

Honored at Tea On Ninetieth Birthday

Mrs. J. F. Barker

Picture by Paul Jenkins

One of the most charming events of the fall occurred Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Velle Broadway and Mrs. L. W. Josse were hostesses at a lovely tea in compliment to their mother, Mrs. J. F. Barker, on her ninetieth birthday at the latter's beautiful home on East Lane street. Guests were invited to call between the hours of three and six o'clock and were received by Miss Helen Casey.

Mrs. Barker, wearing a becoming afternoon gown of blue, wore a corsage of rubrum speciosum lilies. She graciously received her many friends, who presented numerous lovely gifts, potted plants and bouquets of roses and chrysanthemums to her in honor of the occasion.

The tea table, covered by an exquisite cut-work lace cloth, was centered with an arrangement of mixed chrysanthemums and pale yellow roses. A huge white candle lighted the table. The birthday cake, decorated with pale pink roses and with green leaves, was flanked by ball-candles of ivory. Huge bouquets of chrysanthemums and roses decorated the living room and sun room.

Alternating in pouring were: Mrs. Dexter Rice and Mrs. S. L. Kidd; Mrs. James E. Sawyers and Mrs. M. F. Rice; Mrs. H. H. Stapleton and Mrs. A. A. Wilder; Miss Rosa B. Parrott and Mrs. J. A. Harding; and Mrs. Matt Gillespie of Coos Bay and Mrs. Charles W. Wharton.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. J. B. Josse, wife of the guest of honor's grandson; Mrs. Donald Metzger, Mrs. Robert Browning, Mrs. D. W. Hellmuth, Mrs. Fred Lockwood, Mrs. C. B. Wade and Miss Naomi Scott.

Those assisting about the rooms were Mrs. W. R. Brown, Mrs. H. O. Pargeter, Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mrs. George Wharton, Mrs. W. F. Poorman of Salem

The birthday cake was cut and Mrs. Harold Beauchamp, served by Mrs. W. F. Chapman and Mrs. Harry Hildeburn. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. J. R. Wharton.

Mrs. Barker also has a son, M/Sgt. Clifford D. Barker, of Seattle; two grandsons, J. B. Josse, Roseburg, and John Barker, Seattle, and two great-grandsons, Peter and Kim Josse, Roseburg. The latter two and their father, J. B. Josse, were present for the celebration.
