Minister Loses Long Law Fight In Morals Case

KLAMATH FALLS.—(AP)—Two and a half years of legal jockeying came to an end in circuit court here when William Henry Nagel of Portland was ordered taken to Salem to begin serving a two-year prison sentence imposed on a conviction of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Nagel said he will have a Baptist pulpit open for him when he is released from prison.

He appeared in court with his wife and two Portland attorneys and made a last effort to avoid going to the penitentiary by asking for a suspended sentence or probation. Circuit Judge Orval J. Millard of Grants Pass vetoed the request and directed that Nagel be committed.

The 43-year-old Portland minister was convicted here in September, 1947, on an indictment charging him with committing an indecent act in the presence of a 10-year-old Klamath Falls girl in May of that year.

Mrs. Mary June Bingham was appointed to assemble the material and write it.

New members who have joined the club are Mrs. H. W. Howard, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Joyce Norman, Mrs. Dorothy Cox and Mrs. Bea Anderson.

perared as a prosecution witness during the trial.

It was Judge Vandenberg's interest in the case that Nagel and his attorneys claimed prevented the Portlander from getting a fair trial in Klamath county, and the contention was used in appealing the conviction to the state Supreme court and finally to the U. S. Supreme court.

In court Nagel reiterated his claim of innocence and said the pulp of a recently organized Baptist church in Portland was being held open for him "until such time as I can come back."
