

Homemakers Tell Required House Dress Qualities

A good house dress, Oregon homemakers say, combines good looks with comfort, freedom of motion and durability.

Homemakers outlined these views in a survey conducted by Mrs. Clara Edaburn, associate home economist for the OSC experiment station, as the first step in a new experiment station research project aimed at developing house dress designs that better meet the needs and tests here in Oregon.

Ninety-three percent of the women polled said they want house dresses that would be suitable for shopping and informal meetings. Less than 50 percent said they wear the house dresses for work in the garden.

Seventy-eight percent of the women make all or some of their own house dresses with the range from 4 to 10 home-made dresses a year. Nine out of 10 said they prefer medium weight materials such as prints, percale and chambray.

A low open type neckline is preferred to a high, close neckline by practically all of the women, with a tailored or simple collar being first choice in neckline design.

Fastened-down facings are preferred by 9 out of 10. A wide variety of fastenings was suggested with zippers as first choice; buttons, second, and gripper type fasteners, third. A flat shape button was preferred over a button with machine-worked buttonhole.

Two-thirds of the homemakers like short, elbow length sleeves best. Only 2 percent voted for no sleeves. A separate, loose belt was preferred over other types and the buckle was the number one choice for belt fastener.

Flared skirts were ranked slightly higher than gathered skirts, or circular skirts. Patch pockets are preferred by 79 percent of the women, and a majority of the homemakers want the pockets high on the skirt.

Mrs. Edaburn and Mrs. MaNette Franz, research assistants, are analyzing the survey findings in their dress and pattern studies. Particular emphasis is being given to sleeve design at the present time. Once the final designs have been approved, the patterns will be made available to commercial pattern companies and dress manufacturers.

Flood Control Plans Draw OKs And Protests

The stream which would disturb those migrating fish present.

The brief held the same conditions to be true of the lower river projects. However, exception was taken to the installation of tide gates on two creeks because of the inadequate fish passages they said such a move would provide.

The two-hour afternoon session at the county court house ended the public hearing, presided over by Lt. Col. George Finlay, executive officer for the Portland district, corps of engineers.

Representatives of each of the affected areas in which projects are proposed were on hand to offer approval and in some cases, to voice objections to the flood control proposals. Persons representing Sutherlin were told how to form a district to pay for the project slated for Sutherlin creek.

Dillard Grade Students Broadcast At Eugene

On Thursday, April 20, the children of the third and fourth grades of Dillard school took a trip to Eugene in the school buses. About 70 made the trip, accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Ulah Winston, Mrs. Florence Mead, Mrs. Lois Krug, and Mrs. Ellen Pennie. They were among the 4,000 grade school pupils who came to participate in the sixth annual big broadcast of the "Let's Sing, America" program over radio station K.O.A.C.

The children were seated at McArthur court, in their school groups. Some of the songs to be broadcast were practiced, and numbers were played by the university band. The 45-minute broadcast was under the direction of Miss Maude Garnett, director of the program. A studio group, made up of university music students, assisted Miss Garnett in directing the show. Piano accompaniment was provided and the university band also played during the program.

During an entertainment period following the broadcast, the Girl and Boy Scouts of Lebanon did square dancing.

The Dillard group came directly home after the entertainment. One rest stop was made at the Drain school on the ride to Eugene in the morning.

Woman Driver Accused In Death Of Her Sister

LAKEVIEW, April 27.—(AP)—A Lakeview woman was charged Wednesday with negligent homicide in the highway death of her sister Tuesday night.

The victim was Mrs. Paul Oliver, mother of three. She was crushed when the car in which she was riding left the highway four miles south of here and overturned last night.

Wednesday, District Attorney Robert Welch filed in justice court two charges against Mrs. Ole Overton, Lakeview, sister of Mrs. Oliver. One alleges that she was driving the car while her driver's license was revoked. The other charges negligent homicide.

She was bound over to the grand jury and released on her own recognizance.

Chrysler Strike Hangs On But Parley Progresses

DETROIT, April 27.—(AP)—A record night-long bargaining session failed today to bring a settlement in the Chrysler strike, now entering its 93rd day.

Both Chrysler Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed, however, some progress had been made.

Both sides indicated they were making a determined effort to effect a settlement that would return 89,000 Chrysler workers to the job.

School Merger Elections Held In County Areas

Outcome of a consolidation election held in Leona and Cold Springs school districts was still being awaited today by the county school superintendent's office.

The election was held Monday night, said Superintendent Kenneth Barneburg. Information has been received that the election carried with no opposing votes at Cold Springs, but no word has come from Leona.

In other recent consolidation elections, Buck Creek and Sunnydale, voted to consolidate with Drain, effective July 1. These districts have been sending their children to Drain on a tuition basis.

Hayhurst, which has been sending its students to Yoncalla on a tuition basis, has voted to join the Yoncalla district July 1. Reston has joined with Tenmile, but Upper Olalla recently defeated a consolidation movement to also join with Tenmile.

Barneburg said Tenmile is planning to add four rooms to its building, and Winchester is also planning to add two and possibly four more rooms to its school.

If the Leona-Cold Springs consolidation carries a new building will be needed there. Curtin residents are considering a move to join these two districts, if they unite.

Barneburg announced he has been informed the new Oakland high school has been approved as meeting state standards, as to building, equipment and teachers have qualified for their positions.

Quick Ending Of Railway Dispute Not Indicated

CHICAGO, April 27.—(AP)—Prospects for a quick peace appeared dim today as talks began in a new effort to avert a major railroad strike.

Railroad and union officials were summoned to a government arranged conference to settle a dispute which almost led to a strike yesterday on four major lines.

The strike issue is the union's demand that the railroads hire an additional fireman for multiple unit diesel locomotives. The engines now are operated by one engineer and one fireman.

The union contends an extra man is needed for safety. The railroads say another fireman would be unnecessary. Two fact-finding boards named by the White House have held that present crews are ample.

DRUNK IS 'FLOATED'

City police reported today the arrest of Frank Garcia, 39 of Sacramento, Calif., on a drunk charge. Garcia pleaded guilty in municipal court and was given a $20 fine, suspended on condition that he leave town immediately, Judge Ira B. Riddle said.

NEA Telephone CONVICTED—Harold A. Mohr, 36, shows no emotion as he leaves court in Allentown, Pa., where he was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the mercy-killing of his blind, cancer-ridden brother, Walter, 55, last March 8. The jury returned its verdict after deliberating four hours and 35 minutes and recommended mercy.

Bible Academy Choir Sings At Eugene Meet

The Canyonville Bible academy chartered a bus Saturday and went to Eugene where the academy choir sang at a Youth for Christ meeting at Woodrow Wilson junior high school. The choir members stayed overnight and on Sunday morning sang at the church services at the Assembly of God church in Eugene. Enroute home they sang at the Assembly of God church in Sutherlin Sunday evening.

Miss Adena Seguire, director, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaffer accompanied the group. Shaffer, secretary, spoke concerning the Canyonville Bible academy at each of the services.

CBA Students To Give Play At Church Here

"The Isles Wait" is the title of a play to be presented by three Canyonville Bible academy students at the Assembly of God church in Roseburg Tuesday night, May 2. The play relates true missionary incidents most of which took place during the war. It is written by Mrs. Fred Walton of Portland. The cast includes Lois Collins, Jasmine Rickabaugh and Doris Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunbar of Canyonville, who have been on a missionary tour recently, will be guest speakers at the missionary service meeting.

Amateur Talent Bidden To Try Out For Coming Show

If you have a hidden talent, you will soon be given an opportunity to make it known.

The Roseburg Active club has announced plans for an amateur show, which will be held May 16 in the junior high school auditorium.

In order to assure the best possible local entertainment, auditions are to be held in the junior high school Saturday, May 6, announced general chairman Kenneth Atterbury.

All amateurs who would like to tryout are urged to be on hand at that time. Selections of talent will be made with a view toward obtaining a well-rounded program.

Notice of the auditions are being sent out to all the schools and a large turnout is hoped for, said Atterbury. Wives of Active club members, headed by Mrs. Atterbury, will assist in selecting the talent.

The amateur show will be on a contest basis, with prizes to be awarded to the outstanding contestants in each division.

Mayor Al Fliege, has agreed to serve as master of ceremonies. Jim Oakley, John Dingley and Vic Lewis were named to secure prizes, and Dick Gilman and Leroy Inman named on publicity.

Robt. W. Chilson Elected Mayor Of Lampoc, Calif.

Robert W. Chilson, former Roseburg resident, has been elected mayor of Lampoc, Calif., according to word received by his father, B. F. Chilson.

A graduate of the Roseburg schools, Chilson is proprietor of a bakery at Lampoc. He has served two years as a member of the city council, is a past president of the Lampoc Kiwanis club, a member of the city recreation commission and the Shrine club. He has been very active in youth work. He recently donated the lights for the Lampoc high school athletic field.

Parley In Phone Dispute Brighter

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—The first company wage offer to 10,000 striking telephone installation workers was expected today in a brighter overall phase of negotiations between the Bell Telephone system and the CIO Communications Workers of America.

The installation workers' union division 6 yesterday announced the forthcoming pay parley and said it would cover all wage issues. The company made no comment.

The installation employees, on strike throughout the nation since Monday, have refrained from picketing—a action that could tie up telephone exchanges over the nation because some 240,000 other telephone workers probably would not cross their picket lines.

The installation men are demanding a minimum $2.25 hourly wage after eight years. The union said the present wage after six years is $1.89 an hour in some areas and $1.37 in others, with a "merit" top of $2.15.

CLASS TAKES TOUR

The senior social problems class and teacher, Miss Lorraine Hunt, of the Canyonville Bible academy, Canyonville, went to Roseburg Tuesday and spent the day touring various places of interest, among which were the News-Review, Douglas county court house, Veteran's hospital, and the Chapel of the Roses mortuary. At noon they enjoyed a picnic dinner at Umpqua park.

Students Clash With Police In N. Y. City Rush

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Thousands of jeering students, demanding "more pay for our teachers" marched on city hall today but were repulsed by police.

Mounted patrolmen spurred their horses into the front ranks of the angry demonstrators, blocking their attempt for a third successive day to storm the office of Mayor William O'Dwyer.

The yelling, hooting youngsters converged on city hall plaza from scores of schools through the city. In Brooklyn, 20,000 students cut classes to mill in protest in front of their school buildings.

Five students were taken into custody there.

They are demanding increased pay for their teachers and resumption of out-of-class activities, canceled by the refusal of teachers to supervise them under current salaries.

Superintendent of Schools William Jansen blamed "subversive groups" for yesterday's siege of city hall by 3,000 screaming students.

The new city budget calls for $250 yearly pay increases for high school teachers, instead of a requested $650. The teachers, in protest, have refused to take part in after-hours activities.

Lack of faculty supervision has forced cancellation of spring proms and athletic events.

Last night the mayor said there would be no change in the budget.

J. A. McGaughey Dies Suddenly

John Alexander McGaughey, 71, died suddenly this morning, April 27, of a heart attack. He had come to Roseburg two days ago from Eugene to convalesce from an operation at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leah Rand. He was born June 21, 1878, in Greenville, Tenn., and was a former resident of Roseburg, living here from 1917 until 1939. He moved then to Castle Rock, Wash., where he had lived since and had engaged in the farming industry.

He was a member of the Methodist church and of the Modera Woodman.

Surviving are his widow, Etta, Castle Rock, Wash., who is in Roseburg at the present time; a son, Sam McGaughey, Roseburg; two daughters: Mrs. Leah Rand, Roseburg; Mrs. Maud Bryan, North Bend; a brother, Ed Castle, Rock Island, Wash.; three sisters: Mrs. Anna Reeves, Mrs. Maud Landmesser and Mrs. Fannie Masters, all of Greenville, Tenn., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be announced later by the Roseburg Funeral home.

Canyonville Firemen Slate Second Dance

The Canyonville volunteer fire department will stage its second modern dance Friday night.

Jack Foster, his trumpet and orchestra of Roseburg, will furnish music for the affair. The department had its first dance a month ago and it proved to be such a success that people demanded they have another one.

The dance will be held at the community hall in Canyonville and the public is invited to attend.

John Bingham, Jr. is chairman of the dance. Odom Ford is fire chief.
