Pervert Attacks Girl After Shooting Escort

ORANGE, Tex., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Police faced a blank trail today in their hunt for the man who early yesterday raped a 16-year-old girl and critically wounded an Orange high school boxer. Sheriff Chester Holts said the man surprised two couples parked on a lonely road near here. The boys and girls could describe him only as a white man, apparently about 25 years old, and wearing khaki clothing.

Don Huisoppe, 18, was shot as he tried to protect his companions. The man threatened to kill all four, then forced the girls to tie up the boys in a water-soaked rice paddy. He led the girls away, left one tied up and leaping against a fence and then raped the 16-year-old in another muddy field.

Hospital attendants said Huisoppe was in a critical condition from exposure and a wound in the stomach.

You will need two to three tablespoons of melted butter or margarine to mix with about half a cup of fine soft bread crumbs if you want to use the buttered crumbs for a casserole topping.

Tasty Waffles Are Teen-Age Delight

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Hot waffles with gobs of butter—that's teen-age for "good time had by all." And everyone else shares their enthusiasm. Furthermore, the eggs, as well as syrup or molasses needed, are on the December plentiful list.

Waffles are easy hospitality with a nutritional wallop—prepared mixes, eggs and the dairy foods essential for young bodies, butter and milk. So for informal November get-togethers—after the basketball or football game, after the movies, anytime, bring out the waffle iron and call the neighbors in.

Waffles for the Crowd
(Makes 12 four-sectioned waffles)
Four cups pancake mix, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk, 3 egg yolks, well beaten, 2/3 cup melted butter, 3 eggs whites, beaten until stiff enough to stand in peaks.

Measure pancake mix into bowl. Stir egg yolks into milk and add to pancake mix, then add melted butter and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Fold in egg whites until completely blended. Pour from 1 to 2/3 cupful of the batter into a hot waffle iron and cook until steaming ceases. Amount used depends on size of the iron—the square ones take more batter than most of the round ones. Note: For smaller quantity divide the recipe in half using 2 small eggs.

Use two waffle irons for a crowd. (If necessary, borrow the extra one.)

A popular waffle bar in an eastern university town reports young patrons favor waffles served with 1, orange butter, 2, honey butter, 3, butter and coarsely chopped pecans or walnuts, 4, butter, honey or syrup, 5, butter, cinnamon and sugar, 6, butter and crisp bacon.

Orange Butter
One-half cup melted butter, 1 cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.
Honey Butter
One-half cup melted butter, 1 cup warmed honey, 1/8 teaspoon ground allspice.
Bacon Butter
Beat all together until blended.

One good way to help keep your kitchen counters clean and tidy when you are preparing a meal is to have a small tray handy on which you can put your spoons, two-tined fork, and so handy on which you can put your stirring spoon, measuring spoons, two-tined fork, and so forth.

Boyle Wants SPPBCC (Society To Prevent The Presentation Of Neckties As Christmas Gifts)

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK.—(AP)—There ought to be a society to prevent the presentation of neckties as Christmas gifts.

But there isn't. So again this year some 50,000,000 or more writhing American males will be showered with an unwelcome addition of toll mufflers.

Women insist on giving men ties, and they pick them on one of two principles:

1. As if they were buying draperies, or

2. As if they were selecting a lining for their husband's coffin.

What can be done about this annual misery?

Well, the cowardly way out is to go ahead and wear the ties, slinking about like a self-conscious version of a marriage between a rainbow and the north-e-n lights.

But there are bolder ways out for men who still pride themselves on rugged individualism. A simple exit for the problem is merely to stuff the ties down the nearest incinerator. Or bribe the janitor to take them.

These techniques, however, show little imagination. A little survey I made disclosed several more original methods of dealing with this plague.

"I am saving mine up until I have enough to hang Santa Claus," one angry gentleman reported.

Another man said he had not found it easy to cure his wife of giving him neckties.

"I just started wearing them with my tuxedo," he said. "She didn't talk to me for a week (is that bad?) but she hasn't given me a tie since."

A bachelor of my acquaintance, on the other hand, stoutly insists he wouldn't give up the pleasure of Christmas neckties for anything.

"I used the drab ones to line my closets," he said, "and I framed the bright ones and hang them up as pictures. You should see them—nudes, landscapes, hunting scenes. You have no idea what fine art is put on those ties."

Another fellow weaves them into skipping ropes for his daughters. One father I know saves the cheaper ties and uses them to dye eggs for his kids at Easter.

"I got so tired of seeing those flickering 'tween herringbone lines on my set I hang Christmas ties in front of my TV screen just to change the pattern."

An old friend said that for years he had found the most satisfactory system for getting rid of unwanted ties was to leave them with the neighborhood fish market.

"Then my wife can come home with a flounder wrapped in a tie she had given me the week before," he lamented. "I don't know what to do this year."

With me it is no trouble at all any more. For a long time I had difficulty in jettisoning old razor blades. Then I lit on the happy idea of simply dropping them in an envelope and addressing it to the company that made them. This worked fine—sometimes I even got a new blade back.

But now, whenever anyone gives me a Christmas necktie, I kill two birds with one stone. I simply send him a used razor blade by return mail—with a suggestion that he may find it of some use.

And whether he cuts his throat with it or not—well, at least he won't send me any more Christmas neckties.

MEMORIAL TO GIB

TEWKESBURY, England.—(AP)—The ancient town of Tewkesbury, on Shakespeare's Avon, plans half a mile of riverside gardens to be dedicated to the United States.

The project is "in gratitude for the great generosity of the American nation and in remembrance of all those virile men and women who passed through the town to the beaches of France."

The site, selected by a town meeting, will be cleared by townspeople in their spare time. Most of the land and buildings have been donated by the owners. The memorial will be dedicated in 1951.

Huge Uranium Fire Still Burning in East Germany

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(AP)—An east zone uranium fire which reportedly killed hundreds of miners was still burning this week, the British licensed newspaper Telegraph said today.

Telegraf said it got its information from an east zone miner who had fled Johannegeestadt last Thursday. It declined to identify him, but said he was present when a fire broke out 10 days ago in mine No. 35, near Johannegeestadt.

According to the miner's account, Russian and German officials are continuing wholesale arrests in the area in a effort to prove the fire was caused by sabotage.

Telegraf reported that a worn mine cable caused a short circuit which set the workings afire. Flames spread to two other mines, and an explosives dump blew up, according to the account.
