

"Tick's" Tips On Veterans Hospital

By "TICK" MALARKY
"Art" Midland had a birthday Nov. 1. He was taking things in stride as a work detail from crowded Joe Betley's canteen to "coffee up" from their volunteer duties on the campus of Vets hospital.

For 15 years Midland has had the duty here, and he has seen it all from ward work to the present job—which is "polishing up" the grounds, garden, shrubs; in fact anything that must be done in seasons of the year which will permit his lads to get up a sweat and feel better for a day spent in the open.

It was Private Midland back in the days of '17 and '18. Private Midland of the Air Corps ground forces. This was the time of pioneer combat flying and the youth from Eau Claire, Wisc., got into that mess early and stayed late.

When asked what he liked best about the present assignment, a tanned face wrinkled into a smile, and we quote:

"Watching the sick veteran recovering his health through voluntary work is a great satisfaction. I look forward to each day and really feel that I'm doing something worth while."

Mr. and Mrs. Midland make their home in Coates addition.

This is the story of a nurse who told an Irishman the name of a flower that bloomed so beautifully during September. No one around this station seemed to know. She knew.

"It's name is the Rose of Sharon."

This is the story of a nurse on duty who said one evening: "Mrs. Bud Carter—the sheriff's wife—says she knows more about Roseburg's VA hospital since 'Charlie' Stanton began publishing 'Tips,' than she did when she nursed there."

This is the story of a nurse who said:

"In not important."

Her name? Miss Marguerite Feuerstein. This we know about you that makes us proud of your achievements. First of all you graduated from German Deaconess hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, 25 years ago and you—like other nurses here by The Grove—have practiced your profession continuously.

You have lived and worked in the Roseburg VA hospital for more than 10 years.

You are mighty well liked by patients—staff and personnel.

When Nurse Marguerite's deep, dark eyes light up a smile the "Bambos," "Graybeards" and "Kids," get a lift.

Yep, Marguerite, we think you are important.

So we stand at attention as a lovely lady goes by smiling through the wards performing much more than mere routine duties.

"Dear Mabel" MacRea, special services, blacks us out with a machine gun fire announcement that the Harvest Moon minstrels will take to the stage board the evening of Friday, Nov. 11. Talent now in rehearsal has been recruited from the ranks of patients and personnel.

Our one and only "Dear Mabel" filled with all the optimism that the sons and daughters of old Erin seemed blessed with, sez:

"It will be colossal, stupendous,

Murderer-Robber Dies In Washington Noose

WALLA WALLA, — (AP) — Arthur Bruce Perkins paid with his life Tuesday for the murder of an elderly Olympia couple in the shadow of the state capitol two years ago.

Perkins, 23-year-old Onalaska youth, dropped through the gallows trap at 12:06 a.m., and was pronounced dead 12 minutes later.

The condemned slayed went to the gallows unaided. He said nothing. He had spent the entire afternoon with the very Rev. John J. Callanan and the father said later that Perkins had been baptized into the Catholic church prior to his execution. A brother visited him.

Perkins was convicted of murdering Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jessup in Olympia in December, 1947. The slayings occurred during a robbery.

HE FOOLED 'EM—Alfred Cohn (right) enjoys a hearty laugh at "putting one over" on the insurance company as he collects on his own life insurance at the age of 96. Thomas Levejoy Jr., makes the presentation in New York. Cohn took out an "ordinary life" policy about 60 years ago. In fine print was a clause stating he, and not the beneficiary named, would collect if he lived to be 96.

Slaying Points To Murder, Suicide

NEW YORK. — (AP) — An attractive woman employee of the "Voice of America" and a Chinese clerk from the United Nations were found stabbed to death in a blood-spattered room in a Broadway hotel.

Assistant medical examiner Nathan Ludwig said it was murder and suicide. The two had apparently spent the evening at a ballet.

The nude body of the woman, 33-year-old, Bulgarian-born Musina Zolyak, was found sprawled on a bed beside the body of Wei Huan Kuo, 28, a clerk in the U.N. Documents and sales division.

The woman, said by associates to be married but separated from her husband, had been stabbed nine times in the chest and eight times in the back.

Kuo's body, clad only in shorts had six stab wounds in the chest. A small hunting knife that fitted into a sheath in Kuo's clothing was found on the bed between the bodies.

Mrs. Zolyak was a graduate of New York's Hunter college. She was naturalized at Washington in 1947.

Kuo held a B. A. degree from China university, Peiping.
