

Bond To Show 2nd Batch Of Yukon Films

Explorer-Sportsman Scheduled For Return Dates in Roseburg

A sequel to the motion picture film and book, "From Out of These Mountains," the thrilling Yukon Territory tale by James H. Bond, Portland, will be seen in Roseburg Dec. 5 and 6.

Bond, a former Roseburg resident, has just returned from a second trip into Yukon Territory and has a new picture, reported to be much more thrilling than the one given its premiere in Roseburg in 1947 and returned later to entertain a second record-breaking audience.

Roseburg again will enjoy one of the first showings of Bond's new picture, "Yukon Wilderness Wonderland" when the film is shown at the junior high school auditorium under Roseburg Rod and Gun club sponsorship. Money received from admissions will be divided between the school, author and sportsmen's club.

Bond reports that he feels very grateful to Roseburg because of its reception of his first picture. Interest shown here, caused him to enter into a nationwide lecture tour, showing his film in nearly every state, while promoting sale of the book based on his experiences.

He made the first trip into the Yukon to study big game in its natural habitat, doing research into Nature's method of preserving balance between game animals and predators in an area unaffected by hunting. The region was one shunned by Indians because of a pestilence which had decimated tribes many years before. Indications were that no human being had been in the area for more than 50 years before Bond and his party entered. He was commissioned to conduct surveys for the Yukon Territory fish and game commission and also sought record trophies.

Because the party stayed too long in the region, making it impossible to bring out supplies and trophies on horseback over the thawing tundra, a boat was improvised from spruce ribs and caribou hides for a dangerous trip down rivers for more than 200 miles.

Films Gain Popularity Bond had planned to sell his films, but was prevailed upon to show them to a Roseburg audience during the Christmas holiday season, while visiting relatives here. The picture was received so enthusiastically that CARIBOU TROPHY FROM YUKON TERRITORY—Author James H. Bond, Portland, former Roseburg resident, is pictured above with a splendid rack of horns on a Great Northern Yukon caribou, taken during his exploration last summer into a wilderness area of the Yukon, near the Arctic circle. Pictures from his latest trip will be presented at the Roseburg Junior high school auditorium at 8 p. m., Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 5 and 6, under Roseburg Rod and Gun club sponsorship.

Bond decided to retain the films, did a job of re-editing and then made the show available to all Oregon sportsmen's clubs. The picture had to be repeated in nearly all of the larger towns, including Roseburg, so great was the demand. Bond then began getting calls from other states and, for more than a year, travelled over the country with his film and autographing his book.

Anticipating large audiences, the Roseburg Rod and Gun club requested Bond to permit a two-day engagement here, and the dates of Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 5 and 6, were arranged. The shows will start at 8 o'clock.

Gen. Ike Eisenhower wants a "topflight" football team at Columbia university.

The University president told the 29th varsity "C" club gathering last night: "I'd like to see Columbia athletics reach as high a level as Columbia's academics."

Urging students and alumni to get behind Coach Lou Little in rebuilding Columbia's football fortunes, the leader of 111 ed armies in World War II said there was no substitute for victory; adding:

"I like to run over the other guy just as much as he likes to run over me. Let's get out and start working our legs as well as our minds."

"Unashamedly, I say a University such as this should have a topflight football team."

Columbia lost seven of its nine games this year.

Five Roseburg Gridders Make All-Star Team

Five Roseburg football players were picked for the district's mythical "All Star" team in a recent poll by coaches of member schools in the league.

Roseburg tackle Chet Rowe and Halfback Bill Van Horn both made the first team, while End Dale Bianck and Tackle George Packard made the second team.

Fullback Bob Scott received honorable mention on the all star team.

Ron Robbins, sec. Marshfield back, was the only unanimous choice of the coaches.

Myrtle Point players received the most votes of the coaches and nine of their group were included in the all star selections. Marshfield was second highest with six representatives on the mythical super-team.

Roseburg, North Bend and Coquille each received a five men spot on the team. Reedsport, with three players receiving bids, was last in line.

The complete roster includes: ENDS—1st team: Ford Worsham, Myrtle Point; Gerald Miller, Marshfield. 2nd team: Dale Bianck, Roseburg; Buzz Oerding, Coquille. Honorable mention: Don Perkins, North Bend; Bill Cobb, Myrtle Point; Rod Mauer, Reedsport.

TACKLES—1st team: Chet Rowe, Roseburg; Frank May, Myrtle Point. 2nd team: Tony Anusich, Marshfield; Tom Patterson, North Bend. Honorable mention: Leonard Seolari, Coquille.

GUARDS—1st team: John Leeper, Myrtle Point; Keith Hillstrom, Marshfield. 2nd team: George Packard, Roseburg; Tom Keedy, North Bend. Honorable mention: Harry Kaiser, Myrtle Point; Bill Willard, Coquille.

CENTERS—1st team: Glen Zeller, Myrtle Point; 2nd team: Stan Gotschalk; Honorable mention: Bob Bouley, Reedsport.

BACKS—1st team: Ron Robbins, Marshfield; Bill Van Horn, Roseburg; Ralph Clarno, Myrtle Point; Barney Rolland, Marshfield. 2nd team: Rick Bingham, Myrtle Point; Bill Hughes, North Bend; Jack Pinion, Reedsport; Harold Reeve, North Bend. Honorable mention: Eddie Howe, Coquille; Jim Kay, Coquille; Jim Krantz, Myrtle Point; Bob Scott, Roseburg.

Final arrangements for the YMCA basketball league were made at a recent meeting headed by Roseburg YMCA secretary Marien Yoder.

Four teams will make up the league. They include Roseburg, Jaycees, First Christian church, National Guardsmen and Umpqua Plywood.

First game is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 6, at the Roseburg armory. Each team will furnish its own equipment and referees.

Yoder said two games will be played each Tuesday with the first scheduled for 7:30 p. m., and the second game at 9 p. m. According to Yoder, the schedule calls for each team playing the same opponent five times during the season. A first half and second half winner will be declared, but the primary purpose of the contests is to gain some exercise through basketball playing.

In the initial contests next Tuesday, Umpqua Plywood will meet the Roseburg National Guard, while Jaycees oppose First Christian church.

The public is invited to witness the games.

Men's Exercise Hour To Resume on Thursday

The YMCA men's exercise hour will be continued at the Senior high school starting at 5:30 p. m., Thursday.

Men interested in participating are invited to attend. They are instructed to enter through the rear door at the high school.

Marlen Yoder said a continued large turnout will call for twice weekly exercise hours in the near future.

SPORTS

Weaver, Yaqui Kid To Renew Feud Saturday Night

The champion usually has the privilege of making his own deal—and Buck Weaver, coast light-heavyweight titleholder, is certainly taking advantage of his so-called rights.

Weaver, the former University of Indiana athlete, will meet the Yaqui Kid in a return engagement at the Roseburg armory Saturday night. Weaver's ultimatum includes that he will not make a title defense and that he will be given the privilege of having a second in his corner—as the Kid does with Yaqui Joe in his corner.

Matchmaker Elton Owen predicts another large crowd and his supporting bout will add considerable interest. George Strickland, who made a big hit here recently in losing to Georges Dusette, will meet Buck Davidson, the rough and tough Texan. It will be a three-fall affair.

When Weaver and the Kid last met here, the youthful Indian from Mexico went berserk and virtually finished off Weaver. Had not Yaqui Joe pulled his protegee from atop Weaver the Kid might well have crippled the ex-collegian.

Weaver refused to return for the remainder of the match and the officials ruled that Weaver lost on a disqualification. There should be considerable interest in the entire program, but chief interest will be centered around the match between The Kid and Weaver. It should be a Donnybrook and fans are urged to make early ring-side reservations at Powell's.

Dillard

By ROSA HEINBACH Mrs. Dorothy Mayne, second grade teacher at Dillard school, went to Myrtle Point over the holidays to visit her two sons and their families on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Merce Buell of Dillard and Mrs. M. F. Rice, of Roseburg, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Busell were guests of Mrs. Carrie Rice, at her home in Myrtle Point on Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Barry Laurance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Laurance of Dillard, was home for the holidays from San Diego, Calif., where he is stationed in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fosback and son Ivan and Mrs. Fosback's father, Mr. Leonard Brooks, all of Eugene, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fosback in Dillard for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmar Nordahl of Florence, Ore., visited Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fosback and family in Dillard, on their way to Ashland to visit Mr. Nordahl's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hayden and family of Portland, arrived on Wednesday evening at the home of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Hayden, in Dillard and stayed several days spending Thanksgiving with them.

The young people of the Dillard-Winston-Tenmile area are invited to attend a skating party at the Rollett rink Friday, Dec. 2.

All are asked to meet at the Dillard church at 6:30, where the school bus will pick them up. Any parents who can drive their car and accompany them there will be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Middlestadt have moved into their beautiful new home they have been building on highway 99, in the Ford's addition. Mrs. Middlestadt and daughter Geraldine, have been visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fisher, in Eugene for several days. Mrs. Fisher returned to Dillard with them for a short visit.

The M. Y. F. (Methodist Youth Fellowship) of Dillard church held their Sunday evening meeting at the church at 5:30 with Sylvia Hill as leader. The lesson subject was "Laymen Set a Precedent."

There was a special song entitled "This Holy Hour," sung by Colleen Cole.

The young people planned a box social for members and friends on the evening of Dec. 3, at 6 p. m. at the Dillard church.

Crafts, textile painting, and wood carving, were part of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mahoney entertained on Thanksgiving day with a turkey dinner at their home in Dillard. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Calahan and daughter Patsy, from Winston; Mr. and Mrs. Henry

Wildlife To Be Guarded In Missouri Dam Plans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Some of America's duck factories in the upper Missouri river basin may be flooded by high power dam reservoirs.

But the Fish and Wildlife service here says it is looking out for the waterfowl, as well as pheasants, deer and other wildlife.

A spokesman reported the service is working with the Army engineers and the reclamation bureau to reduce damage to wildlife habitat.

Where possible, it tries to obtain new ground for waterfowl refuges inundated by reservoirs.

"The country's biggest duck factories are found in the Dakotas and Montana and we want to protect them," said Rudolph Dieffenbach, coordinator of the service's river basin studies.

Service Station Thefts Finance 2-Pair Honeymoon

SEATTLE, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Sheriff's officers told of a double honeymoon that was financed by a string of service station robberies. Both the brides were only 16 years old.

County detectives Phil Sands and Thomas Nault Jr. said the two bridegrooms—Milton Woodrow Dolan, 21, and Albert Lee Ganzans, alias Al Brown, 23, had confessed. The officers said they also had obtained statements from the juvenile brides. All are ex-Seattle.

Ganzans' bride returned to her family home here and said she would ask for an annulment. The other bride said she would stick by her husband.

The officers said the foursome went to Reno in a stolen car and were married there. They did the men told of holding up at least four California filling stations and another in Portland, changing from California to Washington license plates after each one.

Book Covers Officiating In 40 Different Sports

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 30.—Robert Antomasi, physical education instructor at Oregon State, is one of four authors of a comprehensive new book, "Sports Officiating," just off the press.

The 485-page volume, which was edited by Dr. E. D. Mitchell, head of the department of physical education at the University of Michigan, covers the officiating and administration of 40 different sports. Although primarily written for professional courses in colleges, the book should prove valuable to YMCA groups, athletic clubs and all types of recreational programs.

Oregon State Trio To Visit Roseburg Dec. 6

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 30.—Backfield Coach Bump Elliott, Alumni Manager Bob Knoll and Professor Clifford Maser will make a four-day tour of southern Oregon next week.

The trio will be in Roseburg Tuesday, December 6. An evening banquet has been scheduled for each city at which Dr. Maser, dean of the school of business and technology at Oregon State, will be the chief speaker.

Elliott also will speak at the evening meetings and show game movies of the past season. Dr. Maser and Elliott will talk to service clubs and high school groups during the day.

BUS SERVICE MAY CEASE LA GRANDE, Ore.

LA GRANDE, Ore.—(AP)—La Grande may lose its city bus service in the next two months, operator John E. Wilson, Longview, Wash., said here.

Wilson said the service, started 2 1/2 years ago, has been losing money since the first of the year. He said the number of passengers had dropped from a peak of 700 daily, set in 1947, to 200 daily. The line will close unless business picks up, he added.

Hart, Notre Dame End, Wins Nation's Top Grid Honors

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Leon Hart, Notre Dame's giant end, is leaving little room for argument that he is the outstanding college football player of the 1949 season.

The six-foot-four, 265-pound lineman, who is fast enough to double as a fullback, was an overwhelming winner today of the Heisman trophy.

The trophy is awarded yearly to the performer selected as the best player in the country by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Less than two weeks ago the Turtle Creek, Pa., lad won similar acclaim in being voted the Maxwell memorial trophy by the football club of that name in Philadelphia.

Hart is the second lineman in the 15-year history of the award to win the coveted Heisman honor. The other was Larry Kelley, Yale's first star, in 1936.

The Irish end was an overwhelming choice, being favored for the trophy in all five sections of the country.

He scored a total of 995 points compared with 272 for the runner-up, North Carolina's all-America Halfback Charlie Justice.

Doak Walker, Southern Methodist triple threat star who won the honor last year, finished third with 229 points followed by Arnold Galiffa, Army's magnificent quarterback, with 196, and Bob Williams, the Notre Dame signal caller, with 189.

Changes In Basketball Rules To Be Pictured

Latest rule changes in high school basketball will be shown in a motion picture during a basketball officials' clinic at the high school Wednesday, Dec. 14, 7:30 p. m.

A. Odan Hawes of the Oregon Schools Activities association will conduct the clinic, to which officials, prospective officials and coaches of Douglas county are invited.

At the end of the meeting, tests will be passed out to those interested in working basketball games in the county.

Moose Stops Clock

PETERSHAM, Mass.—(AP)—"Hickory, dickory, dock. The mouse ran up the clock. The clock st. . ."

And that's just what happened—or didn't happen. The big clock in the Petersham Unitarian church steeple didn't strike one. In fact, it didn't strike at all.

Janitor Kenneth Clark wondered why the clock had stopped announcing the hours, although the hands were indicating the correct time.

His inspection showed the mouse had stopped the striking mechanism. And the clock, now striking again, had stopped the mouse.

A psychology professor claims he can spot a neurotic by the things he eats, or won't eat. We can hardly stomach such a statement, but that's what the professor said. He also suggests that a man who doesn't like cabbage or fried eggs is likely to be neurotic or illiterate . . . or both. This puts all us corned beef and cabbage eaters up at the head of the class. We can understand why an illiterate might balk at alphabet soup . . . but cabbage is about as neutral as you can get. Seems like these psychologists and psychiatrists are always looking for "nuts." Maybe they're not eating enough cabbage.
