

Camp Fire Girls Raising Funds By Candy Mint Sale

The proverbial eager beaver has nothing on Camp Fire Girls. They're busy, too. To raise funds for summer camping, Camp Fire Girls are selling candy mints, and their goal is not just the sale of a box here and a box there but hundreds and hundreds of boxes, enough to make their selected project a mission completed.

According to Mrs. T. H. Pargeter, general chairman of the sale, Camp Fire Girls look forward to selling candy mints, not only because it is a means to an end, but because one of the secrets of success in the Camp Fire program is based, is business. "The girls will learn to be super-salesmen while the candy mint sale is on, and they'll get a first hand knowledge of budgeting, supply and demand, keeping accounts, and a dozen other phases of business life," she said.

So the next time your doorbell rings it may be a tiny Blue Bird (Blue Birds are the junior members of the Camp Fire family), not much bigger than the white sample box she carries in her hand, said Mrs. Pargeter. The boxes are especially designed and are easily identifiable by the Camp Fire Girls symbol—crossed logs and a flame—embossed on the cover. The Camp Fire Girls are selling the mints door-to-door with each girl given a quota of at least ten boxes. A Mint may be ordered by calling the Camp Fire office, 969-L.

School Problems Worst Ever Faced By Roseburg

Slide colored pictures, which he took while stationed in England at the close of the war, were shown by Dr. Burt Gilpin of the Veterans hospital staff at the weekly Lions club meeting Thursday night in the Hotel Umpqua.

The pictures were scenes of various well-known English cities, including Stratford-On-Avon, the birthplace of Shakespeare; Cheltenham, the American army headquarters in England; Southampton and other prominent European cities, including Le Havre, France.

Dr. Gilpin contrasted life in England with life in this country. He pointed out the numerous scenic parks the British build within their cities, since the shortage of cars keep the people very much at home. He showed building types and explained methods of heating, which are antiquated compared to the methods used in the United States.

Some of the war damage from bombing was shown also, and Dr. Gilpin discussed affects of the war on the people.

Contest Decided
Matt Slankard's team was winner over that of Pete Mutschbacher in an attendance contest. Contest chairman Earl Henry advised each member of the losing team to bring a pen knife and a bar of soap to next Thursday's meeting, and that the penalty against the losers will be imposed.

Program Chairman Dr. E. W. Carter announced a discussion program on the airport bond issue election June 6. The discussion in a form of "mock" debate will be handled by two teams, headed by Phil Harth and Ross Newcomb. It will be held the second Thursday in May.

The club's square dance, which is being sponsored by the Lady Lions, will be held Saturday, starting at 8 p.m. at the Roseburg Country club.

Announcement was made by Ray Benston, that investiture services for the Lions sponsored Boy Scout troop will be April 25. Arthur Rich is the scoutmaster, and Benston, Conrad Clune, George Foster and Pat Manning are members of the sponsoring committee.

A letter was read from Dr. L. M. Lebrach, who recently underwent surgery for the removal of his arm at Rochester, Minn. His condition is reported as very satisfactory.

NEGRO SLAYER HANGED

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 14.—(AP)—Eugene Lamore, alias Austin Rullan, was hanged today in the federal jail for his part in the robbery slaying of Jim Ellen, a Juneau groceryman, in December, 1946.

Lamore was implicated in the slaying by Austin Nelson shortly before the latter was hanged here March 1, 1948, for the same crime. Hanging of the 42-year-old Negro was the ninth such execution in the territory of Alaska and the third in Juneau.

Oregon Carpenters Ask Changes In Jobless Pay

KLAMATH FALLS, April 14.—(AP)—Oregon State council of carpenters, optimistic over employment this year, went into its second day of its annual meeting here today.

The AFL delegates will take up resolutions tomorrow, among them one demanding a change in unemployment compensation regulations. It attacks the provision that requires a person to go one week without employment before drawing a compensation check.

Another asserted the office of the State Labor Commissioner was lax in safety inspections. The resolution calls for the state to provide more money and personnel for such inspections.

IMITATION COSTLY
MALONE, N. Y., April 14.—(AP)—Two-year-old Michael Moutz watched his father grind hamburger, then tried to imitate him. The toddler visited the meat market yesterday. When his father, Robert, turned his back, the child climbed on a chair and thrust his hand into the top of the meat grinder.

Surgeons had to amputate his hand.

G. O. P. Conservatives Target Of Gov. Dewey

tive bargaining, bank deposit insurance, regulation of security exchange and old age and survivors insurance," he said.

But the difference between the two parties, he said, lay in their respective approach to the solution of the assorted problems. "There are many routes to each objective," Dewey said. "The true liberal will seek every good social objective by the safer route, even though it may be harder or slower."

Socialized Medicine Rapped
Dewey said the Republicans agreed that government should have a part in supporting agriculture and guiding labor. But he was firmly opposed to any general plan for compulsory health insurance. He spent almost a third of his 80-minute talk assailing socialized medicine as a financial and medical impossibility.

Dewey said the Republican party thought that a government ought to exert its influence on the economy mainly through sound monetary and fiscal policies with no direct controls on prices, wages or investments. Such controls, he said, were "the gadgetry of totalitarianism."

In a question-and-answer exchange later, Dewey was asked if he might run for president again a third time. He laughed and referred to his last post-election disclaimer and said he had not changed his mind.

Burglars Take $9,200 In Jewels

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—(AP)—Police early today said burglars took $9,200 in jewels from Nancy Oakes, the heiress who figured in the sensational 1943 Bahaman murder trail.

West Los Angeles police said the gems were taken from the Donald M. Nelson home in Coldwater Canyon where the former wife of Vichy government, would attempt to reopen his case next month.

Isorni said Petain had instructed him to "seek his vindication if necessary even after his death."

The plea for the new trial, Isorni declared, would be based upon "new facts which included about ten passages from the recently published memoirs of Admiral William D. Leahy, who was U. S. envoy to Vichy from 1940 to 1942."

Petaim was first sentenced to death for treason and collaboration in August, 1945. But because of his old age the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on the lonely prison island off France's Atlantic coast.

Since his imprisonment there have been numerous heated movements demanding his release. To many in France he is still considered a hero for his successes in the First World war.

Petaim's wife, who visits him every day, has said, however, that the aged marshal is too feeble to be moved to his old estate in the south of France even if he were exonerated.

During Petaim's trial he asked Admiral Leahy to come to France to testify in his behalf. Leahy said he was unable to appear, but a letter from him was read in court declaring that Petaim had "expressed the hope of Nazi destruction."

Petaim's lawyer would not reveal what passages from Leahy's book would be used, but he said the facts revealed had been confirmed in some measure by President Truman.

Uniform Financial Law For Motorists Forecast

SALEM.—(AP)—All states will have uniform financial responsibility laws within a few years, Secretary of State Newberry says.

The financial responsibility law is the law which makes motorists put up a bond or show they have liability insurance after they have an accident. Oregon is one of the first states to have such a law.

Newberry, president of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, has returned from regional meetings of the association at San Antonio, Texas, and Phoenix, Ariz.

Newberry said 40 states now have the law.

Vet Freed After Year In Jail Under 142-Yr.-Old Law

RUTLAND, Vt., April 14.—(AP)—A young army combat veteran jailed for more than a year under a 142-year-old Vermont law planned today to "try and get that job I was promised in 1948."

Bernard J. Smith Jr., 24, of Fair Haven, was set free by a three-man jail commission yesterday after he swore his personal attachable property was less than $20. He was allowed to take a poor debtor's oath.

Smith, who was the last to go free of three veterans sentenced under a 1908 law for failure to satisfy judgments in civil suits, said he was "tickled to get out."

He was committed to jail Feb. 10, 1948, for failing to pay a $2,570 judgment awarded Mrs. Mary L. Mangan in connection with the death of her son, James, who was struck by an automobile driven by Smith.

The civil judgment will stand for eight years. During that time any of his cash or property worth more than $20 is subject to attachment to satisfy the claim.

"Thank God it's over," Smith said as he bade jailer Pearl M. Holland farewell.

"I'm extremely grateful to everybody. My plans are a bit indefinite yet, but I'm going home and try to get that job I was promised in 1948 in the electrical shop."

Petaim Will Seek To Erase Taint Of Traitor Verdict

PARIS.—(AP)—Aging Marshal Philippe Petaim, serving a life sentence on Ile d'Yeu as a traitor to France, will seek a court reversal of his condemnation, his attorney said.

The attorney, Jacques Isorni, said the 94-year-old marshal, who surrendered France to the Nazis in 1940 and headed the puppet Vichy government, would attempt to reopen his case next month.

Isorni said Petaim had instructed him to "seek his vindication if necessary even after his death."

The plea for the new trial, Isorni declared, would be based upon "new facts which included about ten passages from the recently published memoirs of Admiral William D. Leahy, who was U. S. envoy to Vichy from 1940 to 1942."

City Police Plan To Crack Down On Peddlers

City police have served notice that a crackdown is being made on all peddlers operating within the city without a license.

Ex-Convicts Arrested On Armed Robbery Count

PENDELTON, April 14.—(AP)—Two ex-convicts, wanted in Seattle for armed robbery, were picked up here by police shortly after midnight today. They were identified as William Archie Miller, 28, and John Boggs, 30.

Miller resisted arrest, said Police Chief Charles Lemons. He was seized by one of the officers before he could draw the .45 automatic from his belt, said Lemons.

The two made a useless try to break out of jail by breaking off part of a steampipe bracket, said Lemons.

Miller and Boggs were driving a new, expensive car, loaded with safe cracking equipment, three rifles and a skeet gun, ammunition and a pair of field glasses.

Point 4 Program Of President Not Adequate, Claim

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—(AP)—The United States was challenged today to help bring about a "social revolution" in the "underdeveloped countries of the world."

President Truman's point four program is not enough, the American Academy of Political and Social Science was told by George Hakim, counselor of the legation of Lebanon.

Hakim was one of a half-dozen speakers at a symposium on point four at the academy's 54th annual meeting.

The point four program, as conceived by the President, would supply U. S. economic know-how to the war-ravaged countries of the world. The President called it a "bold new program."

Hakim said the program is "too small to provide any effective contribution" to the economic development of poverty-stricken nations.

The masses of the underdeveloped lands, which Hakim said made up two-thirds of the world's population, "are not interested in concepts of free enterprise, free competition, democracy and human rights."

It is necessary first to live and not to starve," he asserted.

And, he said, point four improperly places too great an emphasis on (1) free enterprise and (2) private capital.

"The poverty-stricken, diseased-ridden masses of what have been called the underdeveloped countries of the world," Hakim said, "are slowly awakening to the misery of their condition."

"Whatever gain has been obtained for the national economy (of the underdeveloped countries) was mainly received by the upper classes constituting a small minority of the population. . . . but the majority of the people continue to live as they have lived for centuries on a level of bare subsistence."

"What is needed," the Lebanese official said, "is no less than a social revolution involving the transformation of a semi-feudal reactionary social order into a new industrial system under which the forces of production can develop and expand freely so as to raise the standard of living of the people at a whole."

City Police Plan To Crack Down On Peddlers

City police have served notice that a crackdown is being made on all peddlers operating within the city without a license.

The city ordinance on peddling specifically makes it an offense to operate within the city without first obtaining a license approved by the city.

Combat Planes Long Way Behind Speed Of Light

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—It will be a long time before most U. S. combat planes catch up with the speed of sound, a navy aeronautics expert says. He said supersonic planes are just too expensive to operate.

"While supersonic aircraft operation is now technically feasible," declared C. C. Sorgen of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, "it is also tremendously expensive because of the brute force required for propulsion."

"For many years to come, with the exception of high performance interceptor fighters and guided missiles, the bulk of our service combat aircraft will be so-called subsonic aircraft," he told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

American homes use 15,000,000 tons of ice a year.

Waitress Found Slain At Bottom Of Cliff

SAN JOSE, Calif., April 14.—(AP)—A waitress was found savagely bludgeoned yesterday, clothing of small children wrapped around her battered head.

The body of Mrs. Helen May Piper, 27, mother of three, was draped over a fallen tree at the bottom of a 25-foot bluff.

A brother-in-law, Hubert McAtee, said she was employed at his small cafe in nearby Mountain View and resided in a trailer there.

A cook, Mrs. Mary Carver, said the waitress came to work at midnight Wednesday, had a telephone argument with someone and left.

Sheriff Howard Hornbuckle questioned Mrs. Piper's estranged husband, Henry, 28. There were no arrests.
