

'Tom Mooney' Of Northwest Dies

PORTLAND, March 9 — (AP) — The body of Rayfield Becker lay in the county morgue for nearly two days before someone's memory flicked and identified him as "Tom Mooney of the northwest."

He had been out of the news for years. But when the 1919 armistice day Centralia, Wash., riot was new his was a front-page name.

Becker was found dead near his home Tuesday. The first listing said there were no known relatives. But yesterday two brothers, one in Iowa and one in Chicago, were located.

Becker was one of eight members of the Industrial Workers of the World—the "Wobblies"—convicted of second degree murder in the 1919 riot. One died in prison. Six were paroled. But Becker insisted he was innocent and refused parole.

It was his long fight for vindication that gave him the "Tom Mooney" name in recognition of the Californian's better known effort for release.

Becker finally was released from the Washington State prison in 1939. Gov. Clarence D. Martin commuted his sentence then to the time already served—18 years and 3 months.

The Centralia riot started when an American Legion parade halted outside the Wobblies' meeting hall. What happened, who fired the first shot, has long been indispute. But five men including four legionnaires were killed. One Wobbler was taken from jail and lynched.

The coroner's office listed Becker's real name as Ralph Burdard.

Burial will be in Chicago after brief services here today.

14 Military Prisoners Die In Guardhouse Fire

Guards reported there were few inmates to indicate any suffered long.

Contrary to first reports, Maj. Kenneth Kolster, Sandia's intelligence officer, said there was no evidence of an explosion.

Damage consisted principally of badly scorched ceilings and walls, mostly in a 100-foot, L-shaped corridor and three cell blocks. It appeared the fire flashed overhead in less than time it takes to tell.

Five inmates labeled "Bad" the prisoners had finished their evening meal a short time before. Some already were in bed, reading or sleeping. Bodies of two were found in a shower room; three others lay just outside the door.

Major Kolster described five of the prison inmates as "bad cookies," jailed after conviction on serious charges by a military court. The others he labelled minor offenders. He declined to detail charges on which any were court-martialed.

The two guards were the building's only occupants besides the 14 prisoners. One, Cpl. Richard A. Miller, 27, of Stockton, Calif., was in the guardhouse office—at the opposite end of the building from the flaming stove—when fire was discovered. The other, Pvt. Wilbur Henry, 22, of South Zanesville, O., was walking back to the office midway along the corridor. He had passed the stove five minutes earlier.

Both were overcome by smoke, but attendants said they probably would be able to leave the hospital today or tomorrow.

Property damage has not been estimated officially. Major Kolster placed it at approximately $5,000.

Kolster said the fire-swept guardhouse—a temporary type building—is at least three-quarters of a mile from the nearest restricted area, in which activities are secret.

He reported a representative of the provost marshal general's office in Washington inspected the base less than a month ago and pronounced all buildings, including the prison, in excellent condition from a safety standpoint.

Judith Coplon Gets 15 Years; Pal To Be Evicted

ministry for foreign affairs of the U. S. S. R.

Claims No Proof Of Guilt

The arbitrary and the provocative character of the actions of the U. S. authorities against me are all the more aggravated since I violated, in no way, any laws of the U. S. A.

"This was established during the proceedings in this case artificially manufactured against me.

No proof of my guilt was offered despite the fact that the prosecution worked hard to show my very ordinary actions—meeting with a girl, entering a subway, walking into a food store, etc.—as actions which constitute a threat to the security of the U. S. A."

Gubitchev went on to say that he was arrested without a warrant, and subjected to hours of grilling by F. B. I. agents who, he said, sought information about Russia from him. He asserted that his telephone conversations were intercepted and that the F. B. I. deliberately destroyed the records because, he said, they would have shown that he did no wrong.

The deportation order for the 33-year-old Russian was recommended by the government as a result of conferences between the State department and the attorney general's office.

Judge Ryan specified that the term imposed on Miss Coplon might not be served concurrently with a sentence of 40 months to 19 years she previously received in Washington, D. C., on kindred charges.

The judge refused an application to release her on bail.

Samuel A. Neuberger, attorney for the 28-year-old Miss Coplon, said he would file notice of appeal immediately.

Miss Coplon could have received 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Gubitchev faced a maximum of 15 years in jail and $20,000 fine.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol told the court of the government's recommendation for Gubitchev before sentence was imposed. He said it was the personal recommendation of the secretary of state and the attorney general.

Privilege Held Abused

"You came here as an emissary of peace," Judge Ryan told Gubitchev, who was suspended from his United Nations engineer position after his arrest on March 4, 1949.

"You were accepted by us in the role of friend," he declared and added that Gubitchev had violated his United Nations oath by his actions.

Gubitchev did these things "with an arrogant smile on your lips and your face," the judge said.

Turning to Miss Coplon he declared:

"You brought disgrace on your name and disgrace on your family. The country looks upon you with sorrow. The country does not seek vengeance but punishment must be substantial as a warning to others."

Then he added she had been "found guilty of betraying your country."

Saypol, in announcing the government's position, emphasized that the State department did not recognize Gubitchev's claim of diplomatic immunity.

With the conviction of the two by a jury of six men and six women last Tuesday Gubitchev became the first Soviet citizen ever to be convicted of spying for his country in the United States.

The Russian's attorney, Abraham L. Pomerantz, said the government's recommendation "came as a shock, or I should say a surprise, to me."

Program Outlined For Annual Roseburg Rodeo

program has been approved by the Rodeo Cowboy association, and the point awards system has been joined, so that every dollar earned by the cowboys at this rodeo will go towards the world championship selection. This was also in effect last year.

Other events will include amateur cowboy and cowgirl racing, kids' races, a calf scramble, wild horse race, and other features.

Better Lighting Obtained

The big rodeo parade will be held the afternoon of June 24, and many entries are anticipated by the rodeo committee.

The rodeo is under the direction of the posse's board of directors, Clyde Fullerton, chairman; George Miller, Dr. L. M. Lehrbach, Sid Nichols and Frank Denton.

The evening event for Saturday, June 24, was decided upon, after the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce granted the fair board $500 for the lighting of the rodeo grounds. Lights were installed last year on the track and in the stands, and there remains only the rodeo gates and arena.

Evening rodeos are becoming increasingly popular, especially in states where afternoon temperatures are extremely warm, Carter pointed out.

Sen. Fiegel Raps Education Board

SALEM, March 9 — (AP) — State Sen. Austin F. Fiegel, Portland Democrat and candidate for governor, accused the State Board of Higher Education yesterday of ignoring the legislature.

Fiegel, a member of the Senate committee which has to pass on appointments to the board, made the charge at a meeting called to consider Governor McKay's appointment of Dr. R. E. Kleinsorge, Silverton, to a second nine-year term on the board. The committee unanimously approved the appointment.

Fiegel said that the 1949 legislature gave $2,500,000 for the proposed hospital at the University of Oregon medical school at Portland, but he said the board took $1,000,000 of that money and gave it to Oregon State college.

Dr. Kleinsorge told the committee that was true, and that the committee did it because of the dire need for buildings at Oregon State college. He said the diversion of the funds would not delay construction of the hospital.

Dr. Kleinsorge said that the agriculture, engineering and home economics departments at the state college face loss of standing because of their inadequate buildings.

Federal Oleo Tax Repeal Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON, March 9 — (AP) — Administration leaders in the Senate rallied today for a battle to save Federal rent controls, now due to expire June 30.

Before the Senate was a $750,000,000 money bill containing a provision which would order the office of the housing expediter—which administers rent control—to start paying off its more than 4,000 workers, in preparation for closing up shop at the end of June.

This order was attached by the Senate appropriations committee to a measure carrying cash to keep various federal agencies running between now and June 30, the end of the 1950 fiscal year.

Senators from states with large cities promised a fight against the rent control amendment.

Legislation to extend the federal rent ceilings for one year beyond June 30 — as requested by President Truman — was introduced by Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois and Senator Myers (D-Pa.), his assistant, shortly after.

Enforcement of the penalty provisions as to labeling is left to the Federal Trade commission. Violators of the labeling regulations could be fined up to $5,000 a day. The Food and Drug administration will have the job of seeing to it that the product is what it is represented to be, and not adulterated.

Federal taxes to be repealed by the bill are:

Colored oleomargarine at retail 10 cents a pound; and the uncolored product at retail 1/4 cents a pound; $600 a year on oleomargarine manufacturers; $480 a year on wholesalers of the colored product; $200 a year on wholesalers of uncolored oleomargarine; $48 a year on each retailer of the colored product; $6 a year on retailers of the uncolored oleomargarine.

In the 1946 elections, better, much better—a 96.7 vote for the candidates. But the record still holds—and that record is 99.81!

Woman (very timid): But, comrade, isn't that voting record held by an outsider—by Hitler?

Commissar: Comrade, did I hear you correctly? (Aside: Pass! Officer! quick, get that woman's name!) I have named the mark for which we shoot. To surpass 99.8. We will show our face unashamed to the world. And, comrades, remember—100 per cent is 100 per cent!

FUN PROGRAM TONIGHT

The Douglas County Sheriff's posse will hold another of its fun night programs at the fair grounds exhibit building tonight at 7 o'clock. A penny potluck is scheduled.

A special section has been arranged in a glassed-in, 40-foot room, where spectators may sit and watch.

The posse has built this room and donated it to the fair board for the use of 4-H club exhibits.

Federal Oleo Tax Repeal Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON, March 9 — (AP) — Administration leaders in the Senate rallied today for a battle to save Federal rent controls, now due to expire June 30.

Before the Senate was a $750,000,000 money bill containing a provision which would order the office of the housing expediter—which administers rent control—to start paying off its more than 4,000 workers, in preparation for closing up shop at the end of June.

This order was attached by the Senate appropriations committee to a measure carrying cash to keep various federal agencies running between now and June 30, the end of the 1950 fiscal year.

Senators from states with large cities promised a fight against the rent control amendment.

Legislation to extend the federal rent ceilings for one year beyond June 30 — as requested by President Truman — was introduced by Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois and Senator Myers (D-Pa.), his assistant, shortly after.

Enforcement of the penalty provisions as to labeling is left to the Federal Trade commission. Violators of the labeling regulations could be fined up to
