Freedom Group Takes Exception To Union Charge

VALLEY FORGE, Pa.—(AP)—Freedom foundation officials have taken exception to a union's charge that the foundation is "a front organization for American reactionaries."

"The foundation is non-political, non-commercial, non-sectarian and non-profit," declared President Don Belding and Executive Vice-President Kenneth D. Wells in a statement Friday.

The statement was issued in answer to a charge made by Paul L. Phillips, president of the AFL-International Brotherhood of Paper Makers in announcing the union was returning $600 and a gold medal to the foundation.

The union's house organ, "The Paper Maker" was awarded third place last fall in the foundation's "best union publication class."

Belding and Wells said Phillips' action came as a complete surprise since the union head had made two personal visits to foundation headquarters here—once to discuss the organization's activities and the second time to accept the award.

President Harold E. Stassen of the University of Pennsylvania headed the board of judges that included seven justices of state supreme courts.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, presided at the awards presentation last fall.

Vets Reminded That Insurance Needs Renewal

Veterans who took out national service life insurance in 1942 are reminded by the Veterans administration that they must convert or renew their present policies this year, before they expire. Failure of veterans to do so may result in the loss of their G. I. insurance, unless they are able to pass a physical examination.

G. I. policies issued in 1941 have eight years to run before they must be converted or renewed, and veterans must apply for their new policies before the old ones run out.

Many Veterans, the VA said, are not sure when they first took out their N.S.L.I. policies and needlessly take the risk of losing their insurance protection because they don't know when their policies should be renewed.

Even though the VA will try to notify the Veteran 60 days ahead of time before the expiration date of his G. I. insurance policy, it is wise for him to check with the VA to determine the anniversary date of his insurance policy if he isn't sure.

Approximately one-third of the half-million Veterans in the Pacific Northwest who have G. I. insurance pay their premiums during the 31-day "grace period." They, too, face the loss of their insurance when it expires, because it may no longer be in force when they get around to making application for a converted policy or a renewal.

The VA advised Veterans to pay their premiums on time and depend on the "grace period" only in cases of real financial emergency.

Lover's Lane Killer Receives 50 Years

CHICAGO—(AP)—Arthur Marino, 29-year-old music teacher, was sentenced to 50 years in prison after a jury convicted him of the lover's lane slaying of his pretty 17-year-old fiancée.

Imposing the sentence recommended by the criminal court jury, Judge Leonard C. Reid said "The defendant does not know how lucky he is in my estimation." Reid denied a motion for a new trial.

The state had asked that Marino be sent to the electric chair for the murder last June 28 of his sweetheart, Joan Crawford, a suburban blue island high school junior. He was accused by the state of fatally beating her in a lover's lane in suburban Dolton.

Marino, who did not testify, had told police two men had attacked them while they were parked in his car. He said they had forced him to drink ammonia and had beaten and strangled Miss Coward.

REALLY SALTED AWAY
QUINCY, Ill., Feb. 13. — (AP) — When Mrs. R. H. Niggemeyer opened a can of sauerkraut for supper, she found some cabbage of an unexpected variety.

She found a tight green roll in one side of the can. It turned out to be four $1 bills.

Mrs. Niggemeyer has written to the canning company about it. She isn't mad. Just curious.

Sea slugs have about the same nutritional value as oysters.

Service Men's Housing Bill Has Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 — (AP) — After trimming funds for housing servicemen's families, the Senate passed and sent to the House a half billion dollar military construction bill.

The House armed services committee already is holding hearings on a similar measure.

The legislation, approved by voice vote in the Senate after a dispute over the cost of military housing, was described by Senator Tydings (D-MD) as one of the most important that the defense department wants passed at this session.

It would authorize a wide variety of projects for the Army, Navy and Air Force costing approximately $500,000,000. Funds for the work would have to be appropriated later. Actual construction is expected to be spread over two or three years.

Tydings, chairman of the Senate armed services committee, noted that the bill included $90,000,000 for research and development projects to aid scientists working on the "latest" weapons. One item is $11,514,300 for highly secret special weapons projects.

The bill also includes about $113,000,000 for housing military personnel, and in the Senate the principal controversy centered on the cost of these projects.

As proposed, the bill simply provided that the cost of family housing units should not exceed $14,000, plus $2,500 for site development and outside utilities. The limits could be doubled for construction outside of the United States and in Alaska, where costs are much higher.
