Williams Will Meet Ted Bell On Armory Mat

(By The Associated Press)

Eddie Williams, the colorful little Scotsman, didn't really want to sign for a match here this week, but a chance to meet Ted Bell, the "Jersey Whip", persuaded him. Williams dropped a close coast title match to Jack O'Reilly here last week and he thought he should have a chance for a return engagement — and was holding out for just that. But the Springfield, Mo., matman was interested in making a study of Bell's spectacular technique and he signed for the opening match at the Roseburg armory Saturday for that main purpose.

Atlas, Katonen in Feature

The main event will be a long-awaited battle between the Great Atlas and the best available aggressive and rugged matman available — Paavo Katonen. The Atlas-Katonen match is what Douglas county grappling addicts requested — and that's what they'll get. Matchmaker Elton Owen announced.

As far as wins and losses are concerned, the Atlas-Katonen skirmish will provide only prestige for the winner. But from the spectators' standpoint, they're sure they'll witness one of the roughest, toughest and most colorful bouts of the season. Owen said it was a matter of Katonen or Leo Wallick, and when Katonen was awarded a victory over Wallick in Eugene last Saturday, the great Finnish matman was signed.

The former "Mr. America", reputed to be the strongest human in the world, stated when he signed with Katonen, that he doubted if the Finn would give him a workout, let alone a hard match, and said he was toying with the idea of giving another exhibition of his strength in a preliminary showing — just to prove that Katonen is "just like the other second-raters."

Katonen will be using a head butt and a neckbreaker (reverse flying mare) in an effort to match Atlas' main forte — the full Nelson.

The one-hour opener, getting underway at 8:45 p.m., will attract considerable interest. The fans like Williams and his giant swing with which he beat O'Reilly in one fall and also won the third and decision fall. Bell's "Jersey Whip", a combination face and hammerlock, will be employed against Williams.

Because he anticipated fireworks and wants to be in the ringside to take care of any trouble, Owen said that he has signed Jack Poppenheimer, giant Portland Dutchman, as referee for both bouts.

Rainiers Buy Rackley From Cincinnati Reds

CINCINNATI, May 12 — (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have sold outfielder Marvin Rackley to Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Rackley batted .303 in 74 games last year with Brooklyn.

The Reds were reported to have paid a fancy figure for him, he appeared in the lineup only twice this season — each time as a pinch hitter. He got one hit in two times at bat.
