Own Advice Ignored By Jurist Now Seeking Divorce

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 3.—(AP)—Douglas Herr, former jurist who presided over thousands of New Jersey divorce cases and who wrote a legal text on marriage and divorce, has filed suit for annulment of his six-months-old marriage.

Herr, 67, charged in a suit filed here that his marriage had never been consummated and that his wife, the former Louise Hugon, 52, of London, England, had misrepresented herself as an English heiress. Three days after the wedding, he said, "she told me she didn't like New Jersey weather, my friends or me and that our marriage was a failure."

Herr, who wrote "Marriage, Divorce and Separation," was wed to the former Mrs. Hugon one month after they met on a Bermuda vacation.

One of his observations on marriage during his 25 years on the bench was:

"Don't propose after a sudden, chance meeting. Get to know one another and one another's family."

GEORGIA RAISES CRICKETS

ATLANTA—(AP)—Cricket raising is a booming business in this part of the south. Fishermen say they make fine bait. But wild crickets are sometimes as hard to catch as the fish.

Those who raise them sell them for bait at a cent and a half a cricket. Breeding stock brings two cents.

George Smith, for instance, has turned his backyard chicken house into a cricket raising business. He has 150,000 breeders and possibly a total of 300,000 crickets. He hasn't counted them. They eat laying mash just as his chickens used to do. But the 16 bags a week he used to buy for his chickens would feed his crickets for 10 years.

Atomic Energy Plant 'No Place For Love'

LONDON — (AP) — An atomic energy plant probably is no proper place for love affairs, a British medical journal observes.

The Lancet was concerned about generations unborn. It feared that babies, both of whose parents have been exposed to prolonged atomic radiation, might suffer serious physical defects.

In the light of present understanding, the magazine said cautiously, it might be just as well for men and women working around cyclotrons to choose as life partners persons who have never been near the "hot" areas of atomic energy plants. A single over-radiated parent, it was believed, is less of a liability to forthcoming generations than a pair of exposed parents.

It was pointed out that in British atomic energy plants elaborate precautions are taken to prevent excessive exposures but there is some concern over the delayed effects of radiation, and particularly to gene changes which may be passed from generation to generation.

COW CAFETERIAS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Quonset huts of proper size can be made into good cow cafeterias. "Steelways" magazine says the cafeterias can cut man hours in feeding cows to as little as four hours a winter.

One hut is set up inside another with a 16-foot space between them. Chopped hay is dropped into the space. The hay is held in place by hinged wooden slats with enough space between them for a cow's nose. Movement of the slats when the cows feed dislodges hay from the space above.
