Marlow Believes Russians Plot For High U. S. Spending

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The cold war with communism is costing you plenty.

If it weren't for that, this country's spending and your taxes—to cover the spending—would be away down.

That's the one point which stands out above all others in the budget President Truman sent Congress this week.

The cost of the cold war, big as it is, is cheaper, of course, than a shooting war. That would cost far more, plus blood.

There's no certainty — only hope—that the cost of the cold war will decrease.

It's the cold war mainly that's keeping the U. S. in the red. It's spending more than its income, more than it collects in taxes.

Debt Expected

Because of this—more expense than income—Mr. Truman figures this year and next will put on another $11 billion in debt.

It's nice to believe, or hope, that as Europe gets back on its feet, we'll be able to cut down the billions we're pouring into the Marshall plan.

But by the time the Marshall plan is supposed to end, new crises may arise, requiring more billions in Europe or elsewhere.

As for cutting down on national defense—which is to keep us ready if we have to go to war or discourage the Russians from making war—that depends:

It depends on whether, for instance, the Russians somehow suddenly and unexpectedly become nice little boys.

They show no signs of folding up, particularly now that they can use the atom.

An communism shows no signs of ceasing its endless pushing. Stopped in Europe, at least temporarily, it found a soft touch in China and pushed there. It will push where it can.

ut yourself in the positions of the Russians for a moment. Suppose you were they. You see the U. S., your only great opponent, rich and well able to make terrible war—right now.

You're not ready for a great war—at least, not yet. In time, maybe, you will be. Since right now you can't fight a shooting war with the U. S., you want to weaken it as much as you can.

How do you do it, short of shooting? One nice way is to keep the U. S. jittery, ever on the alert.

Keeps U. S. Spendin

In this way you keep the U. S. spending billions on defense or foreign aid, running into debt year after year, sapping the solid foundations of the economy.

In this way you force—through this arms and aid spending — the U. S. to operate on a false economy. If the U. S. can't keep this up endlessly, some day it may crash, economically.

If that happess, there'll be a world depression, you figure. And the U. S. won't be able to help its allies, economically.

That will make them a softer touch for an overthrow by the Communists inside or outside those countries.

Well, how do you keep the U. S. spending those cold war billions, running up debt, living beyond its means? If you were a Russian, you might figure it this way:

Be ugly, be aggressive, push where you can, spread communism where you can, short of shooting till you are ready.

In short, keep the U. S. spending its head off.

CZECH JEWS EMIGRATE

PRAGUE—(AP)—Between 22,000 and 24,000 Czech Jews have emigrated from this country since May, 1948, Jewish sources here reported recently. About 17,000 remain. Only three or four thousand have gone to countries other than Israel.

Jobless Pay Board Asks More Funds To Meet Claims

SALEM—(AP)—The State Unemployment Compensation commission wants authority to spend $15,700,000 more during the first half of this year to pay jobless pay claims.

The request will be considered by the State Emergency board next Friday.

The commission's budget for the current fiscal year, which ends next July 1, is $11,300,000. But heavy unemployment already has forced the commission to pay out $10,600,000 during the first half of the fiscal year.

The commission has plenty of money in its trust fund. But it needs emtrgency board approval before it can spend more than its budget.

The State Welfare commission will ask the emergency board for permission to spend $2,267,000 which the commission had left over from the past biennium. The commission said it needs to spend that money because its current $55,000,000 two-year budget will be too small.

Jealous Sailor Hurls Bomb Into Bar, Wrecks Place

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 12—(AP)—An apparently jealous sailor, police said, threw a bomb into a bar and cafe here early Wednesday. It wrecked the place but no one was injured.

Franklin Bolan, 20, of the U.S. Destroyer Buck, was booked on a charge of suspicion of malicious use of explosives. He denied throwing the bomb, which the fire marshal said was probably a small type used by the Navy in underwater demolition.

It fell behind the bar and bounced into a bucket of water, as it exploded.

Five persons were in the cafe.

Police said Harold Keller told them the young sailor wanted a woman to leave with him. He was quoted by Keller: "If you don't get that girl out of here I'll come back and blow the joint up."

He came back, Keller's report to police added, and shouted: "Here's something for you"—then threw the bomb.

Bolan was knocked out by a policeman's flying tackle as he fled. The cafe is across the street from the sheriff's office and county jail.

SEX CHARGES FACED

UNION CITY, N. J., Jan. 12—(AP)—The father of a five-year-old boy is to be arraigned today on a charge of raping an eight-year-old girl, injuring her internally.

Police Lt. Arthur Stanton said Louis Tedesco, 33, was arrested yesterday on the rape charge.

At the same time, a detaining warrant was issued for Henry Olert, 31, of Weehawken, who is to be sentenced Friday in Hudson county superior court for a series of indecent assaults, one of them allegedly involving the same eight-year-old child.

FIRE EATS ANTIQUES

PORTLAND, Jan. 12—(AP)—A fire destroyed the interior of a home and ruined many valuable antiques yesterday.

George W. Mead, owner of the house, estimated the loss at $35,000. The place contained oriental rugs, a collection of tapestries, statues, and other works of art, as well as furniture.

The house burst into flame while the family was away. The cuase was not determined.

Salesmanship Session Will Be Conducted Here

Davis-Thompson sales consultants, Portland, will open a sales session in Roseburg, to be held Jan. 23, 24, 25 and 26, between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. The session will be held upstairs in the armory.

A complete analysis of the program was given by Tommy Thompson, a member of the sales firm, in a talk before the Retail Trades association Wednesday noon in the Hotel Umpqua.

The session will be conducted by Norman Davis. Thompson will be in town this week and next to contact merchants and make arrangements.

"There is no place in Roseburg for high pressure salesmanship," Thompson emphasized in his talk before the merchants Wednesday. However, he stated, there is a definite need for the promotion of good will between merchants and customers, which will result in greater sales volume, and better satisfaction for the customer.

"The sales person meeting customers today is daily lacking in known selling skill," said Thompson. "New sales people have never had selling experience; old-timers have not had to sell for six long years, thereby forgetting much of the art of selling. Today's research and in-firm checking show the typical sales person either unfamiliar with or out of practice in handling today's problems on the floor."

The consultants recently conducted a sales session in Medford and several local persons attended.

Air Force Wants More Planes But Money Lacking

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Air Force still thinks at least 70 groups of warplanes are needed for defense, but is bowing to the fact that the money to buy them isn't at hand.

Secretary of Air Symington set forth his ideas in a general news conference of the entire Pentagon high command on the budget. Among other things, Secretary of Defense Johnson said the $13,500,000,000 budget proposed for all the armed services was trimmed down from an original $20,000,000,000 estimate of needs.

The new budget, to cover the year beginning next July 1, proposes 48 groups and 13 separate squadrons, about the present form of the air force which early last year was at a peak postwar strength of 59 groups.

The Navy has been pared even more in the air. Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, told the news conference that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, the Navy had 24 carrier air groups, was cut to 14 during the current fiscal year—but is now down to 10 under the economy program—and is scheduled to total only nine by next July 1. Navy patrol squadrons now total 25, will be cut to 20 by next July. Marine squadrons numbered 23 in fiscal 1949, are now 16, will be cut to 12.

Johnson emphasized that despite the cuts, the fighting force, will be better off. This, he said, was because more men will be "pulled off desk jobs in the Pentagon and elsewhere and sent into regiments."
