Cooking Veal Is Easy To Learn

By GAYNOR MADDOX
(NEA Staff Writer)

Meat cookery is the cornerstone of good family meals. Let's take a quick refresher course and eat better, work less and save money. Beth Bailey McLean, director of home economics for Swift & Co., has worked with me on this series.

Let's start with veal.

There are plentiful stocks of lightweight veal on the market. Of all cuts, the most popular and versatile are steaks or chops, cut ¼ to 1/3 inches thick.

Dishes from these delicately flavored steaks or chops range from simple to elaborate concoctions. In all recipes follow the same basic steps: Season veal steaks; dip in a flour, crumb, or similar coating; brown in hot fat and then braise slowly in a liquid until fork-tender and flavorful from 30 to 45 minutes.

For a different touch, instead of flour or crumbs, substitute cornmeal, crushed corn or bran flakes or fritter batter. In place of a small amount of water, add clear soup stock, milk, orange or pineapple juice or the juice from canned peaches or apricots.

Veal Scallopini is a special but more elaborate recipe. The intriguingly flavored sauce makes the difference.

Veal Scallopini
(6 servings)

One and one-half pounds veal steak cut ½-inch thick, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, ½ cup salad oil, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 clove garlic, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup shortening, 1 medium onion, sliced thin, green pepper, cut in strips, 1 can (10-oz) chicken bouillon, ¼ pound mushrooms, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 5 pimiento olives, sliced.

Cut veal into serving pieces. Make sauce by combining salt, paprika, oil, lemon juice, garlic, mustard, nutmeg, and sugar. Beat well, or shake in bottle to combine thoroughly. Lay veal flat in baking pan. Pour sauce over veal. Turn pieces of veal to coat with sauce. Let stand 15 minutes. Remove garlic.

Lift veal from sauce. Dip into flour. Brown well in heated shortening in skillet. Add onion and green pepper. Combine chicken boillon with remaining sauce and pour over veal. Cover and cook slowly until veal is tender—about 40 minutes.

Clean and slice mushrooms. Brown lightly in butter. Add mushrooms and olives to veal. Stir and dip sauce over veal. Cook about 5 minutes more.

Serve veal with sauce poured over it.

Lamb Helped By Garlic, Nutmeg

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Roast leg of lamb for Sunday! Wonderful idea, though not on the overly economical side unless every leftover bit is used in delicious ways on the folowing days.

Now here's a hint—use garlic and nutmeg to season the roast. Cut a small clove of garlic into slivers. Insert sharp knife deep into lamb in about 4 places. Withdraw knife and push sliver of garlic deep into the knife cut. Next, season lamb with salt and pepper. Give it a shake or two of nutmeg—no more. That's a trick the French use for delicious results.

To roast: Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open pan. Use no water. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) according to cooking schedule below. If a meat thermometer is used, roast to 175 degrees F. internal temperature for medium doneness, or to 182 degrees F. internal temperature for well-done roast.

If you have a three to five pound roast, keep it in the oven 35 minutes per pound for medium done-roast). For a six to eight pounder, roast 30 minutes per pound for medium doneness and 25 minutes if you like it browner.

Lamb shoulder, chops can be turned into a savory dish:

Savory Lamb Shoulder Chops
(4 servings)

Brown lamb chops thoroughly on both sides in heavy skillet. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over chops. Turn chops. Cover. Simmer 25 to 30 minutes, turning once during cooking. Add more water if necessary. Serve very hot.

Forgery Charge Filed Against Radio Analyst

KELSO, April 7.—(AP)—A charge of first degree forgery has been filed in superior court here against Erik Van Der Rygjyn, local radio commentator who disappeared last Friday. The prosecutor alleges he cashed a forged check for $213 at a local tavern before he departed. Van Der Rygjyn came here last December and won wide popularity for himself through his public appearances, during which he gave dozens and dozens of talks about his native South Africa.

Spring fever? Or just redecorating fever? Well, you can at least avoid hay fever and still have spring flowers on your table. Just go to LESTER'S GIFT AND MODEL SHOP, at 337 N. Jackson, and pick a bouquet of artificial flowers. You've never seen such a varied selection of artificial flowers: Iris, tulips, nasturtiums, small daisies, peanut roses, Lily of the Valley, and Double Shirley Poppies. With your bouquets, you'll want Bisque figurines. All-white, and unfinished, they can be colored with the same paints as the Dresden craft figurines. There are several clever figures . . . a seal, a pair of Angora cats, and a Dutch boy and girl. The Dutch boy has open pockets to hold your bouquet of Peanut Roses and Lily of the Valley. Get yours now, paint it yourself, and you'll have a unique ornament for your spring and summer tables.

The dinner hostess' hands are the focus of all eyes. Be sure yours are lovely and set off by pretty rings. ASHCRAFT JEWELERS, 106 S Jackson, have unusual new dinner rings in yellow gold. One is a group of three blue zircons surrounded by tiny white zircons in an oval shape. Another is an amethyst with two baguette-cut white zircons encircled by tiny white stones. A third is a genuine opal in the center of a square setting of white sapphires. Dinner rings are not only decorative jewels, but they offer a topic for conversation. Charming hostesses can keep the talk going from pretty things to prehistoric cultures, with these rings as a starting place. Buy her one of these, Daddy, for Easter or an anniversary or just because it's spring and you love her so much.

Something new and different at ROSEBURG PHARMACY, 241 N. Jackson. They're chocolate eggs, bunnies, and little bitty chickens, with a protective plastic wax shell that peels away. The kiddies can play with them or you can use them for party favors or mantelpiece decorations. After Easter, the plastic coverings can be easily removed for enjoyable eating. And won't the youngsters love that! There are a variety of cheerful colors to choose from in each of the various shapes, so buy enough to please the whole family. Just imagine—decorations that are edible! That's what you get when you buy these Peel-Away toys and party favors. Get yours now.

Did you know that CLARK'S STUDIO is having a baby contest? You are invited to enter your children in the contest, if they are between the ages of 6 weeks and 6 years. All customers of Clark's who purchase an 8" x 10" portrait of their children for $1.50 from April 15 to May 15, may enter the contest, and be eligible to receive one of the cash prizes totaling $105. You, the Public, will decide, by your vote, who the winners will be, but children are not eligible to vote. Cast your vote for your favorite, on display at Clark's Studio, 105 S. Jackson.

Have you been to see the lovely dolls at YOUNG'S DOLL & TOY SHOPPE? They have another line of costume dolls, the Hollywood Dolls. These have movable heads, arms, and legs, and sleeping eyes. Give your little queen a Queen for a Day doll, dressed in white with lace trimming, a golden crown and scarlet robe of velvet trimmed with ermine. Or your little star may prefer the Lucky Star doll, in white with blue net costume and ostrich plumes. The Lady of the Lake wears a turquoise dress sprinkled with gold stars and trimmed with white lace. Her bonnet matches. Other Hollywood Dolls are Lady Elaine, Cowboy, Cowgirl, Brides, and Nuns. You'll find Young's Doll & Toy Shoppe at 104 S. Main, just across from the Safeway parking lot.

Tasty sandwiches . . . made with crisp fresh lettuce and your favorite filling between slices of fresh bread. Where could you get more nourishment for such a little expense than at the ICE CREAMERY? When you're Easter shopping, you'll find the Ice Creamery's downtown location convenient. Go there for lunch or take time out during the afternoon for a snack. And after church on Easter Sunday, go there for homemade, freezer-fresh, Hi-Pak ice cream in pints or quarts. The Ice Creamery is open from eleven in the morning 'til eleven at night, every Sunday, so you can enjoy a sundae after the shows, too. There's a FREE quart of ice cream waiting for Gil W. Halderman, 2032 Catherine Ave. Go in and get a quart of your favorite flavor any day this week, Gil.

CLEO'S QUALITY BAKERY has Easter Bunny cookies for the little folks, and Easter cakes, too. The cakes are made of fluffy white angel food with butter cream icing. Candy eggs are nested in coconut in the center. Call 981-J and have Cleo put one away for you right now. And don't forget to order rolls for your Easter dinner. Cleo has delicious home-baked butter rolls or potato rolls, to complete your menu. Go to Cleo's, 314 N Jackson, for fresh baked goods for your every need.

Something for the children's Easter—a portable phonograph in maroon leatherette. It's the "Coral" at Ken Bushey's HARMONY HOUSE, 230 N. Jackson It plays the standard 78 rpm recordings and is nonautomatic, so it's just right for the junior high crowd. New recordings for old and young are "Let's Go to Church Next Sunday," by Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakely, and "Peter Cottontail," a new record sensation for the little folks. See Ken Bushey now, while he still has a complete stock of these records, as they are very popular.
