Chicken Needs Good Stuffing

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Good bread stuffing is the birthright of every roast chicken. Here's a recipe very popular in the central part of the United States.

Bread Dressing

(Yield: stuffing for neck region and body cavity of 4-pound New York dressed chicken)

Four tablespoons fat, 1/4 cup minced onion, 1 cup diced celery, 4 cups bread cubes, firmly packed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/4 to 1 cup stock, water or milk.

Cook onion and celery in fat over low heat, stirring occasionally, until onion is soft, but not browned. Meanwhile, blend seasoning with bread cubes. Add onion, celery and fat. Blend. Pour the stock over surface, stirring lightly. Add more seasoning as desired. Note: For giblet dressing, brown chopped, cooked giblets in fat before onion and celery are added. Proceed as above.

Grace White, food editor of Family Circle Magazine, has a new idea. She likes to roast her chicken cut in serving pieces. She goes even further. Sometimes she browns the pieces in butter lightly, then pours a rich popover batter in a shallow pan and lays the browned pieces of chicken in it. She bakes it in a moderately hot oven. It's wonderful—puffy, brown and crumbly! Serve it with a cream giblet gravy.

Her roast chicken barbecue is novel too. She roasts it in serving pieces and keeps having it with a barbecue sauce. Now just imagine this with a mountain of mashed potatoes!

Mashed potatoes—but give them loving care Willie's way. Willie cooked for us in Georgia one winter. Her husband doubled as butcher and assistant potato masher.

Dry boiled potatoes until white as cotton, mash with no mercy and beat and beat and beat with nothing but a sterling silver fork—that was Willie's cabalistic formula. It works.

Drain water off the potatoes the second they are done—not one second later. Set pot over low heat and dry the potatoes a long time, until the outside gets white and fluffy. Sprinkle with salt and shake the pot. Then and then only is it time to call for Willie's husband with the strong right arm. Mash, use lots of butter and freshly ground black pepper and whip warm milk in gradually. Now comes the beating—and I mean beating—until those potatoes are light and smooth and almost like a soufflé.

Fluff them onto the serving plate

Rent Control Service Here Halts During June

Robert E. Lowe, area rent director, stated today limited funds made available to the housing expediter's office require a drastic curtailment of operations. Office space may then again be available in the city hall with office hours from 2 to 8 p.m. on the first and third Wednesday's of each month.
