Disciplined Navy Captain To Run For U. S. Senate

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—(AP)—Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin, who figures if he can get elected to the U. S. Senate "I can keep on talking," files to his native Alabama tonight.

He said he almost certainly would run independently for the seat held by Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.). It's too late to file for the Democratic primary.

Crommelin, 44, is beginning his navy disciplinary furlough, at half pay, imposed because of his continual criticism of armed forces unification policies.

New York Rent Control Replaces Federal Setup

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—(AP)—New York state will go into the residential rent control business May 1.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey signed last night his Republican administration rent control bill, passed by the 1950 legislature.

The law will replace federal controls in the Empire state.

The governor, explaining the law in a statewide broadcast, charged that the federal program had "been accompanied by both uncertainties and corruption."

Housing Project Issue Up To Portland Voters

PORTLAND, March 30.—(AP)—Portlanders will vote May 19 on whether they want 2,000 units of low rent federal housing construction to start here before Oct. 1.

City council okayed the proposal yesterday. Mayor Dorothy Lee proposed the election after realty interests criticized the housing plan as unnecessary.

The project must be started before Oct. 1 to come under the federal loan and housing law.

Count Of Census Will Be Made At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—(AP)—For the first time in 170 years census data from about 151,000,000 Americans will be totaled up outside of Washington.

America's third largest city (according to 1940 census figures) was chosen by Congress to tabulate the millions of forms. Ironically, there's a good chance Philadelphia will lose that "third largest" title. War-boomed Los Angeles has been growing fast.

Lack of sufficient office space in Washington was the chief reason for shifting census headquarters from the capital to Philadelphia, site of the first U. S. capital.

The count of Americans begins Saturday when 140,000 enumerators, armed with credentials and question-filled forms, go from house to house and farm to farm ringing doorbells.

When completed, the forms will be sent here to a former radio plant built by the late Atwater Kent. It was recently remodeled to house the gigantic counting machinery. More than 5,500 clerks will edit the schedules, checking each form for consistency and accuracy.

Then "electrical brain" machines will take over to insure completion of the record census by Dec. 1.

John J. Lennon, Philadelphia area supervisor and head of the census' national office, said he hopes to finish compilation of the voluminous data to be channeled through Philadelphia by June, 1951.

"That's really fast work," Lennon explains, adding that years ago census takers used to meet themselves coming and going.

"Why," Lennon says, "back in 1880 clerks were still adding up the 1880 census figures when the 1890 forms started rolling in."

The 1950 census will be the largest co-ordinated population count ever conducted by any one nation. The 17th "once-in-every-10-years" job is expected to cost the taxpayers $80,000,000 before it's completed.

Besides people, census takers will count houses, farms, businesses.

They will check the frequency of births and deaths.

They will list every fifth person's income, record how much it costs to raise his family, how much he saves.

They will count chickens, cows, pigs, horses: All productive farm animals.

They will find out how many homes still lack electricity; where irrigation and drainage projects are in operation.

In short: They will ask almost everything, about everybody.

All told, the enumerators will travel about 25,000,000 miles, knock on doors at some 45,000,000 homes in thousands of cities and towns and on some 6,300,000 farms.

Edson Jr., is the son of the president of the school board, Howard Edson Sr., who is also Glendale's postmaster. Chairman of the citizens' committee which arranged last night's mass meeting is Skillings, local justice of the peace. Mrs. Mouchett, mother of one of the basketball players involved in the gambling, was secretary.

Skillings declared that parents asked the local board for a public hearing March 16. The request was ignored, he said. On March 13, the board, with no public announcement of a meeting, re-employed Edson Jr., he stated.

Mrs. Mouchett read a copy of a letter she wrote to the attorney general and his reply stating that he had turned her communication over to the state school superintendent. She also read a letter from Putnam. Both said they deplored the situation. Putnam asserted the problem was one for the local board.

Offer To Settle Mill Strike Spurned By Union

TOLEDO, Ore., March 29.—(AP)—AFL Sawmill Workers' agents and management of the C. D. Johnson lumber mill here today were continuing their talks aimed at settling a strike now in its second week.

Dean Johnson, a company executive, reported the company had offered to rehire two of three discharged men and put the third case up to arbitration.

H. D. Hill, union business agent, said the union had rejected this. The union has asked reinstatement of all three and pay for time lost. The company claims the men were insubordinate.

Trust Hearings Delayed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—(AP)—A scheduled grand jury probe into alleged anti-trust violations throughout the territory of Alaska was postponed Tuesday when only seven of 40 persons drawn for jury duty appeared in court.

It was the second drawing of 40 names to supplement the original call.

The hearing was expected to open Wednesday.

Seven members of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice were on hand.

Prisoners Rebel At Creamed Chicken Repeat

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—(AP)—City police are reinforcing the guard detail today at the county prison where 245 prisoners went on a sit-down rebellion over the customary Wednesday lunch of creamed chicken.

Raymond J. Groller, newly appointed acting superintendent of the prison, said a strong city police detail subdued the uprising without violence.

Groller attributed the disturbance to a number of dope addicts among the 700 prisoners at the institution.

Groller said he had heard objections to the chicken menu and found nothing wrong with it.

Winston

By MRS. GEORGE BACHER

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Campbell and children, Larry and Patricia, are moving April 1 from Winston to the Cloverdale addition in Roseburg. Campbell is the local representative of the I.O.O.F.

Miss Jo Ann Bolsinger, teacher of the Green school, was confined to her home this week because of illness.

A new point of interest "highlights" the J. K. Masters' lawn in front of their recently constructed new home in Winston section. Aop a rustic iron pole, some eight feet tall, is suspended a lantern type electrical appliance which floods the entire lawn with light. Laying of the underground wiring was completed this week, and it is the first light of its kind to be installed in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Snider of Winston spent the weekend with the latter's parents in Bend. Snider is employed with the E. K. Woods Lumber Co. in Green.

The smoke stack at the Green school was increased by 12 additional feet last week. It is reported to have increased the efficiency of the furnace which furnishes radiant heat through the building.

Dean Woods has been called to the bedside of his father who is ill in Home Dale, Idaho. Dean is at present employed with the E. K. Woods Lumber Co. and plans to return to college at LaGrande this fall where he is majoring in physical education.

Little "Cookie" is dead. Her wee mistress, Diane Jackson, aged 4, is not alone in her grief, for all the children in the neighborhood loved the furry little black cocker who bounded out to meet the school bus every afternoon as it let off its load of youngsters near the Winston post office, where Diane's mother, Mrs. Marion Jackson, is post-mistress.

This daily rendezvous had been going on for several years, Diane's grandmother, Mrs. Marshall Haughn, said. One could tell the time of day without the aid of a timepiece, she said, for "Cookie" would get up from her nap and scratch to be let out around 2 p. m. and again at 4, at which time the school bus unloaded her little friends.

The little dog died Tuesday night, possibly from poisoning.

Mrs. L. J. Fullerton is substitute teaching at the Dillard school this week.

The outside finish is being put on the new theater, the Ben-Etta, which is nearing completion in Winston. Seats for the building have not arrived, so as yet no opening date can be announced, the owner, Paul Bender of Roseburg, said.

Walter Leake, salesman for the Umquoc Tractor Co., made business calls throughout the valley Tuesday afternoon.

General Electric Takes Steps To Sue Macy's

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—The General Electric Co. has taken steps to sue Macy's in an attempt to halt price cutting on electrical appliances.

The court action is the first to be threatened against the big department store since a price war on electrical items began here two weeks ago.

GE affidavits, to be filed in state supreme court, allege that Macy's has been selling GE steam irons at $3.59 below the fair trade retail minimum of $17.95 and sandwich grills at $3 below the $14.95 minimums.

President Richard Weil Jr., of Macy's, declined to comment on the suit, except to say Macy's is ready to defend its pricing policy.

Trade circles feel that Macy's welcomes the suit as a test of fair trade laws that permit manufacturers to fix minimum prices.

DENTISTRY TO RESCUE

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—(AP)—Walnut Willy weeps no more. He's back in the trees at Centinela park, eating nuts the way nature intended.
