High Coffee Cost Brings Demand For Investigation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — (AP) The high cost of coffee brought a demand today from Senator Young (R-D) for a full-dress senate investigation. "It seems clear there is considerable speculation and profiteering in coffee," Young told reporters. He added that senate inquiry might "prevent a racket in coffee sales." Young made his statement as a senate agriculture subcommittee called on a government witness to testify on the price of bread and other bakery products. The witness was Ewan Clague, commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics. The committee is looking into the bakery industry's pricing methods and profits. Young joined Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) in the move for a coffee price inquiry. Gillette said the committee has received hundreds of protests from people whose coffee drinking suddenly has become an expensive habit. Young said a hearing may develop there is no real shortage in the coffee supply. And at least, he added, it might prevent hoarding and speculation of the coffee supply. "There is no excuse for dealers to raise prices on stocks already on hand," Young insisted. "That's an unreasonable practice. They should stick to normal profits and not create more misery for the consumer." He said he believes that honest coffee dealers would welcome such an inquiry. Young is convinced the price of bread has gone up with increased profits by the bakers. He said the baking industry made a net profit on capital investment in 1940 of about 8 per cent, and that this profit had climbed last year to about 15 per cent. "That's far too much profit," he said. "Labor and the farmers are not enjoying that kind of prosperity. And it's an invitation to more strikes for higher wages. You can't blame labor for wanting to share in high profits." Alexander M. Crean, Jr., vice president of the Ward Baking company, told the committee yesterday the industry is not making excessive profits. He argued the 1940 dollar was worth much more in buying power than the 1948 dollar—and actual profits had not increased from 8 to 15 per cent.

Letter Written By President Eyed After 100 Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 — (AP) — A "one of a kind" letter from the White House has been rediscovered here after being forgotten for 100 years. It was written by President William Harrison who died April 4, 1841, after only 30 days in office. Apparently the only existing letter Harrison wrote in his brief tenure, it asked a job for Thomas Tucker from Edward Curtis, then New York collector of customs. The letter was turned over to Ben Bloomfield, a dealer in autographs and historical documents by Tucker's grandson, an elderly man who declined to let his name be used. Bloomfield thinks it is worth between $5,000 and $10,000.

Six Youths Young On Charge Of Mass Rape

CHEHALIS, Wash., Nov. 29 — (AP) — Six youths, now being sought for the mass rape of a 22-year-old woman, may also be charged with kidnaping and attempted murder, prosecutor Dorwin Cunningham said today. The attack was reported by Mrs. Josephine Huss, 22 of nearby Centralia, Sheriff Frank Thayer said. Six "John Doe" warrants charging rape were issued yesterday. Mrs. Huss said that after the attack, one of her assailants wanted to beat her over the head with a rock. He was discouraged by his companions, however, and finally agreed she should be thrown into the flooding Cowlitz river after she told them she could not swim. She was nude. She saved herself by grabbing a rock and pulling herself to the bank.

Baby-Sitter Accused In Death Of Infant Boy

BERDEEN, Nov. 29 — (AP) — A charge of second degree murder was filed in justice court yesterday against Alfred Lechner, 29, for the "baby-sitting" death of 18-month-old William Hunter. The child died Nov. 22. Lechner, who still is held without bail, subsequently signed a "statement in which he said he dropped the baby and accidentally stepped on its neck when he stooped to pick it up.

Attempted Rape Draws Ten-Year Prison Term

PORTLAND, Nov. 29 — (AP) — An attempt to rape a 14-year-old girl hired for baby sitting drew a ten-year prison sentence yesterday for Jack A. Strubel, 27. Circuit Judge Redding passed sentence after Strubel pleaded guilty. The court acted on the recommendation of deputy district attorney J. S. Baily, who said he hoped the legislature would authorize segregation of sex criminals at the penitentiary. Dr. John Evans, Portland psychiatrist, told the court that Strubel was a psychopathic case and experienced "black spells" in which he was not aware of what he was doing. Strubel was arrested after the young girl broke away from him and he had been lured on a promise she had been sitting job. Strubel had bound her hands and removed her clothing.

No More Laxatives Feels 100% Better

Copco Expansion Program Shown Here In Movie

A 35-minute technicolor movie entitled "Power For Prosperity" drew a near-capacity crowd Monday to the weekly Roseburg Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon forum at the Hotel Umpqua. James Cummings, advertising manager for the California-Oregon Power company, sponsors of the film, preceded the film's showing with brief remarks as to his firm's proposed expansion. Cummings said Copco planned a large expansion program in the future, a program which would need about $50,000,000 to finance. Sale of securities to the public would be the method of raising the money, he said. Cummings told the forum audience that the film they were about to see had already been witnessed by investment bankers and brokers in many of the nation's larger cities. He said Copco was attempting to sell these men on the soundness of the company by illustrating the economy of the area affected, called "Copco Lands." The film, a dramatic presentation of the growth of Copco and the area it serves, emphasized the diversified farming and industries of southern Oregon, with northern California, with main stress placed on logging and the important part played by electricity. The series of dams projected for Douglas county, including pictures of the nearly-complete Toketee dam, was a highlight of the film. The picture's narrator pointed out that 37,500 kilowatts would soon be added to this area when two of Toketee's three generators are put into operation. The film also mentioned two of the reasons "Copco Lands" have not been developed even more completely. The future of the area depends upon more accessible roads and a more complete development of available hydroelectric power, the narrator said.

Receding Flood Leaves 27 Dead, Mounting Damage

SEATTLE, Nov. 29 — (AP) — With flood fears lessening, tired grimy workers in storm-drenched northwest Washington turned their major attention today to mopping up operations—repairing broken dikes and cleaning silt and gravel from their homes and business establishments. Only on the lower Skagit river was there any remaining danger of flood. Even there, Army engineers told Mayor E. A. Bryant of Stanwood, the situation is under control until the next high tide at mid-day. Nevertheless, several hundred volunteers and
