Dedication Of Dorena Dam Held

COTTAGE GROVE, Oct. 24—(P)—Dorena Dam was officially dedicated Sunday in a public ceremony that attracted a crowd of more than 500 people. Governor Douglas McKay threw the main switch that formally set into operation the $14,000,000 flood control structure. Scheduled for completion in July of 1930, crews worked Sundays and holidays to finish ahead of time.

Rep. Harris Ellsworth spoke briefly, pledging his full support until all the units in the Willamette valley project are completed. Dorena was the third and largest of three dams constructed in the valley.

Fern Ridge on the Long Tom river near Eugene, and Cottage Grove on the coast fork of the Willamette near here were finished prior to the war. Detroit Dam on the north Santiam and Meridian near Lowell are still under construction.

Col. O. E. Walsh, division engineer, expressed the hope that money might be available next year for preliminary planning operations on other flood control sites on the McKenzie and South Santiam rivers. Marshall Dana, editor of the editorial page of

Foreign Students Greeted At OSC

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—Fraternity men here are putting international friendship into action this year by furnishing scholarships to two European graduate students. Conrad J. M. Holstege of Holland and Matti Siustered here for graduate work in mechanical and electrical engineering, respectively.

Under the arrangement the visitors will have opportunity to live with American students as well as study with them. Each man will live in three different fraternities, one each term. The other fraternities have contributed cash to the project to meet tuition and other necessary expenses.

Holstege is 23, unmarried, and a graduate of Delft Technical Institute. Siustered is 27, married, and a graduate of the Finland Institute of Technology. He has been with the Finland Broadcasting Co. for four years and will specialize here in communications engineering.

Old Corvallis College Bell Donated To OSC

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—The original bell that hung in the belfry of old Corvallis college to call students to classes weekdays and worshippers to service on Sundays, has been given to Oregon State college by officials of the former South Methodist church, now merged with the First Methodist church of Corvallis.

The old bell, cast in England in 1860, was brought around the Horn and placed in the college belfry in the early Sixties. It served throughout the life of the college until the campus was moved to its present site, and then continued as the bell for the church until the latest building was sold to the government for USO purposes in 1942.

Justice Of Peace Quits To Go On Hunting Trip

PAISLEY—(P)—Every year for 10 years Justice of the Peace Louis Johnson began muttering to himself, come fall. He wanted to go hunting; but instead he had to sit behind the judge's bench in Paisley, meeting out fines to hunting law violators.

This season the craving got too strong. Johnson sent in his resignation as justice of the peace, and went hunting.

Today District Attorney Robert Welch was hunting frantically for a replacement. Johnson worried of his resignation a month ago, but so far Welch hasn't been able to find a successor.

Seems everybody else in Paisley wants to go hunting, too.
