Hotel Manager Shot During Employees' Party

POCATELLO, Idaho, Dec. 30. (AP)—William W. Shields, manager of the Bannock hotel, was seriously wounded Wednesday night when he was shot during an employees' party at the hotel.

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was filed against Henry N. Cook by detective Guy Nelson. Shields suffered a groin wound.

Employees at the party said the shooting occurred after Shields took into another room a man who had created a disturbance at the party.

A special preview of tomorrow's East-West football game, slated to follow immediately the Blue-Gray game scheduled at 11:30 a. m., will be heard tonight, featuring Mel Venter, coaches and outstanding players from both teams (11:11:30 p. m.).

SATURDAY: The annual Blue-Gray football contest will be described exclusively over the Mutual-Don Lee network tomorrow, 11:30 a. m., PST, to conclusion. This year's game will be played at Cramton bowl, Montgomery, Ala., and feature Harry Wismer and Jim Britt. Immediately following the conclusion of the Blue-Gray game, the 25th annual clash between all-star East and West football teams, a game played for the benefit of the San Francisco Shrine hospital for children, will be aired. The play-by-play broadcast will originate directly from Kezar stadium, San Francisco, and feature Mel Venter and Ernie Smith, Governor Earl Warren and Harold Lloyd, Imperial potentate of the Shrine, will be heard at the half-time intermission of the East-West game.

"Comedy Playhouse," Saturday, December 31, (7-8 p. m., PST), offers the amusing complications that ensue when a landlady rents the same room to both a day and a night worker. "Box and Cox" is the title of the story and was authored by J. M. Morton. The Gold Coast Players will be featured with Jack LaFrandre, writer-director, as host. "Meet the Press," Saturday, December 31 (8:30-9:00 p. m., PST)—Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin will be interviewed by Joseph A. Loftis of the New York Times; May Craig of the Portland (Maine) Press Herald; Blair Moody of the Detroit Times, and Windsor Booth of Time magazine. Lawrence Spivak, editor of American Mercury magazine, will moderate the session.
