JEAN WALLACE STABBED—Jean Wallace, former wife of Actor Franchot Tone, is comforted by her mother, Mrs. Mary Ingham, in the latter's Los Angeles apartment where she received a stab wound in the abdomen. Det. J. F. Thedens quoted Mrs. Ingham as saying she found her daughter in the kitchen at 4:30 a. m., with a 14-inch knife in her hand and an inch-deep wound in her abdomen. The injury is not serious. Reform School "Grad" Gives Up Career Of Crime

SAN FRANCISCO, — (AP) — A 21-year-old reform school graduate who says "society doesn't owe me anything," decided of his own volition to quit the life of crime he learned as a youngster.

Police were dumbfounded when Floyd Christy walked into Central Police station here and confessed some 150 burglaries committed since last June.

Christy, a boyish-looking young man, told officers he had averaged $400 a week in his career as a fulltime burglar.

"I thought that was some thing," he said. "I spent the money in night clubs and on girls. I gave them the jewelry I stole."

A orphan, Christy said he had been on his own since he was five. "Many times I had to steal to eat," he said. "I was a goon for a gang of boys. I started out stealing milk bottles, then bicycles, then blankets from cars and then the cars themselves."

The young burglar said his only education was in the state training school for boys at Woodburn Ore. "I guess reform school was kind of home for me," he explained.

But that's all different now. "I'm going straight after this one," he told officers who booked him for investigation.

"I hope to go back to Japan as a civilian when I finish pounding rocks for this."

Christy said he wanted to return to Tokyo to the Japanese wife he married secretly when he served there as an air force military policeman. He told officers they have a small daughter. (In Tokyo, the air force said available records did not show a Floyd Christy.)

Police, meanwhile, began the laborious job of checking the 35 burglaries Christy said he committed in San Francisco, and the 100 more in Los Angeles and Portland.

—And here's the Recipe

8-oz pkg. Mission Egg Noodles
½ cup Brazil nuts, finely chopped
4 tbs. butter (or turkey fat)
2 tsp. poppy or celery seeds
2 cups of diced turkey, creamed
1 hard boiled egg, chopped

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender yet chewy. Drain well. Sauté nuts to light brown in half the butter, add remaining butter, noodles, poppy or celery seeds, and mix well. Arrange noodles in a ring on hot platter, fill center with creamed turkey, garnish with hard boiled egg. Serves 6.
