Senator Morse In Mexico Sizing Up Oil Situation

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Senator Wayne L. Morse (R-Ore) here on a personal jaunt, has been busy looking over Mexican oil properties and their role in United States and Mexican relations.

The Oregon congressman said he "hoped to get a little rest and some personal information on two subjects—foot and mouth disease and Mexican Oil development."

He was scheduled to meet with President Aleman today, talk again with Gen Harry H. Johnson, head of the U. S. section helping Mexico fight the cattle disease, and visit the Poza Rica oil fields.

Sen. Morse noted yesterday that Mexico has asked a $400,000,000 loan from the United States to develop oil lands. He praised what he saw of Mexican government oil developments under the Latin American nation's national monopoly Pemex bureau. This followed visits to oil fields and refineries.

The U. S. senator said yesterday he believes the Americas are a bulwark against Red domination.

He said: "I think we must recognize that Canada, the United States, Mexico and the Latin American countries to the south constitute a strong chain in defense of freedom against the threat of totalitarianism as we see it rearing its head in Asia."

"I believe that the future security of the United States depends on cooperation with these countries in a program of mutual aid and understanding."

Rape Slayer Weeps After His Conviction

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Harvey L. Carignan, 22, sobbed in his cell last night, guards said, after he was convicted of what the prosecution termed "the most brutal crime ever committed in this court district."

A federal court jury found the Fort Richardson soldier guilty of the rape slaying of Mrs. Laura Showalter last July 31. The middle-aged victim was the mother of Mrs. Willard Boatwright of Port Orchard, Wash.

Although he wept later, Carignan showed no emotion when the verdict was read, despite the jury's stipulation that he should die by hanging.

Under Alaska law, at least five days must elapse before sentencing.

The soldier, who spent much of his youth in a North Dakota reform school, also awaits sentencing on a previous conviction of assault with intent to rape another Anchorage woman.
