The answers to everyday insurance problems By KEN BAILEY

QUESTION: What advantage, if any is there in carrying "Comprehensive" insurance on a car? It is always mentioned with fire and theft insurance and is supposed to cover about everything, but I notice I still have to buy collision and public liability and property damage insurance anyway.

ANSWER: Actually the "comprehensive" fire and theft insurance policy is the best form to buy. It costs very little more than the ordinary fire and theft policy and its coverage is much broader. The insurance company makes certain exceptions for which it will not be liable but assumes responsibility for just about any other form of damage. Even stains, damage from falling objects and glass breakage are covered under this policy.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
