

Cotton Bowl Tilt To Feature Most 'All' Footballers

DALLAS, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Cotton Bowl won't have teams with the best season records among the major bowl games Jan. 2 but it can boast the most All-Americans.

In fact, it will have as many as the other bowl games combined.

There will be two fellows of the mythical team variety playing against each other here when Rice tangles with North Carolina.

The big man of the Owls (not in size but in ability) is James (Froggy) Williams, that talented pass-catcher, defensive tower and adept place-kicker.

The headliner of North Carolina will be Charlie Justice, a fellow who has been in the public eye for four years, two of which he has been All-American.

All other bowl games combined have two All-Americans.

California, which plays Ohio State in the run for the roses at Pasadena (the Rose Bowl), boasts Rod Franz, All-American guard.

Oklahoma, which plays Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, has Wade Walker, All-American tackle.

The Cotton Bowl game definitely will be the last for both Williams and Justice. Each has declared he will not enter pro football.

Williams says he isn't big enough (185). Justice is a little fellow, too. He weighs just 167.

Prep Gridder Scores 257 Points During One Season

RISING STAR, Tex.—(AP)—Buck Gibson knows a thing or two about running with a football. He scored 257 points during the season.

But the amazing thing about the Rising Star High school flash is that he averaged more than 17 yards every time he carried the ball.

Gibson sparked Rising Star to an undefeated, untied season. In fact, the team has a consecutive winning streak of 29 games which started in October of 1947.

It is pointed out that Gibson doesn't do anything except run—no passing or punting or anything else. But, it also is pointed out that the college coaches want Gibson.

About 90 percent of its asbestos is imported from Canada by the United States.

Weekly Armory Wrestling Show Set For Friday Night

Douglas county sports followers are requested to make two important notations regarding the weekly wrestling show at the Roseburg Armory this week.

The six-man, four-star "Battle Royal," featuring the show, will be staged Friday instead of Saturday.

Admission price for women and children, exclusive of the ringside seats, will be either home or manufactured canned goods, which will in turn be given to the Salvation Army to be used in filling Christmas baskets.

Matchmaker Elton Owen has collected a sparkling galaxy of stars to compete in the six-man free-for-all. There will be a $200 purse for the winner and every wrestler eliminated will return for additional matches.

The first eliminated will return for one-half engagements, with the two finalists meeting in a title tilt over a three-fall, 30-minute route.

Principals include Buck Weaver, talented Indiana grappler who recently lost his coast light-heavyweight championship in a recent skirmish against Jack O'Reilly at Pendleton. Others will be Paavo Katonen, the rugged Finn; Mike Nazarian, the villainous Armenian who hasn't been here for a year; Jack Kiser, popular Portlander; Leo Wallick, the rugged matman from Denver, and Gordon Hessel, the New Mexico stylist who beat Lee Grable here last week.

Battle Royals are the last word in colorful and dynamic wrestling action. The six wrestlers and

Bowling Scores

Medical Arts laboratory of the Women's bowling league won the first half championship after a three-game win over Roy O. Young team last night at the bowling alley.

With 34 wins and 11 losses, the Medical Arts ladies are well ahead of Scherner Squirts, second place winners with 25 wins, and Shamilar Room ladies, with 22 wins.

Medical Arts bowlers will meet the second half winners to decide the lady's league champion. Second half bowling for the ladies starts after the holiday season.

Hoosiers Defeat OSC, 58-53; Stanford Tips Ducks, 70-67

By The Associated Press
It might be something better left unsaid, but the northwest's big five—members of the northern division Pacific Coast conference—aren't doing so well this year when it comes to inter-sectional basketball competition.

Take last night for example. Of four teams in action, only one squeaked through to a win. Idaho eked out a narrow 41-39 win over Iowa State back in the mid-west. But Washington, Oregon and Oregon State all bowed on their home courts.

Washington fell fighting before Minnesota 55-53. O S C lost its second in a row to Indiana 58-53 and Oregon was nipped by Stanford 70-67.

In addition to wiping out the division's last undefeated team—Washington had six in a row until last night—the evening's activity brought the circuit's inter-sectional record to a lowly five wins in 17 games.
