

Bonnie Prince Charlie Launched On Long, Hard Road To Kingship Training

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's Bonnie Prince Charlie this week celebrated his first birthday, thereby passing the initial milestone of a life journey which even as he saw the first light of day was dedicated to the interests of the public.

The tiny prince as son of Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the imperial throne, is next in line to his mother. In normal course he one day will be his own man.

So he never will be "king of man". He may mount a golden throne and wear a wondrous crown studded with priceless gems. But even in youth he won't be able to slip away to the old swimming hole when he wants to. He can't play hooky from his job of being heir to the world's greatest throne.

You likely see a recognition of his position in the fact that while the public likes to refer to him as "Bonnie Prince Charlie", he always is called "Charles" in his royal home. He has no nickname, like most little fellers.

By the way, one of my scouts tells me that when the irrepressible Princess Margaret Rose was informed of his birth she asked what he would be called. When told that his name would be Charles she wise-cracked: "Then I suppose I shall be known as 'Charlie's aunt'."

There are few more exacting jobs in the world than that of being King or Queen of England. And next is that of being heir to the throne. Younger brothers and sisters have more freedom, but the heir must start training for his great task almost as soon as he can talk.

Faces Regimented Life
Prince Charles soon will be in the hands of an ultra-competent governess who will instruct him in his young years. Always he will be protected from coming into contact with undesirable influences. As soon as he is old enough he will be turned over to tutors who will prepare him for one of the English colleges.

But that is only part of his training. He must know his empire and its peoples. He must know all the intricate ins and outs of Government. He must learn the ways of Kingship.

All this of course involves not only hard study but, when he is old enough, travel throughout the empire "upon which the sun never sets." Moreover, even in his teens he must begin keeping public engagements, and even making speeches. And that's no light assignment, for his engagement book more often than not looks like that of a busy country physician.

Abdication Recalled
Bonnie Prince Charlie's great uncle, once King Edward VIII but now plain Duke of Windsor, provided us with an illustration of what Kingship means. He came to the throne as perhaps the best trained man ever to assume that august position. He had been a much beloved Prince of Wales.

But Edward stubbed his royal toe. He made up his mind to marry Mrs. Simpson against the wishes and advice of his minis-

Murder Trial Opening Dated

TOLEDO, Ore. — (AP) — The murder trial of Homer Edwards — the first of two facing the Nashville district rancher — will open here Nov. 28.

He will be tried for the October gunshot death of Melvin Longyear, 26. He is charged, too, with the death of a brother, Charles Longyear, 22. Both bodies were found sprawled beside a brushy trail in the rough, hilly country 40 miles northeast of here after Edwards reported "trouble" to Sheriff Tim Whelp.

District Attorney Louis English said 81 names were on the jury panel. After reporting to the sheriff, Edwards declined to talk. A sheriff's posse stumbled through the night of Oct. 12 and in early morning found the bodies in the area described by Edwards.

English said he would be aided in the prosecution by additional counsel but he did not name the attorney or attorneys. He said the defense would be handled by Carl Houston of Corvallis, Mark Weatherford of Albany and George McClusky of Toledo.

REFUTES NAVAL CLAIM — Dr. George M. Lyon (above), member of National Research Council's Committee on Atomic Casualties and Chief Navy Safety Officer at the Bikini A-bomb tests, challenged a Naval officer's recent claim that an A-bomb explosion would not seriously injure a person standing in the open a mile away. Dr. Lyon said there would be almost 100 per cent casualties within a one-mile radius of the explosion.

The play, written by Robert Shaffer, a member of the faculty, is directed by Mrs. Shaffer. This will be the second presentation. It was first staged at the academy ten years ago, in 1939.

The drama portrays modern life as it exists in America today. The scenes are typical and are alive with realism. It is strictly an up-to-the-minute production according to the author and cast.

The title is significant, it is announced. The plot centers around the experiences of a San Francisco lad faced with the proposition of choosing a life's work after graduation. The drama is augmented with radio-phonograph sound effects.
