that our freedom, our own way of life was definitely threatened by loss of our historic allies to communism.

Success of the Marshall recovery plan so far, he went on, has turned the tide against the Russians. He continued:

"It may be difficult for you to wrap your minds around the fact that the politburo is planning to take over this country of ours in due course. But their purpose is nothing less than this."

Conquest Order Listed

Hoffman said the time table of communism called first for the conquest of western Europe, then Asia, Africa, South America, and finally, North America. He commented:

"If we in the United States remain strong and prosperous, and above all, if the free people remain united, the evil plans of the men of the Kremlin will fail."

Recovery-wise, Hoffman went on, the problem for Europe is to unify its economy to provide expanding markets for the products it turns out and thus achieve economic self-sufficiency and a rising standard of living. Calling for continued cooperation with western Europe, Hoffman concluded with the prediction that Russia ultimately must turn to ways of peace. Said he:

"And once Russia turns away from planning for world conquest to planning a better life for her people, we can all get on to the inspiring job of winning the peace."

to District Attorney James Theisen said he probably would be arraigned Wednesday on a formal charge of murder.

The officers said that Gutierrez told in his statement:

Addict Of Marijuana

He had been drinking Saturday night, and smoked one marijuana cigarette before going to the Huron dance. No one would dance with him, because of his condition, so he left the hall.

As he was leaving, he heard the little girl crying. He opened the car door, picked her up and spanked her. Her crying continued, perhaps for 10 minutes.

"He said he doesn't remember exactly what happened after that," said Theisen. "Until later Sunday morning when he got up, he noticed his clothes were muddy and what he thought was blood on his coat. When he heard about the killing of the little girl, he says he realized it might have been the girl he had."

East Roseburg Group Asks For Annexation

ing a general change in city wards, which would provide for inclusion of any areas that might be annexed. The suggested general boundaries would be divided by Stephens street and Douglas street, extending west across the river to Military, north on Corey, and thence west along Harvard.

Ward 1 would be that section north of Douglas and east of Stephens; ward 2, north of Douglas and west of Stephens; ward 3, west of Stephens and south of Douglas, to include the Military-Corey-Harvard job, and ward 4 east of Stephens and south of Douglas.

The present boundaries are as follows: ward 1, east of Jackson and north of Oak; ward 2, west of Jackson and north of Lane; ward 3, east of the river to Cobb and south of Oak.

No action was taken on the proposed change. This is merely the first step, it was explained, to reorganize the city, in as much as new areas have been or are expected to be annexed to the city. Also, the county court has divided voting precincts, so that there are now 10, instead of eight in the present city boundaries.

Winston was delegated to meet with the West Roseburg Civic Improvement committee tonight to discuss the matter. It was explained that the city council by ordinance can alter the ward boundaries, but cannot increase the number of wards without a charter amendment.

It was announced, in response to a letter from the chamber of commerce, that no date will be set for an election upon a bond issue for proposed airport improvements until after the Dec. 13 vote within the city upon the West Roseburg, Sleepy Hollow-Miller's addition annexation issues.

According to City Attorney Paul Geddes, technicalities in the sale of bonds may result, if a vote is taken while the city's boundaries are in a state of fluctuation. John Fet appeared at the meeting in behalf of both the Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce requesting information.

The police committee reported it had investigated a complaint by Mrs. Ole Green regarding fumes from a cleaning establishment, operated by Robert Travera, on Fowler street. The committee concluded this was not a matter for the council to determine, but recommended that the complainant "take steps to abate such nuisance by signing the necessary nuisance warrants required before action can be taken by the city officers." It was suggested meantime that Travera change pipes extending outside the building to run up above the building. Travera, who was present, stated this change has already been made.

A letter was read from Bruce Meilis, complaining of all night parking by trucks and cars on city streets at night, and of parking longer than the allotted five minutes in front of the postoffice between the hours of 7 and 10 p.m.

A letter from H. L. Scofield, Douglas county public housing administrator, was read, stating the government trailer park was no longer being operated. He wished to cancel the sewer con-

Byrnes Flays Federal Fiscal Policies

The Federal government with "statism," with taking over more and more the powers and prerogatives of local governments. Last night he told the South's chief executives:

"We should devote to cutting expenditures some of the thought we are devoting to taxing and borrowing. But cutting expenditures is not seriously considered in the executive departments and new taxes will not be seriously considered in Congress. So deficit spending will continue," Byrnes said.

"Big government is more dangerous than big business," Byrnes added. "Little governments can regulate big business but it is difficult to regulate big government."

"The spenders, while deploring deficit spending, assert as an excuse that there was deficit spending during the Roosevelt administration. But who can forget that in 1933 the banks of the nation were closed, farmers whose mortgages were foreclosed were deserting the farms, factories were idle and the unemployed walked the streets hungry?"

"Only a spender with no sense of responsibility could fall to see the difference," said the former U. S. Supreme court justice. "Today we have 'unexamined prosperity.' If the government cannot live within its income, what will it do should we have a serious recession in business?"

Byrnes, who had said he is considering seeking Democratic nomination as governor of South Carolina next year, divided advocates of big government into three groups:

- 1—Those who honestly believe that local governments have failed to discharge their responsibilities;
 - 2—Those who feel that government must play a greater role and yet are opposed to a government doing everything; and
 - 3—The selfish men who crave the power to spend the money of others.
- These last he termed "a dangerous group." They are in every department and agency and want to stay there, he declared. "The bigger the government the more money they have to spend."

Upon recommendation of the police committee, the council approved liquor license renewals for The Spot Tavern, Cliff's Market, Safeway Stores, Chester Wilcox, Leonard S. Zacher for the Friendly Tavern, and Rhoads Grocery.

City Manager M. W. Slinkard was granted permission to be out of the city Dec. 20 to 30.

Commerce Dept. Plan Explained By Newby

will be able to answer many of the inquiries now addressed to the secretary of state's office in Salem.

Need for these field offices was pointed out statistically by the speaker, who cited figures to show the increased demand for ists. In 1948, Newby said, the state registered 535,800 motor vehicles. During the first nine months of this year, the total has jumped to 638,875, with another 20,000 anticipated before the end of the year.

Increase in the number of licensed drivers averages 5,000 a month, he said.

Oregon Manufacturing Up

Regarding possible location of manufacturing and industrial plants in the state, Newby declared Oregon is now becoming known as a manufacturing center. Oregon manufacturing payrolls exceeded the national average in late war years, he said. Since then, the percentage has declined, but manufacturing is steadily on the increase with the advent of new manufacturers.

"The number of industries collecting buildings costing $100,000 to $500,000 runs into the scores," Newby declared.

Chambers of commerce and the projected new state department should place more stress on manufacture of finished products by plants located within the state, Newby said. He urged more manufacture of merchantable items as a continuation of the state's leading industry, lumbering.

Newby told the group that one reason why future location of industry in Oregon may be slowed down is our failure to fully develop the state's electric energy. This is holding back some big business expansion, he said.

George Neuner Jr., local attorney and chairman of the program committee for the day, introduced Newby as a successful fruit orchardist and former state senator from Jackson county. Since holding his present position, Newby has been elected national president of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

Forum Chairman George Luoma announced that Copeo officials would show a complete film record of the Toketee project at next Monday's noon forum.

Truman Pledges Aid In World Food Plan

cent scale down.

However, Mr. Truman declared that the work of the FAO centers around two major problems.

"The first is to increase the production of foodstuffs and other agricultural commodities," he said. "The second is to see that those commodities reach the people and countries which need them."

The president expressed hope the FAO soon will be able to establish permanent headquarters in this country.

Its task, he said, "is central to the whole broad effort to raise living standards and achieve greater freedom for all mankind."

Cooperation Essential

Mr. Truman expressed pleasure that the FAO has worked out a specific program for the use of American methods for control of animal diseases and the improvement of farm machinery and tools.

He said that there was an "imperative necessity" for nations to work together toward a system of international trade to help expand the world economy and he voiced hope the international trade organization soon will be established to fight trade barriers.

He said the United States will work wholeheartedly with other FAO nations to find practical and effective methods for moving temporary surpluses of farm commodities from "have" to "have not" nations.
