K D N D DIAL-LOG

Bill Slater will do the play-by-play and Al Helfer the color commentary for the Mutual-Don Lee Network's exclusive broadcast of the 50th Army-Navy game on Saturday, 10:15 a. m., to conclusion. The inter-service school rivalries started in 1890. Army has won 27 games to the Navy's 19, with three games tied. The middies won five in a row from 1939 to 1943, while the cadets will be out this year to protect a similar five-game skein they started in 1944. A special preview of this grid clash will be broadcast over KRNR tonight at 11. The program will originate from the Racquet club in Philadelphia, where Major General Bryant E. Moore, superintendent of the U. S. Military academy, is to be host at a reception to both squads. The broadcast will also feature remarks by Rear Admiral James L. Holloway Jr., superintendent of the U. S. Naval academy; coaches and captains of both teams; outstanding players from both squads, and the United Sports Writers gathered in Philadelphia to cover the contest.

SATURDAY: Guest-leuth-of-the-week for "Quick as a Flash" at six p. m. is Santos Ortega, radio's "Peter Salem." He'll pose the regular mystery quiz for the contestants participating on the show. The Gold Coast Players are featured and Jack La Frandre, writer-director, is the host.

Representative Emanuel Celler of New York, chairman of the House Judiciary committee, will hold the press conference of the air for this week's "Meet the Press" session Saturday night at 8:30. He'll be interviewed by Lowell Limpus, N. Y. Daily News; C. Norman Stabler, N. Y. Herald Tribune; Henry Hazlitt, Newsweek, and Lawrence Fertig, noted writer on economic affairs.
