4-Year College Test Finished In Thirty Hours

CHICAGO — (AP) — J. Edward Nelson, 17, has just whizzed through four years of college in 30 hours.

"It's always been theoretically possible," amazed officials of the college of the University of Chicago said.

Edward is the first student to demonstrate by 14 placement tests that he possesses the equivalent of a general education. So instead of working on credits for a bachelor's degree, he will begin immediately to work on his master's degree in mathematics.

The tests, introduced at the college in 1942, recognize a student for what he knows and not for the number of courses he has taken. All students are given the tests during a five-day period to determine their academic standing.

Edward, son of a Y. M. C. A. secretary in Rome, Italy, attended the Bronx high school of science in New York city and completed his junior and senior years at the Instituto Giovanni Verga when his family moved to Rome. He brushed aside suggestions

"It's all what you learn and where you learn it," he said. "I firmly believe, however, that teaching methods and courses are more comprehensive in European schools."

In Rome he attended school about four hours a day but always spent at least another three hours on his homework, Nelson told newsmen.

Burglary Suspect Held After "Haphazard" Job

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 — (AP) — William B. (Hap) Hazzard was in jail today on suspicion of burglary.

Police accused him of entering a cocktail lounge after hours via a skylight, drinking three bottles of beer, wrestling an hour with the cash register trying to open it.

same, drinking three more bottles of beer, finally lugging cash register outside and hiding it.

During all this he failed to notice he had dropped his wallet, with his identification, officers said.

A haphazard job, they called it.
