Decoy Memo That Trapped Coplon Woman Related

NEW YORK — (AP) — Judith Coplon's former boss told at her hearing here of giving the young woman a highly secret memo that related to atomic energy and turned out to be a decoy.

The government charges that excerpts from the message were found in Miss Coplon's purse when FBI agents arrested her and Soviet engineer Valentin Gubitchev in New York.

William E. Foley, head of the internal security and foreign agents registration section of the Justice department, told of giving the message to the former government girl.

He was the eleventh and last witness called in the trial by which Miss Coplon's lawyer, Archibald Palmer, is seeking to prevent her from being tried with Valentin Gubitchev on a spy conspiracy charge.

Foley said he told Miss Coplon, then employed in his department, that the message was "strictly confidential," "hot," and "very interesting" when he gave it to her in Washington on the morning of the day she was arrested.

He said the message named Isidore G. Needleman, general counsel for the Amtorg Trading corporation, as an FBI informer.

The government announced after Foley's testimony ended that it would not call any witnesses in the hearing.

Federal Judge Sylvester A. Ryan said he would hear arguments on Palmer's motions to have Miss Coplon's arrest declared illegal and to get the indictment against her quashed.

Gubitchev relaxed his no-talking attitude for the first time and said thanks in Russian to Judge Ryan, who had ordered that he be given a free copy of the minutes of the hearing.

Public Aid Grants To Be Cut, Gov. Langlie Says

SPOKANE. — (AP) — "The only logical course open to us now, if the state is to be saved from bankruptcy, is a determined hold-the-line effort in every phase of state government."

With that as his keynote, Governor Langlie warned a citizens meeting at nearby Millwood that cuts in three types of public assistance grants will be forthcoming.

He blamed most of Washington's financial troubles on initiative 172, the social security measure approved at the polls last fall. Scathing denunciation of the initiative's sponsors and examples of "money-wasting abuses" possible under the measure dotted his address.

The governor virtually eliminated the possibility of a special tax-raising session of the state legislature when he said:

"To levy additional taxes at this point would aggravate our over-all problems . . ."

He said also that the state has reached "the saturation point in taxation—in fact, we have passed it."

The state's chief executive did not say how deep the cuts in the three types of grants slashed would be. Neither did he indicate when the cuts will go into effect.

Washington County Divides On Hospital Proposal

FOREST GROVE. — (AP) — A committee is working for an election to let the voters of western Washington county decide whether they want a new hospital here or not.

The western Washington citizens committee voted to circulate petitions asking for an election to form a hospital district.

The committee stand conflicts with the Washington County Medical society, which said it considered the existing private hospital here sufficient. A State Board of Health survey, proposed a 60-bed hospital for Forest Grove.

Joseph M. Loomis, chairman of the committee, said opposition between MDs and osteopaths was one cause of the objections to a public hospital. It would be open to osteopaths as well as doctors of medicine.

Loomis said he thought the public should decide the matter.

Punchboard Problem Again Confronts Portland

PORTLAND. — (AP) — Portland is having punchboard trouble again.

Nobody could decide whether a certain question - and - answer punchboard was legal or not.

The city council refused to license it, as containing an element of chance. But circuit court ruled that people operating a board can not be arrested for failing to have a license when they tried to get it and were refused.

Boards can be outlawed under the state anti-lottery laws, but officials doubted that this one would be considered a lottery.

I pays merchandise to customers answering a question correctly. The value of the merchandise ranged from a clock to a package of gum, depending on the punch.

One Utility May Profit By Dissolution Of 2nd

SPOKANE. — (AP) — Government-ordered dissolution of the American Power and Light holding company may bring control of the Washington Water Power company back to the Pacific Northwest, Kinsey Robinson, president of the Spokane firm, believes.

Nearly all common stock of MWP is owned by American, which also controls Pacific Power & Light and the Portland Gas and Coke company, Robinson said.

Hopes to swing control back to the northwest were seen in the offering of a new AP&L stock that gives common stock ownership of the three utilities.

Robinson said the new issue would be distributed around the first of the year.

Tax Refund Demanded By Eugene Plywood Concern

EUGENE. — (AP) — The Eugene Plywood company has asked Lane county to refund $31,951.82 paid in taxes over a seven-year period. The company claims the amount represents tax differences on assessment values because of a location error.

The firm has informed the county court that the assessor listed the plant as inside the city limits of Eugene but that the factory is outside it. Because of the error, the firm argued, taxes have been levied for the city, school district and the Eugene rural fire protection district.

Son Of Jewish Vet Mauled By Young Toughs

LYNN, Mass. — (AP) — A heart-broken war widow in an open letter pleaded with the world to give her the right answer for her 11-year-old son's question, "Why did my daddy have to die?"

Mrs. E. Sylvia Goldstein, widow of Maurice Goldstein, who died with the 2nd Armored Infantry, 41st division, on Nov. 20, 1944, wrote the Lynn item:

"On Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, my 11-year-old son, Laurence, was waylaid . . . by several large boys. These boys insulted, spat, beat and kicked my son into the gutter because he was, as they sneeringly said: 'A Jew.'"

"Ironically enough my son was coming home from a Boy Scout meeting—a meeting at which one of the Watchwords, I believe, is: 'A scout is reverent, he is reverent toward others, he is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.'"

"Maybe if he had run away he would have been spared a beating. But, being the son of a veteran, killed in the service of his country, he could do no less than stick it out against unfair odds and strike out against injustice, even as his father did before him."

"Perhaps if such incidents were brought to the attention of the public there would be fewer heart-breaks, like the one I mention. Maybe then, too, I would know the right answer to give my son when he asks: 'Why did my daddy have to die?'"

The item said the mother had not reported the incident to the police but that the paper had and he local chapter of B'nai B'rith was investigating the matter.

High School Diplomas Available To War Veterans

SALEM — (AP) — War veterans, if they know enough, can get high school diplomas even if they haven't graduated from high school.

The state veterans department says that tests are being given in 15 Oregon cities to measure veterans' knowledge of grammar, literature, social studies, natural sciences, and mathematics.

If a veteran proves he knows as much about those subjects as the average high school graduate does, then he can get a high school diploma.

The department said that service in the armed forces can give veterans enough general knowledge to make them the educational equal of a high school graduate.

The tests are limited to veterans who served at least 90 days, and who enlisted before July 25, 1947.

The testing centers are located in Portland, Astoria, Baker, Bend, Eugene, Hoppner, Klamath Falls, La Grande, Coos Bay, Ontario, Pendleton, Salem, The Dalles, Corvallis and Ashland.

The tests are given by school officials.
