TONIGHT: Fireworks on "Meet the Press" (8:30-9:00 p. m.) when Miss Dorothy Kenyon, American representative to UNESCO and a key figure in the current Senate investigation of charges made by Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, is the interview-guest for this press-conference-on-the-air.

SUNDAY: Veterans hospital Easter Sunrise services go on the air at approximately 7:20 a. m., tape-recorded for a convenient listening release. Key figure to be heard during the ceremony is the Reverend Clark Robb of the North Roseburg church. Rita Johnson will be the hostess for the dramatization of "Royal Road," with screen star John Lund in the role of St. Matthew, the narrator, on "Family Theater" (4:00-4:30 p. m.). Ann Blyth, Bing Crosby, Ann Jannigan, Gordon MacRae, Jane Powell and John Charles Thomas are the six soloists to be heard on "The Triumphant Hour" (6:00-7:00 p. m.). Dramatic segments of the program will feature religious roles portrayed by Dan Dailey, Jimmy Durante, Mona Freeman, Ruth Hussey, Fibber McGee and Molly, J. Carroll Nash, Margaret O'Brien, Pat O'Brien, Rosalind Russell, Robert Ryan, Elizabeth Scott and Loretta Young. "The Triumphant Hour" will originate from Hollywood and New York... a full hour of drama, music, prayer, and The Rosary.

Stage, screen and radio star Gloria Swanson will be the guest panelist for Sunday's "Twenty Questions" session (8:00-8:30 p. m.). Bill Slater emcees. "Twenty Questions" is the basis for post-class history studies at a Columbia university dormitory. The program recently received word from undergraduates housed in the Hartley hall dormitory at the university, that they use the "Twenty Questions" format for studying their history assignments. The practice was originally started to provide a recreational pace between study sessions, but has now been integrated into their studies. Those students participating proudly claim that their marks are on the up-grade—and they proudly credit "Twenty Questions."

Don't miss—"Here Comes the Bride" in its Sunday evening debut broadcast (8:30-9:00 p. m.) when Miss Betty Crocker and Dawn Lillard get the full bride-and-groom interview treatment from Bob McCarll. Betty and Dawn are both Roseburg residents... plan their wedding for May 7... this year!

Mrs. Mead's third grade room in the Dillard school enjoyed a party Friday afternoon March 28. Mrs. Winston's third graders had challenged Mrs. Mead's room to a spell-down. Verna Jean Streight of Mrs. Mead's class was the winner and was presented a first prize badge by Mrs. Winston's room. Mrs. Mead's students have now challenged Mrs. Davidson's second grade to a spell-down of second grade words. Verna Streight and Jean Leher were still standing at the close of a review of second grade words. Games were played and prizes won. The room mother, Mrs. Jo Lester sent some cup cakes trimmed with green candy. Mrs. Mead brought home made fudge and green divinity. These were served by Jean Lester, Barbara Haughton, and Loretta Yahnke, who were monitors for the week.

Mrs. C. C. Fosback recently returned from a week and a half visiting in Portland at the home of Mrs. Fosback's mother, Mrs. Emma Fosback, and with Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Baker and infant daughter, Sally Patricia, Mrs. Patricia. Mrs. Fosback and her mother-in-law spent Sunday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fosback and family. On Wednesday afternoon she visited with Mrs. Beatrice Post, who is in Portland for medical attention.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Shockly went to the Veterans hobby show at Camp White near Medford last Sunday. They saw display of different kinds of woven rugs, some on looms, many woven baskets, designs, and outstanding works in hammered copper, and paintings, as well as textile paintings. These works of art were all made by the disabled veterans, and displayed in the Vets domiciliary.

Mrs. Stella Fennell and Mrs. Mabel Shockley attended the musical recital of the seventh, eighth and ninth grade spring festival at the Roseburg High School Friday afternoon. All the numbers were by the chorus except one by the group of beginners on the violin.

A telephone call was received Sunday by his parents from Oliver Fosback, who is stationed at the Naval Base in San Diego, to the effect that his hand was severely burned with live steam. He is having it treated at the dispensary. He reports that although the burns were very deep he is recovering satisfactorily.

A group of the Dillard ladies met at the church Tuesday morning, armed with scrubbing brushes and brooms to give the church a good spring house cleaning for the Sunday Easter service. The boys and Rev. W. W. Appleyard with pruning shears, rakes and a wheel barrow worked on the shrubbery outside of the church. At noon the "sack lunches" turned into a "feast" for Ethel Porter, Belle Clark, Evelyn Nickerson, Mercy Buell, Imogene Appleyard, Rosa Heinbach, Helen Buell, HESS Goltger, Mildred Mahoney, Lulu Post, Jo Lester, Jerry and Wayland Gentry, Westly Fennell, Don and Neal Goltger and Roger Nickerson, and Richard Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas entertained with a turkey dinner Tuesday evening at their home on Robert's creek. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Heinbach Sr., Ina Lee and Warren, and Dick Paul and George Jr. Thomas, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

Mrs. Vera Rice reports she was called to the home of a very old friend, Mrs. Tom Havens, who is seriously ill with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Havens have lived in the

Marshall Plan Ups Crops Of Western Europe

WASHINGTON —P—The Economic Cooperation Administration says the Marshall plan has enabled western Europe to "reap rich harvests from thousands of acres of land which never before produced anything of value."

The recovery agency said European nations have spent funds equivalent to $13,700,000 in drainage and irrigation projects. It said France, for example, will harvest crops this year from a Normandy swamp "which Frenchmen have been trying to reclaim for centuries."

community around Green and Dillard, for many years. They were members of the Evergreen Grange for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Rice Jr. and daughter, Glenda, were guests of Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Young Sr. of Garden Valley on Sunday, April 2. The occasion honored the birthday of Mrs. Young. Other relatives of Mrs. Young gathered to celebrate with a pot-luck dinner.

Dale Moore reports that his mother, Mrs. Vic Phipps, of Roseburg is recovering slowly from her recent illness. Mrs. Phipps owns large ranches in the Dillard and Willis creek community, and is well-known in this area.

The junior high group of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Dillard church met Sunday at 5:30 p. m. Mrs. Elva Forrest, leader, conducted the meeting opening with the group singing, accompanied by Mrs. W. W. Appleyard. The group worked on painting their figurines. Those present were Dorothy Davis, Marval Covey, Sonja Fedrick, Valma Post, Lois Fosback, Richard Anderson, Bobbie Post, Ross Goodwin, Bobby Tedricks, Frank Collins, Mitchell Anderson, Dean Nelson and Ina Lee Heinbach.

Levi Gourley's raking up of the prunings of his orchard in Dillard on the highway Tuesday night turned into quite a lively party. A dozen children gathered around to watch the large back-rake gathering up all the limbs in front of the tractor, driven by Mr. Gourley. The limbs were piled high and set ablaze, much to the amusement of the children. Games were played, a lot of weiners and huns appeared on the scene and a great time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Laurance and daughter, Pamela, and son, Nickie, went to Eugene Monday and Tuesday. They combined business, pleasure and Easter shopping.

Miss Teresa Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Murphy, has been ill in Mercy hospital since last Thursday with bronchial pneumonia. She is recovering satisfactorily, it is reported. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and family bought the Bill Blair place on Highway 99 last July and moved into the neighborhood from Roseburg. Teresa graduated from high school last year.

A combined meeting of the Home Extension unit and the PTA Study club is scheduled for Wednesday, April 12, at the home of Mrs. Louise Ollivant. The Extension group will meet at 10 a. m. with a discussion on home freezing of foods led by Mrs. Bessie Wylie and Mrs. Helen Schulze, who attended a recent demonstration conducted by Mrs. Corrine McTaggart, county home extension leader. A potluck dinner will be held at noon and the afternoon session given over to the PTA Study club with Mrs. Grace Forbes leader. She will develop the topic of "Planning the Home." A cordial invitation to attend these meetings has been extended to all women of the valley.

Miss Mary Esther Monger was a guest last weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Monger and brothers, Victor and David. Esther is spending the winter and spring with relatives on the coast and attending school in that vicinity.

Officers of the three valley telephone lines will meet next Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the school house to confer with C. E. Akers, special representative of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, in negotiations regarding the contemplated change of the Roseburg exchange to the dial system.

Mrs. Guy Harbaugh and Mrs. Arthur Marsh spent last weekend in Portland, where the former visited her sister and attended noted musical events. Mrs. Marsh attended a conference of the board of trustees of the WCTU Children's Farm home with Mr. Duila of the National Child Welfare League of America. He has recently completed a survey of child welfare agencies in Oregon.
