

Virginia, Texas Kill Efforts To Repeal Poll Tax

(By the Associated Press)
Proposals to lift a $5,000-a-year limit on state salaries and to boost state aid to school districts also got strong support in Kentucky in Tuesday's elections. Ohio voters okayed a new type ballot for the state and colored oleomargarine. Two attempts to repeal state poll tax laws failed. Apparently, so did a New Jersey proposal for financing a $105,000,000 veterans' bonus.

GIANT TRACTORS team up in the clearing of right-of-way for the re-construction of the Pacific Highway through the tortuous and rugged canyon between Canyonville and Azalea. Building of the section extending from Deer Park Inn, in the lower canyon, to Azalea has been awarded to the Kuckenber Construction company of Portland by the State Highway commission at a bid of $1,200,000. This firm has commenced clearing operations at the Pioneer bridge and also at a point just south of the summit.—(By Paul Jenkins).

But Pennsylvania approved, early four to one, a $500,000,000 plan to join more than a dozen other states in providing bonuses for World War II GIs. The New Jersey proposition was touch-and-go.

Poll Tax Repeals Lose
The poll tax repeals went down to defeat in Virginia and Texas, two of the seven Dixie states which still retain the levy as a prerequisite for voting. Both amendments had provisions, in addition to abolishing the tax, that a lot of people didn't like.

The Virginia and Texas poll tax defeats seemed certain to bring fresh demands upon the senate to speedily approve the anti-poll tax measure which will be pending before that chamber when congress returns in January.

The house already has passed the bill. Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee also have a poll tax.

Virginia voters routed by a top-heavy margin the proposal to repeal the present $1.50 tax and give the state assembly wide authority to enact new balloting requirements. The amendment would have abolished the $1.75 poll tax as a voting requirement, but would have retained the tax for revenue purpose and provided for a system of annual registration of voters.

Also trailing in the Lone Star state were proposals to provide annual legislative sessions and to let women serve on juries.

Morris Leland Faces Gas Cell For Girl Murder

PORTLAND, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Twenty-two-year-old Morris Leland will go to the Oregon prison gas chamber for murdering a 15-year-old high school girl last August.

A circuit court jury Tuesday returned a verdict of guilty after considering the case since early Monday evening.

It made no recommendation. That made death in the gas chamber mandatory. Leland, who admitted holding Thelma Taylor overnight in a secluded spot in Portland's St. Johns area then b'geoning and stabbing her to death the next morning, had pleaded insanity. Throughout the six-day trial Leland rocked back and forth in a chair at the defense table, his eyes half closed, showing no emotion.

After the verdict was read, a reporter stepped up to Leland and asked him if he had anything to say. Leland gestured with his right hand and said: "That's business."

The girl had left her home to go bean picking when she met Leland and he took her into a brushy area. He said she went willingly but admitted she tried to leave when he attempted to rape her. She was beaten with an iron bar and was stabbed. Her body was discovered when Leland told police about the killing when arrested on a car theft charge, and led them to the scene.

Drive For Aiding Needy Of Europe Scheduled Here

A Thanksgiving week campaign for clothing, shoes and soap for the needy and homeless of Europe and the Near and Far East will be conducted in Roseburg beginning Sunday, November 20, and ending November 27, under the local auspices of St. Joseph parish. As part of a huge, nation-wide drive sponsored by War Relief services of the National Catholic Welfare conference, the local appeal seeks all kinds of usable clothing, wearable shoes, and bar soap. Donors are requested to bring their contributions to St. Joseph church during the week of November 20 to 27. The Reverend Edmund Hyland, O.F.M. Cap., is presently making arrangements to facilitate the handling and shipping of the contributed articles to national warehouses. After special processing and packing, the clothing, shoes and soap will be shipped directly to emergency zones in Europe and Asia for free distribution to those in need, regardless of race, creed or color.

HOG PRICES TUMBLE
PORTLAND.—(AP)—Hog prices on the north Portland livestock market have fallen to within 30 cents a hundred pounds of the 1946 OPA price.

Theodore Swenson, market news reporter, said the price might actually be below the OPA level because of the range now on weight and class. Under OPA practically all sold at the top. The general market on 180-230 pound weights now is $17.50. The ceiling when OPA controls ended was $17.20.
