for an 80-day strike-halting injunction—toward that end.

Morse Cites Distinction

But Morse said his opinion as a lawyer is that the President's national emergency powers under the T-H act can be used only in cases where there is an actual critical strike—or the threat of such a strike.

"There is a great difference," Morse told newsmen, "between a dispute which causes economic losses and suffering and one which imperils national health or safety.

"A coal dispute could very well reach the latter proportions, but obviously the present one has not done so to date, nor is there any likelihood it will if the threeday week is continued."

Wherry Raps Truman

Morse, who wants the TaftHartley law repealed, thus took sharp issue with Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader. Two days ago Wherry said there was "deplorable evidence of negligence in the fact Mr. Truman has not used the Tatt-Hartley act to restore full time production of coal.

Wherry also accused Mr. Truman of failing to enforce the TH law because he doesn't like the measure and wants it wiped off the books.

The President has said he will use the law if a national emergency develops. But he has expressed no opinion as to whether he would have the legal right to invoke the law under the present circumstances—when Lewis could argue in court that production limitation is no strike.

Connally took note of criticism by Senate Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska and other Republicans on handling of the bi-partisan foreign policy.
