steel workers of America and the CIO American Communications Association in two appeals. The Taft-Hartley act requires that union officials must file affidavits saying they are not communists, if they wish to use machinery of the national labor board.

The Steel Workers' union appealed from a Chicago circuit court decision that its officials must file such affidavits before the labor board requires the Inland Steel company to bargain on pension plans.

Hiss' 2nd Trial Awaits Ruling

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(P)—Alger Hiss' second perjury trial was adjourned today until Nov. 1.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox reserved decision on whether to grant Hiss' request to have the trial transferred to Rutland, Vt. Cox gave attorneys for Hiss, former high state department officials until Thursday to answer the government's arguments opposing the change.

In his brief opposing transfer to the trial, assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy denied that newspaper publicity had biased the minds of prospective jurors, as Hiss claimed. Murphy said an analysis of all the news stories on the first perjury trial in the New York area showed 68.5 percent were "completely factual."

The trial was to have started today, with Hiss asking that the case be transferred from the New York City area.

Hiss, who has spent a number of vacations in Vermont, has said he believed the public in Vermont was not prejudiced against him.

Exercise Hour Enjoyed By Men At Jr. High Gym.

Thirteen men participated in the YMCA men's exercise hour last Thursday, and Marlen Yoder, YMCA general secretary, reports that if more men want the exercise hour, another night may be arranged.

Men who want some exercise are insured of a good time if they come to the activity period at 5:30 every Thursday night in the Junior High gym.

It has been found, according to Yoder, that to defray expenses the cost will have to be raised to 25 cents. This price will not change again. It includes the use of a towel for a shower after the games.
