New Substance Sterilizes Raw Food, Vegetables

ALBANY, Calif., March 29.—(AP)—One way to can fruit and vegetables is to give them a shot of a penicillin-like substance and then cook them only a few minutes. The substance is subtilin, an antibiotic derived from a microbe found in hay. It is relatively non-poisonous to humans but is sure death to a long string of germs which commonly inhabit raw food.

A tiny dab of subtilin plus 5 to 15 minutes of cooking at the boiling point of water makes food sterile but does not destroy the natural flavors as much as does the longer and hotter cooking process usually employed in canning, said Dr. M. J. Copley, director of the U.S. Agriculture department research laboratory here.

Dr. Copley told about subtilin in a paper for delivery before the second national research conference on rice. His report: This potent substance was found by researchers in the Albany laboratory about three years ago. In preliminary tryouts it has shown ability to stop the growth of many germs, among them anthrax and one type of pneumonia. It has not yet been fully tested for its possibilities in medicine.

The mild heat kills off some of the food germs and the subtilin takes care of the rest. Corn processed in this way can hardly be distinguished from corn just out of the garden. It also makes possible the processing of winter vegetables such as cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts without cooking the natural flavor out of them.

The laboratory is working on ways of using the mild heat-subtilin method of preserving milk, poultry, fish and meats.

STAGE DRIVER KILLED
PORTLAND, March 29.—(AP)—Alvin J. North, 35, Portland, died at a hospital here Tuesday from injuries suffered in a collision of two automobiles.

North's car crashed with another on highway 99W, just east of Tigard. The other driver suffered only minor injuries. North was a driver for Tualatin motor stages.

CBA To Present Sacred Cantata Sunday Night

The choir of the Canyonville Bible academy will present a sacred cantata under the direction of Miss Adena Seguire at the Assembly of God church in Canyonville Sunday night, April 2, at 7:30 p.m.

The cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by Maunder recalls simply and reverently the scenes which mark the last few days of the Saviour's life on earth, and some of the reflections suggested thereby. The rejoicing of the multitude with hosannas and palms, the view of Jerusalem from the steep of Olivet, the lament over the beautiful city, the scene in the temple, and the lonely walk back over the mount at night, form the chief features of the first part.

The second part opens with the supper of the Passover, at which Jesus washes His disciple's feet, and gives to His friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship. From this the scene passes to the infinite pathos of the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile crowd, Jesus forsaken by His disciples, His utter loneliness among ruthless foes, the tumult before Pilate in the judgment hall, the passage of the cross, the tragedy and triumph of Calvary.

There are three soloists: Harold Pearson, Roseburg, baritone; Howard Haymes, Canyonville, tenor; and Lois Collins, Inglewood, Calif., soprano.

Miss Carol Rueck of Portland will be the accompanist. According to Miss Seguire this cantata is a very difficult one and is seldom presented by high school students.

The public is invited to attend.
