

Miss' Motion For 2nd Trial Shift Is Turned Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Ger Hiss' motion for transfer of his second perjury trial to Vermont was denied Saturday.

The former high state department official had asked for the transfer on grounds that he could not get a fair trial in New York, where his first trial ended in a jury disagreement.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox rejected the transfer motion.

Hiss' second trial is scheduled to begin Nov. 1.

He is accused of lying when he denied passing State department secrets to Whittaker Chambers for transmittal to a pre-war Soviet spy ring.

Chambers, former Time Magazine senior editor, who now is a Maryland farmer, has admitted being a one-time communist courier and has testified that Hiss gave him official secrets.

Cox noted that federal rules of criminal procedure permit a trial to be shifted if there is "so great a prejudice against the defendant that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial in the district where the prosecution is pending."

"I find nothing in the papers submitted on the present motion," Cox said, "to indicate that there exists in this district any such prejudice."

Columbia River Diversion Would Be "Surplus"—Krug

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Krug has assured Rep. Stockman (R-Ore.) that any future diversion of Columbia river water to California would involve only "surplus" that is not needed in the Northwest.

In making public the cabinet member's letter, Stockman expressed the belief that there will be no surplus water in the Columbia if the river is developed for another decade.

Krug said California is "scrapping the bottom of the barrel" for water and the Interior department visualized the possibility of taking excess flow from streams to the north. He said studies are under way to determine what water could be considered excess beyond the maximum practicable use in the Columbia and other rivers.

Krug suggested that water users could be protected by an interstate agreement against any diversion of water during drought periods.

Judge Rules AFL Union Didn't Violate T. H. Act

SPOKANE, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Five AFL labor organizations which would not complete a tavern until fixtures installed by a CIO union had been ripped out were not conducting a secondary boycott, in the opinion of U. S. District Judge Sam M. Driver.

The judge denied a petition by the National Labor Relations board for a temporary injunction against the three AFL unions and two labor councils. The NLRB said the AFL action was a secondary boycott prohibited by the Taft-Hartley act.

In dissent, Driver ruled that "labor unions have a right to say who their friends are and who are not, and a right to tell their friends about it."

He said the AFL unions had declared the Kimsley Manufacturing Co., of Spokane "unfair" two years before the "fixture incident," and before the Taft-Hartley act was invoked. He added that he was convinced the action was taken in good faith. The tavern fixtures were installed by the CIO union for the Kimsley firm.

The judge signed the order Thursday denying the NLRB's petition.

Grazing Conditions in Oregon Worst in 10 Years

PORTLAND, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The worst grazing conditions in Oregon in a decade were reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The USDA said that the summer and early fall drought had dried ranges by Oct. 1 to the lowest point since 1939, and the fifth lowest in history.

Since then, rainfall has improved Western Oregon range, but Eastern Oregon still faces unfavorable winter grazing conditions. Stockmen are feeding much more hay to their animals than usual at this time.

The USDA called the condition of Oregon cattle the poorest since 1939. Many raisers have been marketing their animals early, because of the decreased food supply.

Change Of Name Sought By Writer Of Fiction

Eugene Lamar Pruitt has petitioned the court for a change of his name to David Lane Borden.

Pruitt states that for the last several years he has been writing stories and poetry as an avocation under the pen name of Borden, and that recently he has been able to sell some of his work to an eastern publishing company. He states he expects to make his livelihood through a writing career. He was born in Benton county, Ark.

Kid Gavilan Pounds Out Win Over Beau Jack

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Making his first start since he was knifed in a Harlem street scrape, Cuba's Kid Gavilan slammed a 10-round unanimous decision over Beau Jack in Chicago stadium last night.

The second stadium show of the international boxing club drew a disappointing crowd of 5,189. Gross receipts were $22,429.

The I.B.C. now plans a possible match in Chicago between Gavilan and Charlie Fuszri. Gavilan also may again meet Sugar Ray Robinson although the Cuban has already lost two decisions to the welterweight champion.

FISHING ENDED PORTLAND, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Commercial fishing for silverside salmon ended for the season in the Coquille river Friday. The State Fish commission said the season limit of 100,000 pounds of silversides had been reached. The limit was set in an attempt to build up future runs.

PRINTERS END STRIKE MILAN, Italy, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Milan printers have voted to end a strike which has tied up this industrial city's 10 newspapers since Tuesday night. Their walk-out had been scheduled for 48 hours, to enforce demands for higher wages.

Studies Of Fur Farming At OSC To Be Resumed

Problems of Oregon's fur farmers will be investigated by the O.S.C. agricultural experiment station beginning in November under a new research program just drawn up at a meeting of fur industry representatives and station officials on the college campus.

The first studies will deal with the nutritional aspects of feeding fish to mink and mink diseases. Mink were selected for the initial research because these are the principal fur farm animals of Oregon.

Objectives of the feeding project include finding the nutritional values of the various Oregon fishes, determining the amounts of the various kinds of fish that can be used satisfactorily in an economical feeding program, studying the effect of season of catch, storage conditions and handling treatment on the feed value of fish, and checking the kinds and amounts of materials needed as supplements in the fish diet.

The station's experimental fur farm south of Corvallis is being readied to receive the first group of mink about December 1. Approximately 50 dark mink will be used in beginning phases of research, furnished by the Oregon Fox and Mink Breeders association.

Roseburg Man In Navy To End 3-Weeks' Cruise

Robert L. Stapleford, fireman apprentice, USN, of Route 2, Roseburg, is scheduled to arrive at Norfolk, Va., Oct. 15, after a three-week cruise in the Mediterranean as a crew member of the destroyer mine sweeper USS Macomb.

The Macomb put in to Algiers, North Africa, to afford the crew a period of leave and liberty before leaving the Mediterranean for Bermuda, B.W.I., en route to Norfolk.

In radio's earlier days, the more controls a receiving set had the more efficient it was thought to be.
