

Kiwanians Guests Of Jr. High; Dine On School Lunch

The Roseburg Kiwanis club members, in observance of American Education week, were guests of the junior high school student luncheon for 50 cents, under the direction of Mrs. May Mathews, school lunch co-ordinator.

Speaker for the occasion was Walter Fisher, who told of his recent trip to Europe.

An additional feature was the playing of a record made by J. Hugh Jackson, Kiwanis International president, and Jimmy Fidler, movie radio commentator, calling attention to National Kids' day Nov. 19. The day will be observed locally on Nov. 18 with a big football jamboree on Finlay field. Tom Fargeter, Jim Slatery and R. L. Whipple are chairmen in charge of the observance.

Mrs. Mathews, discussing the dinner, said that the typical menu included government surplus commodities, such as cheese, powdered milk, tomatoes, concentrated orange juice, apples and butter. She said the schools had just received 996 pounds of butter as a three-month supply.

Junior high principal R. R. Brand invited members to the open house program Wednesday night at the school, when parents will be going through a typical day's study program. Brand also led the club in singing "School Days."

The ninth grade boys' chorus, directed by R. Cloyd Riffe, entertained with two selections.

District Kiwanis Governor Allen Wheeler of Eugene, and Ferroll Iles, formerly of Roseburg and now of Springfield, where he is club president, were special guests, along with local visitors.

Noblewoman's Daughter Held In Slaying Inquiry

DETROIT, (AP)—The daughter of a self-styled French Noblewoman is held here with her husband for questioning in a tourist cabin slaying at Calgary, Alberta.

The husband, William L. Wallace, 42, was picked up by Federal authorities for a deportation hearing.

At that time, officers said, he began talking about the slaying of Yvonne Levesque during a drinking party at Calgary.

An elderly, dignified woman who identified herself as the Marchioness Margaret d'Autier appeared at police headquarters.

Indignantly, she demanded to see her daughter Wilhelma, Wallace's wife.

The Wallaces were picked up by police at her Detroit apartment.

The 31-year-old wife and her husband hurled a variety of charges at each other, police said. None could be substantiated.

The Marchioness said she came to this country in 1906 after the death of the Marquis in France. Mrs. Wallace, her daughter by a second marriage, was born in Bellingham, Wash., she said.

Seattle, Nov. 10. — (AP) — The bodies of the two men trapped at the bottom of a 60-foot shaft at the University of Washington campus yesterday were recovered early today.

One was pinned down by a large beam.

Hope for the two men's safety — never high — was virtually abandoned last evening when a second slide undid the work of seven hours. No one, however, was caught in the later slide.

The two men — James McNabb, 36, of Auburn, and Ed L. Olson, Seattle — were buried alive in a short tunnel off the bottom of the shaft yesterday morning.

Tons of earth and broken timbers covered them.

The shaft was sunk to dig tunnels designed to carry heat and electricity conduits to University buildings.

Cave-In Kills 2 Men On Washington U. Campus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — (AP) — The Agriculture department made a new offer Monday to buy 1,000 tons of dried prunes for the national school lunch program from processors in Oregon and Washington.

The department rejected previous bids because it considered them too high.

New bids must be submitted by Nov. 22 for acceptance or rejection on or before Nov. 30.

The purchase program is designed to help bolster sagging prices of prunes.

It is estimated that in some districts, earthworms add a layer of topsoil one-fifth of an inch thick.
