HOME EXTENSION UNIT TO MEET ON THURSDAY

Extension Unit will meet Thursday, Jan. 12, at one-thirty o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. L. Weaver at Canyonville. The topic will be "Landscaping." All women of Days Creek and Canyonville are invited to attend.

HIGH WATER calls for high water tactics, and Louise Steffenson, left, and Dorothy Hunter don't seem to mind the impromptu wading act they had to go through before reaching their homes. Inadequate drainage, coupled with rain and melting snow off Mt. Nebo, raised several such lakes in Coates addition. Although minor in comparison to floods in past, even the damage pictured above will not be repeated when the City of Roseburg installs sewers for which recently-annexed West Roseburg citizens have asked. "Tick's" Tips On Veterans Hospital

By L. J. "TICK" MALARKEY

Sunday after Sunday comes Miss Helen Goode, volunteer organist, to play at two chapel services conducted by Dr. Roach, assistant chaplain, and A. S. Feller, chaplain attached to the hospital. Fair weather or foul seems of no concern to this musician who is a teacher of both Latin and Spanish at Roseburg high school.

A graduate of the University of Kansas she left her home town at Lawrence, Kan., and first taught at Grants Pass.

This past Sunday, Chaplain Feller's congregation in the Recreation hall heard two solos sung by a talented vocalist, who is a patient. Miss Goode accompanied.

Hymns sung were: "Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

Charles Tyer, assistant butcher to Gus Spakousky, has returned to duty after an illness of two weeks from an infection caused by poison oak. Confined to his home from the same thing is Angel Greenley night cook. "Sallor" Greenley became ill several days ago.

Sitting down to holiday dinners for the first time together since 1937 were the three Joyce sisters: "Peggy", Winifred and Marie. Here from Santa Barbara for a vacation the "native California daughters" are delighted with the snow.

Jovial Joe Betley, canteen manager, is back from a brief holiday trip to California from where he brought to Roseburg, wife Helen and daughter, Christine, to make their home in the Valley of The Umpquas. Behind the coffee bar, flanked by the "Sweet Petunias"—Betty and "Jolly Joanne" he had this to say, and we quote:

"We are fit for '50 and a happy, happy New Year and a word of thanks to the wonderful business everyone gave our store in their shopping for Christmas."

Now look what we have for 1950, brand new ideas: nurses' watches—for the first time in this store, marvelous luggage, soaps, cosmetics and powders. The best in stationery.

Hey, won't you have a cup of brew; why, even one of yesterday's donuts. I'm not advertising."

Your reporter was half way out of the door but "Jovial Joe" could be heard to the Administration Building.

Comes word from the Veteran's Hospital Camp Shows that units will be coming this way once more after a lapse since early November. The "Continental Review" is the next to arrive at this Station. The night of Jan. 31 is the date.

"Dere" Mahli's MacRae's patient orchestra, The Down Beaters, is to spark a musical hour once a month. They will be re-

Mean Thief Takes Special Bike Of Polio Victim

DETROIT, Jan. 11. — (AP) — Shyly, six-year-old Jo Ann Vandenberg looks up at visitors.

"My bicycle's gone," she confides sorrowfully. That, of course, is a tragedy in the life of any youngster. But for Jo Ann, the loss is doubly hard. Jo Ann's bike was specially fitted. She's a victim of infantile paralysis and the bike was used to restore strength to her legs.

Jo Ann would get on the bike and pedal away. It had two small wheels at the rear to help her balance. Her father, Fred Vandenberg, a mechanic, worked three days fitting the attachment.

Since using it, her mother says, Jo Ann has improved steadily. The bike helped give her strength to stand up without support.

But when Mrs. Vandenberg went to get the bike Monday, it was gone from the family garage. Only a few attachments remained.

Ann wept when told of the theft.

"Mommie, I wonder who would do a thing like that," she said. "Everyone knows I need that bike."

Money Awarded In Two Actions

B. A. Martin, plaintiff, was awarded $795 in a judgment decree filed in circuit court against Fred Lockyear. A jury consisting of nine women and three men, headed by foreman Doris Garrett, decided in favor of the plaintiff.

The suit arose in connection with the alleged rental of a surveying instrument by the plaintiff, which, according to the complaint, became broken while in the care of the defendant. The plaintiff demanded judgment for $800.

In another judgment decree, Tire Service Co. was awarded $252.40 together with interest and costs, from LaVon Bell. The Edenbower Community club will meet Friday night, Jan. 13, at eight o'clock at the Edenbower school. Mrs. Niday's third grade Bluebird group of Riverside school will present the program and serve refreshments.

SURROUNDED BY WATER, occupants of this Cloverdale Addition house could only hope surface water and melted snow from nearby hills would not enter their home Tuesday. It didn't, but to insure that there will be no repeat of the flash flood which sent water cascading over banks and through lawns, builders of Cloverdale plan installation of additional drains and will take steps to repair flood damage to nine homes in the district. court ordered that attached property of the defendant, valued at $252.43, be ordered paid into the court and applied to the judgment award.

The State of Oregon launched its case against W. W. Wiser this morning. Wiser, 33, of Yoncalla, is charged by the state in a grand jury indictment with the theft of four truck tires, while acting with Richard Backus.

Backus was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary for his part in the alleged theft.

LAWN MOWER DOOMED?

PORTLAND, Jan. 11. — (AP) — Maybe you can banish the lawn mower some day. Virgil Freed, Oregon State college agronomist, said he has experimented with a new growth control chemical called IPC on his lawn. The result was a stunted but uniform height grass that stayed green.

Freed told the Oregon Seed Growers league that it may be a few years, however, before the method is perfected so that home owners can swap their mowers for a spray tank.
