

R. H. S. 'Grod' On Leave From Air Force Base

Pfc. Leo C. Bowers, 17, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Bowers, Calkins road, Roseburg, is now at home with his parents on a 10-day leave of absence after completing 13 weeks of basic military training at Lackland Air Force base, San Antonio, Texas. Leo graduated from Roseburg high school with the class of 1948.

Leo, who is interested in pursuing a career in business administration after his enlistment in the Air Force, will begin his training with a 12-week course in teletype operation at Francis E. Warren Air Force base, Cheyenne, Wyo., after the completion of his current leave.

temperance talk that "government workers should not be ashamed of the growing complaint against government waste and findings of the Hoover commission. Rather, those in government service who recognize the need for improvement should join in attaining such ends, he said.

Al Kuykendall celebrated his birthday by acting as toastmaster for the first time. Table topic-master was Phil Harth. Ross Newcomb served as evaluator, and critics were Walt Barker, Mike Dilley, Dr. S. L. DeLapp, Jim Turk, Al Knudston and Lowell Hamm.

Guests included: Pat Turner of Portland, former member of the Roseburg club, and Wilbur Osterloh.

Slated for next Tuesday at 6:30 is a panel discussion dealing with telephone mannerisms. Following a report Tuesday from the nominating committee, next week was slated as the time for election of new officers.

Winston

By MRS. GEORGE BACHER
Mrs. H. A. Winston returned to her home in this community Sunday after spending a week with her father, Fred Renner, in Butte, Mont. Renner, who fractured his hip in a recent fall, is reported to be getting along "very well." He is 90 years of age and spent a great portion of his years in this vicinity. Mrs. Winston resumed her duties as a teacher in the Dillard school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank True and daughter, Suzanne, entertained Mrs. True's mother, Mrs. M. Hayes, of Coos Bay, over the weekend. While Mrs. Hayes was here they all motored to Grants Pass and enjoyed a visit in that city. The Trues operate a grocery store in Winston.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Mason of Coos Bay spent the weekend with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mason, in Winston. Mrs. F. E. Mason operates Wilson's market on highway 99.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Geddes and children, Donna and Paul, are moving from Winston to Dillard this week. Their new home is located directly across from the Play-more gardens. Geddes is in business with his father-in-law in Winston. They are co-owners of the Geddes and Haley service station.

Much industrial activity meets the eye in Winston these days. Pruning of orchards, which has been in progress for some time now, continues. Some plots have been broken and seeded for early gardens while large hot-beds are being prepared by more cautious farmers. Winston is a large scale commercial gardening district.

Mrs. Archie Wilson motored to Portland on business this week. She and her husband own Wilson's Fruit and Vegetable markets in Winston.

Mrs. Chelsea Browne, nee Beverly Winston, and her two children, Chelsea James and Cheryl, returned to their home in Portland Monday after spending a week visiting here. They were joined by Browne, whose business took him to Texas during the time his family was here.

Mrs. J. F. Wiles entertained Saturday evening with a party in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary. Games were enjoyed after which a birthday cake was cut

NON-SUPPORT CHARGED
Non-support charges caused two men to be confined in the county jail, Sheriff O. T. "Bud" Carter reported.

Walter Christian Jensen, 37, Roseburg, failed to post $250 bail, while Arthur Kroning, 26, Reedsport, brought here by Deputy Sheriff Cecil Bever, was held without bail.

and served in his honor. Those enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cummings and the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunlap spent Tuesday and Wednesday visiting the latter's mother in Medford. The Dunlaps are in business with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bower. The two families are proprietors of the Coos Junction cafe in Winston.

Mrs. F. E. Mason entertained with a dinner party Thursday evening in celebration of her husband's birthday. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Olga Plath and Stanley Grady, both of Sutherlin. After dinner a beautifully decorated birthday cake was presented to Mason.

Power-Driven Woods Operation Requires Permit

All logging or similar operations within the forest areas of Oregon where any type of power-driven equipment is used, or where timber is harvested for commercial purposes, are required to obtain a permit for such operation from the state forester, according to L. C. Cummings, forest inspector.

Cummings stated that apparently many operators are delinquent in this respect and called attention to the fact that closure of the operation for non-compliance, as well as a fine, may result from failure to secure such permit.

Application for this permit may be obtained from the Forest Protection office in Roseburg, or by writing the state forester in Salem.

These permits, issued by the state forester, are valid for only the year in which issued and for the specific area indicated to be logged in the permit.

Gum Machine Revenues Aid Youth Activities

Boys and girls activities in Roseburg were benefited to the amount of $596.75 through revenues from the gum ball machine program of the Kiwanis club, reported Herbert Weisgerber, chairman for youth work.

In addition to these returns, other club funds were devoted to the program. Expenditures for youth work were as follows:
Future Farmers of America, Jersey calf program, $190; Boy Scouts, $31.50; Camp Fire Girls, $125; Beaver Boys State camp, sponsorship, $20; YMCA, sports equipment, $21.25; Camp Fire Girls, five camp scholarships, $75; football suits, grade school program, $519.40.

Eugene Woolen Mills Will Abandon Operations

EUGENE, March 2 —(AP)— The Eugene Woolen mills is going out of business, after being in operation since 1902. However, like a Phoenix, it seems certain that the mill will rise again at a new location and the wheels will start turning once more.

A group of businessmen in Harrisburg are incorporating to open a modern mill there and purchase the machinery of the Eugene firm. Money has been raised by selling shares in the new enterprise to residents of the area. G. C. Gilbert, one of the members of the fund raising committee, said Tuesday that the mill is expected to employ about 40 people at full operation.

The Eugene Woolen mills is one of the oldest business firms in the county, tracing its history back to an earlier mill built in 1882 on the banks of the millrace.

Cari Koppe, secretary-manager of the firm, said that obsolescence of the plant and some equipment, plus the high cost of replacement, brought the decision to abandon operations.

Douglas Fir Harvesting, Federal Deficit Financing, Street Names' Confusion Topics At Toastmasters

A variety of topics were treated Tuesday night by members of the Roseburg Toastmasters club at their regular dinner meeting at Hotel Umpqua, with six speakers rounding out the schedule.

Will Ragland, speaking on "Proper Douglas Fir Harvesting," told the audience that "clear cut" harvesting had proven more satisfactory with this type of tree than "selective cutting." Although this is not true of some other trees, Ragland said Douglas fir seedlings are "highly intolerant" to shade and for that reason it is best to cut an entire patch, then re-plant the stand.

However, such a policy sometimes damages the soil through erosion, so the problem is to keep the clear cut patches fairly small and at the same time overcome the economic handicaps encountered in such an undertaking.

"Big business or Crisis Government" was the theme developed by Charles Slabaugh, who quoted frequently from one of a series of articles written by former Secretary of State James Byrnes.

"What happens when the government does not run economically or fails to show a profit?" Slabaugh demanded. "Taxes only mount higher and higher, whereas a business either revamps its policies or goes on the rocks."

He said any person or firm which goes above the budget must soon get back under the line or keep operating in the red. This basic fact, he said, is being ignored by our government.

Hospitals Functions Told
Bob Allen, staff member of the Roseburg Veterans hospital, talked on "Our Institution," saying the local "Yets by the Grove" was a hospital whose mission it is to aid the ailing and distressed.

"We do not have out there an asylum, a facility, or a home," he declared.

OF the 600 patients served by the hospital, Allen said a great percentage were mental, or psychoneurotic cases. Some of them are extreme cases who are maintained at the local hospital simply because the Veterans administration has no other place for them.

He concluded by verbally boosting the work being done by the V.A. Volunteer Service program, wherein patients' confidence is maintained and increased by the instructors.

Tom Coates blasted the "utterly confused" situation of Roseburg street names in his talk "Get It Done." He traced action of the city council-appointed committee of five persons who have attempted to offer solutions to the problem.

After several months' study, the committee's proposals were presented, only to be greeted by a storm of protest, Coates said. The committee went back to work and will soon have other recommendations to offer.

"Probably none of us will care for all the proposals they offer," Coates declared, "but I believe we should accept the recommendations. At least they will be better than what we have. We won't have to live in Roseburg for 40 years and carry an outdated map in our pockets in order to find an address."

The commercial uses of explosives were named by Bob Bergis, formerly a salesman for an explosives firm. The part played by explosives in all types of open and pit mining, dam building, road-building, logging and agriculture were cited.
