WEEKEND IN SNOW

Because a well-attended Christmas party staged by the Roseburg Nazarene church financed the trip, 30 young people of the church recently were able to frolic in nearly three feet of snow at the church camp near McKenzie pass. The three-day outing included such activity, as skiing, bob sledding and other snow games. Picture at upper left shows the sign marking the camp site, flanked by Lee Marsh and Louie Suiter, sponsors, and Sam Suiter (left to right). A feature of the outing was selection of a snow king and queen, Jim Ridgeway and Laverne Lindley, pictured at upper right. The court entire royal is shown in the lower photo, with the king and queen seated on a snow throne, decorated with fir boughs. Reading from left to right, Jim Easterly, Ernestine Rawley, the king and queen, Evelyn Egli and Alfrad Artman. Accompanying the group were Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Suiter and Rev. and Mrs. Forrest Hill.

Mix Cheese, Scrambled Eggs

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Good cookbooks enlarge the good life. They show you how to plan your family meals with more interest, with new dishes and often with greater ease and for less money. Read them at home or at the public library, in 1950, in order to get more eating pleasure in your daily life.

Begin with the fascinating new book called "An Odd Volume of Cookery," by Louise Lane Morrissy and Marion Lane Sweeney of Boston. It has savor, wisdom and tremendous know-how about the gentle art of good eating. There isn't space here to tell you why it is so unusual and valuable. Let's just look at some of its recipes.

Roosevelt Scrambled Eggs
(Serves 4)
(This was a favorite dish of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who was one of the members of the Club of Odd Volumes, and always served when he was present at a club supper.)

Mash 1 Philadelphia cream cheese with a fork into a frying pan. Add 1/2 cup cream or top milk, and heat until cheese has melted and cream is bubbling. Break 6 eggs into a bowl and beat lightly with a fork. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and a few grains of pepper and mix all ingredients

Manhattan Pudding for Mechanical Refrigerator

Mix the juice of 2 oranges and 1 lemon and sweeten to taste. Pour into freezing tray of mechanical refrigerator. Whip 1 cup of whipping cream until stiff and fold into whipped cream 1/2 cup of chopped walnut meats. Put on top of fruit juices and freeze without stirring. This may be packed in paper cups and frozen in tray of mechanical refrigerator.

Susan's Pecan Fingers

Cream 1 cup of butter in mixing bowl and add 2 cups of chopped pecan nut meats, 4 tablespoons of confectioners' sugar, 2 teaspoons of vanilla, and 2 1/2 cups of sifted flour. Mix well. Shape like fingers and bake slowly at 225 degrees F. Roll in powdered sugar.

Chinese in Battle On Namoa Island

TAIPEI, Jan. 16.—(AP)—An artillery duel between Communist troops in Swatow and Nationalist Chinese on Namoa island was reported today by the nationalist defense ministry.

Swatow is a port city about 100 miles northwest of British Hong Kong and 125 miles west of the southern tip of Formosa.

The ministry did not mention ground fighting on Namoa island where the Communists have established a beachhead.

The ministry said Nationalists on Linting island, near Namoa, broke up an attempted landing by about 3,000 Reds. The Communists made the assault in fishing boats.

Nationalists reported their warplanes and ships attacked and sank many troop laden Communist junks along the Lulchow peninsula where the Communists are massing forces for an attack on Hainan island, off the south China coast.

Meanwhile, U.S. roving ambassador Philip Jessup, conferred with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek near Taipei, Nationalist capital.

Colonel Claims New Game Laws Threaten Eskimo

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—(AP)—LA Col. Marvin R. Marston says the Alaskan Eskimo faces possible extinction if the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service "continues to enforce impractical game laws."

"These brave and happy men of the Arctic are disturbed by new, confusing laws now being applied to them," said Marston, assistant adjutant general of Alaska's National Guard. "They are saying the laws were made for the white man to punish the Eskimo."

Marston, who commanded Eskimo units of the territorial guards during World War II, said the Arctic natives had asked him to speak for them.

"It always seems to the Eskimo that when there is a difference of opinion the white man's story gets out; the Eskimo story isn't told," he said.

He appeared at a Fish and Wildlife service game hearing Friday night to dispute the service's charges that Eskimos were causing a decline in the big game population.

"Damning the Eskimo and blaming him for the loss of Alaska's big game will not save what remains," the colonel exclaimed.

"Present policies of the F.W.W. are breaking down the Eskimo morale along the entire Alaska coast. Throughout the Arctic Eskimos are aroused by the new program, which is leaving them hungry. They are calling meetings, signing protest petitions."

He branded wolves as the chief killers of caribou and said the new wolf poisoning program came 10 years too late. The poisoners, he added, are killing other game and sled dogs as well as wolves.

In a prepared statement Marston said F.W.S. agents told Barter island natives they could kill no more sheep and only one caribou per man. One caribou is not enough to make clothing, he said. Natives near Kotzebue recently were told they could no longer fish through the ice as they have been doing for generations, the colonel added.

Siam Gold Shipments Revealed By Official

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—(AP)—Huge shipments of bars of Siamese gold are passing through here bound for underground storage at Fort Knox, Ky. A New York customs official has revealed.

The gold is reportedly from the Bank of Thailand. It is being routed through Anchorage from the Orient enroute to Oakland, Calif. for transshipment east.

"The gold has been flown in C-47 planes 100 bars at a time. More shipments are still to come, the customs official said. It was not known how much gold has already passed through here.

Transoceanic airlines are flying the gold on a contract basis.
