Sidelights... Here and There

At the Badoura club benefit bridge tea... Flaye Marster's antique silver candlesticks lighting the way... Mrs. Ted Bernard outfitted in a wine suit and matching aster corsage... that charming combination at the tea table, Mrs. A. J. Young and Mrs. Guy Cordon... interlude music from Mrs. Leon Mulkey's violin... Hilda Wade in a flattering suit with furs...

Not to be forgotten this week was the Lady Elks public card party and how the Terrace room bloomed with lamps all about the room... President Helen Ryan conversing at tables and wearing a flattering black frock with drape and side bow... Verdun Boucock, the solitary player, called to the front... those melting formal... in the fashion show... the many fur coats called to use by the nippy evening... and the scattering of men adding an interesting note to the evening's audience.
