

Supper Follows Contest At Green

A hard time potluck supper Friday at 6 p.m. in the old Green school will be given the winning "army" command by "General" Harry Wilson, according to "Admiral" Fred Winters of the losing "navy."

The supper is the outcome of school-attendance contest held recently by the Green Community Sunday school.

Those attending are asked to bring table service, in addition to house cleaning equipment for the "clean-up party" which will follow the supper. Members of the non-denominational church group will prepare for the coming evangelistic campaign which will begin Sunday morning, Jan. 15.

Featured during the campaign will be Tom Fair, singing cow-bow evangelist. He will be assisted by his wife, who will play the piano, solovox and accordion, and by Paul Coulombe, gospel singer and youth counselor.

The special meeting, to be held 7:30 p.m. nightly except Saturday, will continue through Jan. 27. The public is invited to attend the services, held in the old Green school.

hauled them to the police station, where they joined four others already behind bars.

But only two of the six jailed men—cab driver Richard S. Chamberlain, 22, and Robert Andross, 24—were identified by two victims as participants in the holdup.

What the police still were trying to discover today was the location of the missing $30,000 and how many people actually figured in the holdup.

In the robbery itself, the gunmen maneuvered with complete non-chalance as they lined up 10 customers and employees.

Shelton was pinned in his car, and some difficulty was experienced in releasing him.

Meat from the truck was strewn over the road. Considerable time was required to remove the truck and clear the highway sufficiently to permit traffic to proceed. Cars were lined up for three or more miles ducers sell at a lower price here than they are receiving here."

Both Sides In Dispute Over Milk Prices Here

The producers, represented by Daniel J. Dimmick, Roseburg attorney, claimed Southern Oregon farmers selling in Eugene were doing so at a loss, because of high production costs facing all dairy farmers and because of the added transportation charges.

Stressing the local problem, Dimmick said the $5.50 per cwt. for milk set by the Milk Marketing administration was "unrealistic" because of local production costs and that the "forcing" producers out of business.

"The tendency on the part of distributors," he said, "is to interpret this minimum as the absolute maximum which they will pay the farmer. Instead, the minimum paid producers should be $6 per cwt., and this is suggested only after careful study of the problems of meeting costs of production."

Much of the day's proceedings was taken up by introduction of statistical evidence purporting to show costs of production for both the distributors and the farmers' group. Griggs urged both sides to provide what he termed a "statistical background" for the dispute so that all the facts would be found in the testimony.

Ulysses Y. Ash, Native Of Riddle, Passes Away

tioned "high" milk price in Roseburg may be in the offing was expressed near the end of the meeting by Mrs. Charles Ford of Eugene, representing a state-wide consumers group.

The question she put to Carl Binder of Elkton, president of the Umpqua Valley Milk Producers association, was:

"If the distributor is willing to drop his price of milk to the consumer, will the producers continue to ask $6 per cwt. for milk?"

Binder replied that farmers would continue to ask for this amount, referring to the cost of production by saying, "We must have this amount or go out of business."

Mrs. Ford, who said she represented three local persons, declared plans are being made to organize a Roseburg consumers group to inquire into any price increase for basic food commodities. She said a further interest prompting her to attend the Roseburg milk hearing is that "what happens in Roseburg may soon happen in Eugene."

Truman Housing Plan Faces Its First Test

make preliminary advances or funds to housing cooperatives and non-profit housing corporations to assist in formulation of projects.

A revolving fund of $25,000,000 would be set up for the purpose.

2. Establish under the supervision of the housing and home finance administrator a mixed-ownership corporation known as the National Mortgage corporation for housing cooperatives.

The corporation would be authorized to make long-term mortgage loans at low interest rates to housing cooperatives. The initial funds would be supplied by government subscription to preferred stock up to $100,000,000. This eventually would be replaced by private capital.

The corporation also would be authorized to obtain additional private capital by selling its debentures, guaranteed by the government, in private investment markets.

It could have outstanding on and after July 1, 1950, debentures totaling up to $300,000,000. With the approval of the president this amount could be increased at any time on or after July 1, 1951, by additional amounts aggregating not more than $1,700,000,000.

Maturities Up To 50 Years

The corporation would be authorized to make mortgage loans at maturities up to 50 years, the interest rates to reflect the cost of the money obtained by the corporation and administrative expenses and necessary reserves.

Maybank said this currently would mean "an effective interest rate of about three per cent."

Maybank yesterday introduced supplemental legislation designed to speed up construction of rental

Liquor Ad Ban Vote To Be Asked

SALEM, Jan. 12. — (AP) — An initiative petition to make it unlawful to promote sale of liquor by advertising was filed with the State department yesterday.

If 25,482 signatures are obtained by July 6, it will be on the November election ballot.

Sponsors of the measure are Mrs. Ruth Tooze, Portland, president of the Oregon Women's Christian Temperance union; Roy M. Lockenour, Salem, chairman of the Oregon Council of Churches; Gervais Carey, Dundee; Harry L. Dillin, McMinnville, and Morgan S. Odell, Edward Clark and E. R. Abbett, all of Portland.

An attempt to get a similar measure on the 1948 general election ballot failed for lack of enough signatures.

Under the measure, a liquor advertisement could contain only the name of the producer or dispenser, name of the product, the price, and where it is sold. It would apply to all alcoholic beverages.

Radio advertising would be unlawful, and it would be illegal to solicit orders through newspapers or periodicals.

h-mes for the middle income group.

It would provide more liberal government mortgage insurance terms under the federal housing administration.

It also would authorize that agency to insure an additional $1,250,000,000 worth of home mortgages when congress approves the bill, and another $1,500,000,000 worth when signed by the president if he wanted to make it available.
