Weather Change Cause Of Colds, Doctor Claims

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
BOSTON. — (AP) — The common cold is probably not caused by a virus as you have been told for many years, nor by germs of any sort. Instead grandfather was right when he said it was caused by the weather.

This surprising view of colds was given to the American College of Physicians by Dr. William J. Kerr, of San Francisco, and of the University of California school of medicine. Dr. Kerr is eminent. His opinions he explained are backed by a lot of laboratory experiments.

He said he doesn't believe that colds are caused by any living organism, except that flu, gripple and some other diseases can damage the nose and so start a cold. The usual causes, he said, are dusts, gases, emanations and especially those changes in the nose which come with changes in weather.

After an even temperature all summer, he said, you get cold fall weather. Your nasal passages get over-cooled. The same over-cooling happened in early days of air-conditioning when buildings and train temperatures were kept down to 60 in summer.

All these changes damage the nasal passages. And that damage starts a cold. Germs multiply and make it worse. The cold lasts until the nasal damage is repaired.

Dr. Kerr said lots of things happen with weather changes which go unnoticed as possible causes of colds.

An example is when a whole neighborhood starts furnaces on the same day in the fall. The nasal passages get a lot of unaccustomed dust and gas.

Dr. Kerr said you don't have to believe a virus causes colds just because there are epidemics. The epidemic does not spread from person to person, he said, but is something that a lot of people have because they are all exposed at the same time to nose damage.

A person living a hundred miles from anyone, who cannot possibly get an infection from another human, still shows up with a common cold when the weather is bad, he said.

No Breakfast Means Efficiency Reduction

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (AP) — If you skipped breakfast this morning, you can expect:

Up to a 40 percent loss in efficiency, as compared with having had a good breakfast.

No real help in losing weight by missing the day's first meal.

These were the findings in studies of breakfast habits reported by Dr. W. W. Tuttle, professor of physiology at the University of Iowa, and Kate Daum, head of nutrition at the university's hospital.

No-breakfast means a greater loss of efficiency for men than for women, they told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Women suffered an average of 25 percent reduction in efficiency, men higher.

Baker Plans $1,858,000 7-Year School Program

BAKER, April 21 — (AP) — A $1,858,000 seven-year program for construction of new schools and remodeling old ones, including completion of a new high school building here in 1950, will be submitted to voters at a special election May 12.

The program would involve the authorization of a new 14-year bond issue amounting to $700,000 and a seven-year serial tax levy totaling $686,000. Total cost of the seven-year program would be approximately $1,858,000. Of this amount $492,000 is on hand now.

Heavy Losses In Wheat Crops Of 7 States Foreseen

HAYS, Kas., — (AP) — A. W. Erickson, Minneapolis crop reporter touring the wheat belt, says the 1950 crop is "fast developing into the worst wheat fade-out since 1935."

Erickson said he has completed the survey of 20 million acres of wheat land out of the 33,000,000 acres planted last year in the seven plains wheat states. Out of the 20 million acres, in Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico, he considers 13 million acres a total loss.

"This is the worst crop report I have had to file in 15 years. What looked in January like a fair crop has turned into a near fiasco," Erickson added.

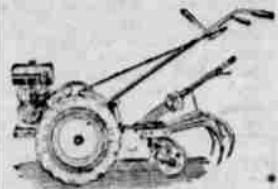

Erickson said greenbugs, root rot, drought and dry weather winter kill are the causes for the rapid deterioration of the crop.

"It is too late for rain to do any good now for the hard hit areas," he added.

Erickson said his survey had shown three and one-half million acres of wheat in southeast Colorado and a larger part of southwest Kansas is now "beyond help."

The remaining four million acres may make 10 bushels an acre, he added, well below average production.
