

Building Group Is Elected By The Legion Post

Ballots for the election of a building committee of the American Legion were opened Tuesday night. The following legionnaires were elected:

At Bashiord, S. D. Dillard, H. C. Pargeter, Bruce Mellis, George Caskey, Kenneth Atterbury, Eugene Springer, Gordon Stewart, James Judd and Cliff Thornton.

With these ten men leading the move, the legionnaires believe something will be accomplished towards construction of a new Legion home, said Commander William "Dutch" Mills.

A meeting of the committee is called for next Tuesday evening, when officers within the group will be elected.

Dec. 20 is the date of the Legion's annual Christmas party, which will be held at the armory, starting at 8 p.m. A program is being worked out, with Mayor Albert G. Flegel as emcee. All Legion members and their families are invited. Santa Claus will be there with candy and popcorn for the kiddies. Each member is urged to bring some gift for the welfare baskets.

Japanese Still Hated By People Of Philippines

mation of the southeast Asia prosperity sphere under the late Premier Hideki Tojo.

Filipinos persistently ask why the United States has taken a "soft" attitude toward Japan.

U. S. "Mistake" Seen

Many of them say the United States is making a big mistake in trying to democratize Japan and Germany—people with an ingrained subservience to the military.

They strongly criticize the spending of large sums of American money to restore the economy of a trade rival and the waiving or reduction of reparations for damage caused by the former enemy.

In both cases, Filipinos theorize that the United States is motivated by a desire to erect a bulwark against the spread of Communism. But they quickly point to the rise of Germany under Hitler after democratization efforts following World War I.

Filipinos say they have no faith in Japan's constitutional disarmament. They express fear that of President Roosevelt, Hopkins went to Russia to consult with the Soviets on their needs to hold their front against the Germans.

Major Jordan's wartime job was to aid in lend-lease movement of planes to Russia. Great Falls was a main basing point on the air route to Russia via Alaska.

He has told of the Russians taking out suitcase after suitcase of atomic materials. He said some of the documents were State department papers.

No Exports Licensed

At a news conference today, Secretary of State Acheson said the State department licensed no exports of atomic materials to Russia without prior approval from the Manhattan project (the wartime name for the atomic bomb project). Acheson also said he knew of no state department documents going to the Russians.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa) asked Groves about Hopkins.

Groves said that no one at the White House ever tried to get maps from him "that I was aware of," and he added that he doubted "very seriously" if it was ever done.

He commented that it was very easy to get maps of Oak Ridge if they did not contain details essential to security.

Groves said that he had never had any contact with Harry Hopkins. He went on emphatically:

"I do know, of course, Mr. Hopkins knew about this project. But as for any dealings with me or with my subordinates, they never occurred."

Groves said it was impossible for information to have reached Hopkins from Groves' subordinates without Groves knowing about it.

Then he added:

"I could have gotten it from one of those scientists who as you know, were giving information to Russia."

Groves did not say who he meant by the reference to scientists.

Wallace's Name Brought In

The name of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, as well as that of Hopkins, has come into the inquiry. Fulton Lewis Jr., the radio commentator, said Wallace had used his influence to get atomic materials for the Russians.

Wallace has denied that and asked the House committee to hear him.

Lewis said Monday night on the radio that Wallace overruled Groves and was the power behind the scenes who got uranium shipments for Russia. President Truman fired Wallace out of the cabinet in 1946 in a disagreement over this country's policy toward the Soviet union.

Wallace called the Lewis statement "sheerest fabrication" and said it was "part of his unremitting effort to tarnish the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Lewis retorted last night that Roosevelt's name hadn't come up until Wallace mentioned it "as a shield for himself."

Yukon Film May Show Third Time

James Bond's motion picture, "Yukon Wilderness Wonder Land" was shown at the Roseburg Junior High school auditorium Tuesday night, drawing an overflow crowd for the second night. The two-day engagement in Roseburg produced the largest audience Bond has enjoyed to date with his new picture. Many people were turned away both Monday and Tuesday nights, due to limited seating capacity of the auditorium.

Because so many people were unable to see the film, another show may be arranged during the Christmas holidays when Bond will be here from Portland with his family to spend Christmas at the home of his brother, Theo Bond.

In addition to the show at the auditorium last night, Bond took his pictures Tuesday afternoon to the Roseburg Veterans hospital where the films were shown to patients.

Trout Liberation Tanks Now Under Construction

Three new large trout liberation tanks and five small auxiliary trout liberation tanks are now being constructed by the Oregon State Game commission. With the increased capacity of the Game commission's trout hatcheries and the planned increase in trout numbers to be raised this year, additional equipment is needed to transport these trout to the lakes and streams of the state.

The three large tanks being constructed are fully insulated with cork to maintain low water temperatures and are also equipped with aeration systems consisting of centrifugal pumps driven by power take-off equipment. This makes it possible to transport trout for maximum distances without injury to the fish. The tanks are similar in design to those now in use and have a capacity, on an average run, of from three-hundred and fifty to four-hundred pounds of trout. The number carried varies with the distance the fish are to be transported and with the size of the fish.

The five small tanks to be constructed are designed, so that they may be easily mounted on small trucks or large pickup trucks. The tanks will be stationed at some of the hatcheries and will be used primarily for the liberation of fry and for the supplying of trout to pack strings.

"Easy Money" Policy Blocks Investments

such a shortage, he said, then it is the result of "the lack of incentives for investments in common stocks on the part of the general public."

Lincoln said the insurance companies can't be blamed for the "easy money" policy.

"It is the interplay of many factors which determines interest rates," he added.

As a matter of fact, Lincoln said, the life insurance companies get only a small part of the taxpayer's income after taxes. He figured they got 4.1 percent of the total in 1929 but in 1948 the total had dropped to 3.5 percent.

Stable Policy Needed

O'Mahoney said there is a great need to stabilize conditions for those who put money in new businesses. "We want a tax policy," he said, "that will preserve the open door to new enterprise."

A small business advisory committee recommended yesterday that Congress set up a government-directed plan to insure private bank loans to small business.

The committee said such an insurance plan could be financed by a one and one-half percent insurance premium on all loans. The members said banks would then be in a position to make loans which they cannot afford to make now.

They argued such a plan would open the way for small business to get much-needed capital—and there would be no risk for the banks or for the government. They said the insurance premium would cover losses. It would be patterned after the FHA title one loan insurance for housing.

The committee also urged that Congress revise the tax laws to permit businessmen to fix their

Three-Year Battle For Child's Life May Be Won

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(AP)—After three years of struggle to keep their baby daughter alive, a ray of hope dawned today for the parents of four-year-old Patty Owen.

Patty came back to Chicago yesterday suffering from a lung disease which threatens to block her air tubes—so much so that she must wear an oxygen mask almost constantly. She was whisked immediately to Illinois Research hospital.

There Dr. Henry C. Poncher, head of the pediatrics department, said he thinks "there is a lot we can do for her—she is not a hopeless case."

"The next 48 hours will be critical, but if she survives them she may be all right."

years at the city infirmary, to patrol the city's outskirts.

Gillis got his nickname "Bossy" when he threatened to have cows feed on the city hall lawn because he couldn't get an appropriation for a new grass cutter.

Wife-Real Boss

The fiery mayor-elect said today it was too early to tell yet exactly what changes will take place during his two-year term—"except the highway department is going to get quite a shellacking."

"They got equipment enough down in the city yards," he said, "to start a huge contracting firm."

And just as Gillis was getting warmed up about what he'll do next year, he broke off to say over the telephone:

"My wife, Louise, just pinched another powerful Japan will arise because of the nation's habit of obedience to a dictatorial power.

Nor do they like the idea of Japan becoming the workshop of Asia.

Filipinos want economic self-sufficiency. They say Japanese political power surely would follow trade supremacy in Asia.

For such reasons, Filipinos do not reconcile themselves to waiving reparations for the damage they still see about them daily—damage started Dec. 8, 1941, when Japanese planes began dropping bombs here shortly after Pearl Harbor.
