Selecting wrappings with designs in scale with the size of the container and suitable for the occasion; choosing ties that are in harmony with the wrapping; using ingenuity and individuality in gift wrapping; and using a variety of wrapping material from home were points emphasized. Instruction was given by Corinne McTaggart, county extension agent, Home Economics. After discussion on principles of design and learning to make tailored and fluffy bows of ribbons, leaders wrapped several packages each.

KDND DIAL LOG

Unclaimed civic and social leaders in communities throughout the country, plus many women whose activities are known, are listed among the tens of thousands of nominees for the "Queen of America" honor as the first half of the nation-wide campaign by Mutual-Don Lee's "Queen for a Day" program reached its conclusion November 26. The second half will conclude December 10.

Many unusual nominations have been received by the week-day cinderella program (11:30-12 noon), as a result of the contest. For example, five teen-agers, patients in the Sister Kenny Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the Jersey City, N. J., Medical center, thought so much of the famous nurse that they submitted her name for the "Queen of America" award.

In Chicago a knitting circle nominated a grandmother, Mrs. Walter E. Schoenfeld. In New York five blind veterans, seeking a way to demonstrate their gratitude to the woman who has been their hostess at many entertainments and sports events, submitted her name, Miss Tess Coleman, as a nominee. Cover girls in the Walter Thorton Pin-Up Club demonstrated support of one of their members by nominating a girl who has graced the covers of many nationally distributed magazines, Mrs. America of 1949, ineligible herself because she is a former "Queen for a Day," caused the nomination of her sister, Mrs. Robert Bromley of Denver, Colo. Mrs. Frances E. Cloyd, of San Diego, Calif., is Mrs. America. The final "Queen of America" will be chosen in January.

Murder hitchhikes a ride on "Let George Do It" tonight at eight when a truck driver breaks the "No Riders" rule. Tune in "Tex Beneke" tonight at 8:45... and "Musio You Want" at ten, when the Boston "Pops" Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, will present Chopin's "Les Sylphides" ballet.
