Toy Makers Foresee Record Christmas Sales But Dollar Volume May Disclose Slump

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(A)—Santa Claus is set to put a $300 million bite on dad for toys this Christmas. There are a record number of children to unwrap the presents, and a record number of fathers to buy the toys and help them wear out. The shops will offer more low-re-priced toys, but plenty of luxury priced ones, too. American toy manufacturers think they'll top last year's unit sales volume, but that slightly lowered prices may keep the dollar sales volume down to last year's $300 million. Santa Claus may be penalized a few yards in communities where incomes have been

PRIZE POSTER—Herbert Matter, New York photographer, looks at his poster, which won him $1000 in a New York contest sponsored by the Museum of Modern Art and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The poster, which won first prize, is a photo-montage. Matter used his own son, who recovered from pollo, as one of the models.

Instance, department store toy counters now set up for the sales rush, are showing more toys presumably powered by atomic energy and jet propuision.

Or, if father has been worried about the housing situation, may be he'll buy one of the new prefabricated toy houses.

If he's all steamed up about the tug-of-war between coal and oil, with its overtones of strikes and prices, and the labor disputes invoived in changing over from steam locomotives to diesels—perhaps he'll be interested to note that electric train sets show more diesel-type locomotives this year than steam.

And among the new games is one in which the object is to find parking space for the family car. Many persons no longer consider this search funny, but the game is said to be absorbing and serves to let the youngster see what he's in for.

The farm influence, now that crop surpluses and food prices are so to the fore in even a toymaker's mind, is strong in the electric train department. For instance, you can buy your future 4-H club member a cattle car with ramps that toy cattle will walk up and down.

The magnet is pleatiful, too.

Forced Grading Of Meat Opposed By Wool Growers

FORTLAND, Nov. 10. — CP — Oregon's wool growers oppose any compulsory grading of meat by city, state or federal agencies. Their convention voted unani-aimed specifically at a Portland city plan to compel grading of all meats. It included, however, op-position to compelsory grading by meats. It included, however, opposition to compcisory grading by any agency.

Delegates said they favored voluntary grading such as the federal grading plan. The growers argued that "grading actually means degrading because most of Oregon's meat animals are marketed grass fat." They explained that only 2 to 3 per cent of Oregon animals grade A or AA. The other carcasses are just as nutritious, they said.

On other issues, the growers opposed a Columbia Valley administration, daylight saving time and the Hoover report proposal touching on grazing land administration. The government reorganization recommendations of the former president's committee suggested transfer of the federal grazing service from the dedepartment of agriculture.
